Clash at Hearing on Boxing, Wrestling Probe

BIG REWARD SPURS GARRETT QUIZ

CLASH OVER RING SPORT INQUIRY

Barry Disputes the Washburn Charge That Bouts Are Not on the Level

A clash between Representative Slater Washburn of Worcester and Edward P. Barry, counsel for Paul Bowser, wrestling promoter, occurred today at the legislative joint rules committee's hearing on a resolve to investigate boxing and wrestling.

Washburn, author of the resolve, said: "Wrestling is on of the grandest [illegible] of the present time. Most of the bouts are on the level."

[illegible] that is exposed.

President Gaspar L. Bacon of the Senate, ranking chairman, called Barry to order and warned him not to interrupt again.

Eddie Mack, manager of the Argonne A. A., favored the resolve, but said he believed the boxing commission honest.

Atty. Harold W. Sullivan, counsel for Gus Sonnenberg, champion wrestler, also favored an inquiry, adding that the Legislature should not lend itself to plans to "hold up" promoters. He said an attempt was recently made to hold up Bowser.

Representative Roland D. Sawyer of Ware said the resolve was the result of three or four recent fake bouts in Boston.

Senator Donald W. Nicholson of Wareham, chairman of the committee on public safety, which favored the resolve, said that at previous hearings the boxing commission was "rather evasive and gave little information."

Eugene C. Buckley, chairman of the commission, denied this. He said the new rules book soon to be published will cover the situation in connection with questionable bouts.

Buckley charged that Washburn was "muckraking."

Washburn in speaking of his resolve said the conduct of boxing and wrestling was an "outrageous disgrace."

He charged lack of co-operation by the boxing commission to remedy the situation and said Commissioner Eugene Buckley opposed any investigation.

"The resolve is not aimed at the commission," said Washburn, "but seeks to reform boxing and wrestling as sports."

He charged that halls and rings

Will Test Seized Rum in Garrett Case

Pursuing his relentless inquiry into the source of the $122,909 Garrett fortune, Atty.-Gen. Joseph E. Warner today called for the State health department records of analyses of all liquor submitted by the Boston police.

It was a surprise move and one fraught with considerable significance for it followed a third questioning of Junior State Chemist William Crawford whose discharge from the service last year followed charges by Oliver B. Garrett and other members of the liquor squad that liquor submitted had been tampered with.

Crawford, since reinstated on order of the courts and transferred from liquor analysis work to the water division at Lawrence, was questioned by the attorney-general himself.

Warner then sent to Herman C. Lythgoe, director of the health department division of food and drugs and Crawford's former superior, his request for the analyses records. Lythgoe, as well as Crawford, will be summoned as witnesses when the public hearings of the Garrett investigation resume.

WARNER LAUDS REWARD OFFER

By Atty.-Gen. Joseph E. Warner, his aides in the Garrett investigation and many solons, the Boston Evening American was praised today for its offer of $5000 reward for evidence of police graft and corruption in the Hub.

"A great public service," the attorney-general termed the offer. "A step in public interest," declared his special prosecutor, Damon E. Hall. Here are some of the statements:

ATTY.-GEN. WARNER—In offering $5000 reward the Boston Evening American is doing a great public service and it is to be congratulated. The queries enumerated in the Question Box in today's paper sets forth the very things the public wants to find out and what we want to find out. I believe the reward offer will get results.

Colleges Wringing Wet, Poll Reveals

Prohibition in college received very poor marks today—in fact, went quite down in its studies.

Technology, Amherst, Yale, Brown, Rutgers and Williams are bringing wet, according to results thus far in the prohibition poll being taken among students of 18 colleges.

At Technology, 1629 men, or more than half the entire student body, voted on one or more of the queries put. Seventy per cent of the Technology men favor repeal or modification of present prohibition laws, 24 per cent admit they get drunk and 60 per cent admit they are drinkers.

There were 496 students voting at Amherst, and while 139 stated they did not drink, 337 gave affirmative answers to the question. There were 208 who admitted having been drunk and 285 students favored a modification, 122 voted for total repeal, 77 were for strict enforcement and only 10 voted for continuance of the present prohibition situation.

At Yale the results were: Those who drink, 1874; those who do not drink, 799; for enforcement, 425; for repeal, 2117; for government control, 1850; for state option, 648; for light wines and beer under federal control, 767; opposed to light wines and beer under federal control, 1191.

EVENING AMERICAN IS SEEKING CAPTURE OF HUB'S 'KING OF VICE'

Five thousand dollars in cash for the key to the graft and corruption system in Boston.

To the person or persons who know, and will tell the Boston Evening American, EXCLUSIVELY, the real inside story of the past five years in Boston's underworld as it affects public officials, or others involved in criminal acts, and whose stories send the guilty to jail—$5000 in cash.

This $5000 reward is offered by the Boston Evening American to the person or persons who furnish to this newspaper, FIRST and EXCLUSIVELY, information upon which indictments and convictions are obtained for felony or felonies, aside from liquor law violations, the crimes to have been a part or all of conditions revealed in the so-called Garrett investigation.

Enough has been brought out in the Garrett investigation to point conclusively to widespread rottenness in Boston's official circles. Evidence of corruption, and protection of vice and law-breaking has been brought out in plenty.

The public is convinced however, that the REAL story has not been told.

The guilty ones have thus far escaped.

WHO ORDERS AND COLLECTS?

The names of the men who actually pull the strings, who control and operate the graft and racketeering ring, who remain comfortably in their haunts while the little fellows go to jail, are wanted.

No intelligent person thinks for a minute, of course, just as an illustration of how things must be behind the scenes, that Garrett was the only one who was able to bank $122,000 during seven years. Comparatively speaking, he must have been just a little fish in vast assortment of whales.

Who are the others? And where did they get theirs? How, and why? And how much?

Even though the great majority of Boston's police officers are honest, there have been unmistakable evidences that some members of the force are corrupt.

This same statement applies to the city's political overlords.

It is time that Boston had a housecleaning.

In offering this reward of $5000 this newspaper expects to start the housecleaning.

Offering this reward by the American, as a public duty, should be of vital help to Atty.-Gen. Joseph E. Warner and Special Asst. Atty.-Gen. Damon E. Hall, who are battling tremendous obstacles in forcing the whole picture revealed thus far in the Garrett investigation into the full light.

CONDITIONS OF REWARD

Investigation of conditions in the city as regards graft and corruption should receive an added impetus that will be far-reaching in its effects.

The Boston Evening American hopes, by offering this large sum of money, to induce the person or persons who know the facts behind the recent scandals in police circles to come forward with the truth. It is only by obtaining the whole truth that justice can be done, that the public may know exactly what it has suffered at the hands of its officials—if there have been any malfeasance or misfeasance in high circles.

This reward is offered strictly in the interest of clean government, truth and justice.

Any person or persons having even the slightest evidence that will throw light upon the conditions now being investigated by the attorney-general and his assistants, under the authority of the Legislature, are invited and urged to get into immediate touch with The Garrett Case Reward Editor, the Boston Evening American, either in person, by mail, or by telephone (Liberty 4000), any time, day or night.

By doing so they will not only be doing their public duty, but they may make themselves eligible to all or part of the $5000 reward.

Conditions concerning the Boston Evening American reward of $5000 are plain, simple and obviously required to meet the unusual situation.

The Boston Evening American reserves the right to withdraw this offer at any time when it appears to the publishers that the purpose of the reward has been served.

The Boston Evening American shall be the sole judge as to the distribution of this reward, as to persons who shall be eligible as to its division, if deemed merited, and as to whether the conditions given herewith regarding its awarding have been met, and by whom. All persons offering information with the intention of claiming all or part of the award shall agree to all of these conditions when they furnish such information, as a condition precedent, to any claims for all or part of the reward.

If more than one person furnishes the same information at the same time, or if several collections shall be obtained upon information furnished exclusively to the Boston Evening American, this newspaper shall divide the $5000 reward, as it decides proper, among such persons as it decides are eligible.

In no event shall the reward given exceed the sum of $5000, whether this sum be given to one person or divided among several.

The Boston Evening American shall be the sole judge in all matters concerning the award and its distribution.

Test Seized Liquor in Garrett Probe

the attorney-general today was Sen. Joseph J. Mulhern of Dorchester, whose charges with relation to the Garrett pensioning precipitated legislative action resulting in the order for the present probe.

Asked whether Warner had sent for him or he had appeared of his own accord, Sen. Mulhern replied that the conference resulted from a "mutual understanding."

Bill Ianother of the many threats received by Warner and an aide arrived today in the mail, which is constantly increasing as the investigation gathers momentum. It was addressed to "Mr. Joseph P. Warner, attorney-general," and read:

"You were warned to lay off Garrett and did not heed. Let the first honest man in the State House point a finger of scorn at Garrett. You are all a damn-side more crooked. You believe this will make a reverence of you, you damn hypocrite, but you will never see it.

"The order goes out today that you are to be put on the spot. —— didn't get you. We will in our own way, you cur. Hall and Lonnie will follow if they aren't careful.

Given Fair Warning

"This is no crank letter. It is a fair warning, more fair than you deserve, you cheap political grandstand player."

Warner himself gave out the letter without comment. He asked only that one name be deleted. It was unsigned.

A thorough checkup is being made on the disposal of all liquor seized by the Boston police during the last seven years.

From information which has reached the attorney-general, startling discrepancies in the records will be revealed, involving officials in high places, it was intimated.

Liquor seized by the Boston police, forfeited by the court, is turned over to the State Department of Public Safety. The head of this department is Commissioner Alfred F. Foote.

The receipts given by Foote's department will be checked up with the records of police seizures. Court orders for return to the owner of liquors taken illegally will also be scrutinized.

Especial attention will be paid by Warner's force of auditors in tracing thousands of gallons of grain alcohol, which, it is hinted, never reached the State police.

Undeterred by death threats, Asst. Atty.-Gen. Louis H. Sawyer today made a second visit to Deer Island, where he interviewed Nicholas Cockinos and Albert K. Siddinger, figures in the Ritz Hotel conspiracy case.

SAWYER TO AID

It is understood that Cockinos and Siddinger will add to important information already given the alleged vice and graft conditions Sawyer was accompanied by Atty. George A. Douglas, counsel for Cockinos, a former Walsh and Ward agent.

What he said, it is said, is one of the attorneys Warner had in mind when he suggested to the special committee of the Boston Bar Association that much useful information could be gathered if lawyers would advise clients knowing of graft conditions to get in touch with the state's chief law officer.

The entrance of the bar association committee into the investigation, it was pointed out today, has removed any taint of politics from the probe. Members of both political parties are represented on the committee.

GETS NEW POWER

The House and Senate, under suspension of the rules, will today rush through its final stages and the new resolve removing all limitations from the investigation, adding $10,000 to the investigation appropriation, and giving power of immunity. Governor Allen is expected to sign the new resolve before night fall.

The attorney general's office makes no secret of its satisfaction over the results of the refusal of Alfred H. Brissenden, Mrs. Garrett's brother-in-law, to testify on advice of counsel.

Had the refusal come at the beginning of the public hearings, it was pointed out, before disclosures startled the public, it is doubtful if such sweeping powers could have been secured.

The challenge, coming when it did, is regarded as a good "break." It was known that the leaders of the opposition to the original investigation order had started to run to cover, and that some "were now ready to vote $1,000,000 if Warner wants it."

Because of the attempts to "throttle" some of his most important witnesses, it is known that the attorney-general is seriously considering, as a protective measure, some secret place for the questioning of these persons outside the State House.

HEARINGS DEFERRED

Once these witnesses realize that the downfall of the "big shots" is certain, the attorney-general is convinced, the little fellows will be quick to desert the sinking ship.

The attorney-general is anxious, it is also known, to stamp out the popular pastime in criminal cases of "taking the rap."

The possibility is being discussed of granting immunity to Garrett himself, the central figure in the probe today, in the event that he "blows the lid off," a threat credited to him, but denied later.

Private investigators employed by Warner were today making renewed efforts to locate Vivian Rosal, important witness in the case. That they are very anxious to ascertain her whereabouts was admitted by Asst. Atty.-Gen. George B. Lourie.

State police today traced threats received over the telephone against Asst. Atty.-Gen. Louis H. Sawyer to a booth in the South End and another in Scollay sq.

It was virtually assured today that the investigation would reopen the Reinstein murder case at the Hotel Huntington last September. Among the indicted for the slaying of Reinstein is Moe Neumann. Although the case has not gone to trial, Warner sides, it is understood, have questioned Neumann and several alleged leaders in white slave trafficking.

Stories of a ginger ale racket are being run down by a member of the attorney-general's office. According to information received, sales of an obscure brand of this beverage in speakeasies and houses of ill repute jumped from 200 cases a week to 1100 cases. The reason for the sudden popularity of this particular brand will be sought.

Reports that the Garretts had left town were denied by friends of the pensioned patrolman. They said that Mr. and Mrs. Garrett had merely been on an automobile trip and would be back at their Parkvale ave. home today.

In addition to calling for the records of the disposition of seized liquor, Atty.-Gen. Warner has begun the task of examining data on every raid participated in by Garrett. In these raids, Garrett himself figures he made approximately 17,000 arrests.

Through the raid records the investigators hope to ferret out any payments that may have been made for protection through attorneys.

Information will be compiled also from search warrants, complaints, entries of attorneys for appearance and data kept by individual members of the liquor squad. In the aggregate, the work confronting the attorney general presents a staggering task.

Warner Considers Secret Quiz in Garrett Expose

Attempts to intimidate and "throttle" witnesses in the Garrett probe moved Atty-Gen. Joseph E. Warner today to consider some secret place for questioning persons with information in the case.

The attorney-general believes that if the questioning of witnesses between hearings was secret many more volunteers would respond, instead of holding back, as now, through fear.

ton American is giving. It is very encouraging."

SPECIAL ASST. ATTY.-GEN. DAMON E. HALL—I think the Boston Evening American has taken a step greatly in the public interest.

ASST. ATTY.-GEN. LOUIS H. SAWYER—It's a wonderful idea. The enterprise and public spirit of the Boston Evening American is too well known in this community to comment further.

STATE SENATOR JOSEPH J. MULHERN—The substantial reward offered by the Boston Evening American is a courageous effort and ought to aid materially in bringing the Garrett case to a head. I congratulate the American on its initiative and public spirit.

REP. ROLAND D. SAWYER OF WARE—The Boston Evening American, by its offer of a reward of $5000 for the apprehension of any person committing crime growing out of the Garrett case, is showing how keenly it is sensing the larger side, the more serious side of the entire affair and is doing a most commendable public service. If Boston is to be prevented from getting a taste of Chicago terrorism it is just such work as the American is doing that will prevent it. I expect that Atty-Gen. Warner and Senator Mulhern and all who have followed this case will welcome the American's offer of a $5000 reward.

drinking, 80 per cent had been drunk, 80 per cent for modification, 14 per cent for stricter enforcement.

Rutgers voted: Those who did not drink, 472; those who do drink, 751; those who favor modification, 836; those opposed to modification, 390.

Seventy-five per cent of the students at Williams believed prohibition a failure; 65 per cent drink; 85 per cent were for government control; 16 students wanted light wines and beer; 208 did not drink.

Harvard authorities today described as a "pipe dream" a fantastic story given wide publication, to the effect that a bootleg "racket," that consisted of displaying pistols before Harvard students and forcing them to purchase liquor, had come to an end when an unnamed student and his roommate displayed pistols of larger caliber.

On ballots at Technology many of the students jotted remarks, some serious and some facetious.

On one ballot, indicating that the voter drank but never got drunk and that he favored strict enforcement, the student remarked: "My father has a good business."

Another ballot remarked. "Drink only at religious ceremonies," and another carried: "I wish they could clean out the bathtub in Chelsea in which they make gin."

One ballot carried the remark: "My women like booze, so I drink it, you know," and another said, "I favor gin, wine, whiskey, brandy, mistika and better alcohol." Other remarks included:

"The first 100 years are the hardest."

"I dare not voice my opinion of the whole—law."

"Tech isn't as bad as many schools. It stresses efficiency and pours it on a guy so that he hasn't the time to get drunk (real drunk) and stay in school."

"I would drink more if the liquor was better."

"Garrett inquiry is only one example of the graft and corruption in government due to prohibition. Practice what you preach is a good motto to the supposed prohibitionists."

REV. VAN ALLEN INJURED IN EUROPE

Former Pastor of the Church of the Advent Is Seriously Hurt in Florence, Italy

Word was received in Boston today that the Rev. Dr. William Harman van Allen, former rector of the Church of the Advent, is seriously hurt in a Florence, Italy, hospital as the result of a fall down a flight of church steps.

According to Joseph H. Hunting, sexton of the Church of the Advent, Dr. van Allen displaced a hip socket.

Dr. van Allen resigned as pastor here a year ago. He had been connected with the local church for more than 27 years. In his letter of resignation he said ill health compelled him to give up the pastorate.

Following his resignation, Dr. van Allen made a trip to the West Indies, during which he had a narrow escape from drowning. While attempting to go ashore at Antigua the tender in which he was stepping suddenly cast off in a heavy sea and Dr. van Allen was thrown heavily against the side of the ship.

In other words, it is evidently not the intention of the administration to keep the American delegation cooling its heels in London, idly discussing abstract matters while the French delegates spend their time in Paris, unwilling even to remain in London and negotiate.

It is now recognized here that the French, for all practical purposes, have walked out of the conference and apparently do not intend to return until they get what the Americans and British refuse to concede—a security pact.

Well nigh complete paralysis settled over the conference from the time the French departed.

of course, it might be possible to work out a three-power treaty between Great Britain, the United States and Japan. This might be considered better than nothing, but there is small relish for it in Washington.

Tokyo, March 24 (AP)—Japan's decision to accept or reject the tentative agreement of the Japanese and American delegates to the London naval conference is expected to be rendered Thursday.

At extraordinary session of the cabinet has been called to finally shape instructions to the delegation.

There are trustworthy indications tonight that the cabinet will authorize Reijiro Wakatsuki, Japan's chief delegate, to accept an agreement approximating the terms.

$300,000 RUM IS SEIZED IN NEWBURYPORT

Choice Liquor Discovered on Wharf by Patrolman; Two Trucks Escape

Newburyport, March 24—Twenty-five hundred bags and 500 kegs of liquor valued at $300,000, together with 10 cartons of cigarettes believed to contain drugs, were seized at a local wharf today.

The seizure, the largest ever made on the North Shore, resulted from an attempted investigation of two suspicious appearing trucks by Patrolman Daniel Lynch on his rounds.

The trucks got away, but Lynch discovered the cache, apparently just unloaded, and summoned help.

In response to Lynch's call Patrolmen Clinton Nathan, Neil Kelleher, John Gosselin, James Sullivan and John Sendera were sent to the scene and Coast Guard stations at Salisbury Beach and Merrimac river were notified.

Seventeen trucks were required to carry away the liquor, which is believed to have come from Canada and to have been landed during the night.

The value of the liquor was estimated by Capt. Cummings of the Coast Guard, who based it "on the beach" figure of $20 a bag, or $10 a quart in the hands of customers. Each bag contained 12 pints of Calvert rye or Blue Grass whiskey and the kegs were marked Double Eagle.

The cigarettes were thought to contain marihuana, a Mexican drug resembling hashish in its effects, which is said to have become popular here.

Officer Lynch was making his rounds on the waterfront when he saw two trucks. Advancing to investigate, he was not surprised to see the trucks speed away. He came on the liquor, unguarded, just as it had been unloaded.

Later Louis A. Broyer, trucking contractor of Lime st., was arrested by Owen McKenna, special agents of the Customs Service, and Deputy Collector Thomas F. Finnegan, with Patrolman Hanson.

They claim to have found 14 cases of liquor in his garage, and charged Broyer with illegal possession, facilitating transportation, transporting and having in his possession liquor unlawfully imported into the country. He was released in $2500 bail.

Other charges included use of drugs by fighters and unsanitary conditions of water handled by seconds.

In turning to amateur boxing, Washburn said that bouts are permitted for commercial gain, that proper care is not taken of youthful contestants, that rings are not properly padded and that contests are too long.

More Courageous Sentiment Being Developed in Nation, Expert Says

By B. C. FORBES

Encouragement in business and industry is coming from many directions. Thus:

1—All cereals made substantial gains in price before the end of the week. Advance in corn was particularly vigorous.

2—Cotton enjoyed substantial recovery.

3—The general commodity price level, after a long sinking spell, has moved moderately upwards.

4—Employment reports are at least slightly more cheerful.

5—Construction projects are at last being energetically launched, with every indication that within a few weeks unemployment distress will be relieved.

6—Motor manufacturers report quickening of demand.

7—Steel leaders predict almost immediate expansion in operations.

8—The oil industry, after unconscionable delay, announces that it has turned the corner and that improvement in conditons should become more pronounced.

9—Instead of a drastic decrease, income tax payments thus far have astonished many by comparing favorably with a year ago.

10—Money rates last week were the lowest in recent years. Call money touched 2 per cent officially and 1½ per cent outside the stock exchange—contrasted with 9 per cent a year ago. Time loans were available at 3½ to 3¾ against 8 per cent at this time last year. Commercial paper is done at 4 per cent and bankers' acceptances at as low as 2¼ per cent.

11—The 12 Federal Reserve banks are carrying 82.5 per cent reserves, which is more than twice legal requirements and a gain of 11 per cent over 12 months ago. Several cities have reduced their discount rate and the Bank of England's lowering of its rate to 3½ per cent has started talk of a possible further cut at New York, an expectation which may not be realized.

12—Average stock quotations have climbed to a new peak for the year and trading has became much more spirited. Friday's volume was the largest since dullness followed the panicky decline.

13—Cheap money has brought a rise in bonds to new heights.

14—Preparations are under way by underwriters to issue larger amounts of new securities now that there is no inducement for outsiders to continue lending their funds in Wall Street.

15—The lateness of Easter has delayed spring buying, but the mercantile agencies note some betterment in retail trade and talk hopefully of further improvement.

16—Of the tariff it can at least be said that, after interminable wrangling, it must be nearer passage.

17—Very important shipbuilding contracts are announced by the postmaster-general, enough, it is claimed, to keep our shipyards busy for several years—a matter of great moment.

18—Finally, more courageous sentiment is developing throughout most of the country.

What can be claimed—and all that can be claimed—is that, within six months of the worst stock panic the United States has ever known, the downward trend appears to have been arrested and incipient improvement manifesting itself in industry, in employment, in trade, in farm prices and, most notable of all, in security prices.

That there has been genuine, though not pronounced, improvement in many directions, cannot be legitimately disputed. What lies ahead no human being can, of course, foresee or dogmatically foretell. My humble opinion is that the tide has begun to rise and that, though backwashes must be expected, especially in the stock market, the movement will, in the main, be towards better levels.

GRUNDY BILLION DOLLAR TARIFF GOES TO VOTE

Move to Recommit Loses, 70 to 9; La Follette Flays Measure, Denounces "Trading"

Washington, March 24 (AP)—The Senate today rejected a motion to return the tariff bill to committee to limit the rate increases to farm products. A vote on final passage then was in order.

The vote against recommittal was 70 to 9.

Those voting for recommittal were Senators Blease and Smith, South Carolina; Thomas, Oklahoma; Caraway, Arkansas; Wheeler and Walsh, Montana, Democrats, and McMaster, South Dakota; Nye, North Dakota, and Pine, Oklahoma, Republicans.

Before a vote on passage could be started, Senator LaFollette, Wisconsin, a Republican Independent leader, took the floor and attacked the measure as the "worst tariff bill in the nation's history."

"It should be known hereafter as Grundy's billion dollar tariff bill," he asserted.

A "SENATE FOR SALE"

LaFollette declared as he saw it, "A vote for the Grundy bill, either as it passes the Senate, or when it comes back from conference, would be a vote to turn the Senate into a market place where legislation is written by bargaining and where the lobby with the largest number of votes to trade, dictates the terms of legislation."

"In view of the vote trading which transpired during the last three weeks of consideration of the bill," he continued, "it seems to me that a vote for the measure condones the vote-swapping methods by which many of its most iniquitous duties were secured."

Little discussion preceded the vote against recommittal. Vice-President Curtis announced if the motion had carried, the bill would have been sent back again to amendment when returned by the committee and that "we would be exactly where we were six months ago."

6 MONTHS' WORK GONE

Senator Glass (D), Virginia, said he was in favor of limiting the decision to farm products, but explained he could not vote for a proposition that permitted a repetition of six months' work already completed.

Another attack on the Independent oil producers was made earlier by Senator Blaine, Republican, Wisconsin, after he had read a telegram from the Republican national committeewoman from Wisconsin saying she had been informed of a move in Oklahoma to "boycott Wisconsin products" because of Blaine's opposition to an oil tariff.

When Blaine concluded Senator Thomas declared:

"I have no knowledge of the telegram. I have no knowledge of any movement in my state in retaliation against the agricultural products of any state."

Mellon in Pittsburgh for 75th Birthday

Washington, March 24 (AP)—Andrew W. Mellon, whose friends call him the greatest Secretary of the Treasury since Hamilton, today observed the 75th anniversary of his birth.

In the little slender little man whose vigor seems undiminished by the years, returned to Pittsburgh, the city that for a lifetime has been his home for the celebration of a birthday that marked the passing of three-quarters of a century.

Entering public life at an age when most men settle down to a quiet corner, Mr. Mellon became a member of President Harding's cabinet in the trying post-war days, served under President Coolidge and now under President Hoover, giving him the distinction of being the only man in history to hold the Treasury portfolio under three chief executives.

HOBOKEN FIRE LOSS 3 MILLION

Hoboken, N. J., March 24 (AP)—Hoboken's third disastrous waterfront fire in the last 30 years still was burning today, but firemen had it under control after destruction of Piers 15 and 16 with a large quantity of merchandise. The loss is set at $3,000,000 with 500 men thrown out of work.

The fire started Saturday night in a rag dump 200 feet from Pier 16.

Five vessels of the Lamport and Holt line, owners of the piers, were towed to safety.

Three firemen were injured.

The two other major fires on the waterfront in the last 30 years were on June 30, 1900, and December 30, 1927. The first caused 145 deaths and $10,000,000 loss. The 1927 fire loss exceeded $1,250,000.

High Cost of Radium May Be Reduced by New Process

San Francisco, March 24 (AP)—Development of a new process for extracting radium, which it is hoped will make possible large scale production and the consequent lowering of the cost, was announced today by the Mar-John Mines Company.

Although the attainments of the laboratories of the company here are too inconclusive for a definite assessment as yet of the commercial significance of the discoveries, the expectancy exists that the new process will eventually bring into production vast deposits of radio ores.

EUROPA HITS 28 KNOTS AN HOUR

S. S. Europa, March 24—Against extremely strong head winds, the liner Europa in the 24 hours ended at noon today traveled 704 miles, at an average of 28.16 knots an hour.

At noon she was 519 miles from Ambrose Lightship and shortly afterward passed the Carmania less than half a mile to port.

In order to equal the record of the Bremen, the Europa must average 28.444 knots for the remainder of the trip, as its route is 70 miles longer than that taken by its sister ship.

The new liner as she passed through the Gulf Stream had an even chance of equaling the record time of 4 days 17 hours 42 minutes.

Party leaders said he would be unopposed. He was their candidate two years ago against William Tudor Gardiner, Republican.

Moran listed among causes of dissatisfaction with Gardiner:

"Betrayal" on the water power question, political management of highways, arbitrary denial of referends on eminent domain law and fish and game law, "lip service" to the prohibition law, with a policy of "booze for the wets and bunk for the drys."

PORTER SEEKS EARLY ACTION ON DRUG BILL

Washington, March 24—Early passage will be sought in the House of the narcotics bureau bill, Representative Porter (R) of Pennsylvania, author, announced.

He will ask for action under suspension of the rules, thus avoiding undue parliamentary delays.

The measure has the unanimous endorsement of the powerful ways and means committee, Representative Hawley (R.) of Oregon, chairman, is drafting the favorable report.

Not only does the bill provide an independent administration of the narcotics laws, but it requires a scientific determination of the medical needs for drugs in an effort to cut down excessive supplies that reach illicit channels.

In a letter received by Representative Fish (R.), of New York, Secretary Mellon declared that inasmuch as irregularities charged against the narcotics service are being speedily remedied he saw no necessity for a Congressional investigation.

Representatives Fish, LaGuardia (R.), of New York, and Black (D.), of New York, had proposed inquiries, Mellon said.

"The department is now engaged in reorganizing the narcotic service with a view of bringing about the maximum enforcement of these laws. Sweeping administration changes have already taken place since March 1.

"A federal policy of breaking up large international and interstate rings dealing in illicit narcotics has been established."

Supreme Court, charging his appointment was influenced by "oil and liquor interests," was lodged with the Senate judiciary committee today by Miss Mary W. F. Speers, a Washington business woman.

She charged Judge Parker pronounced a decision against her which benefited George D. Pratt, brother of the head of the Standard Oil Company of New York.

Miss Miller's first husband, Frank Carter, actor, was killed in an automobile accident 10 years ago. Three years ago in Paris she obtained a divorce from Jack Pickford, brother of Mary Pickford.

MELLON BACKS 'DRY' SHOOTING PENSION BILL

Washington, March 2. (INS)—Reversing a former decision, Secretary Mellon today informed the House claims committee he would not object to a bill giving $150 a month pension for life to George Charles Walthers, permanently injured when shot by a prohibition officer near Underwood, Wash.

The measure, approved by the committee, a majority of which is dry, will be considered in the House soon.

It was opposed by Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt when she was assistant attorney-general in charge of prohibition enforcement, but aroused opposition as a precedent for scores of other such claims.

The committee has before it bills to give a $25,000 pension to Mrs. Henry Virkula, whose husband was shot dead by customs officers in northern Minnesota when he disregarded a command to stop. No liquor was found in his car.

Mrs. Florence Kahn, Republican congresswoman from California also has a bill pending for awards of $25,000 each to families of all innocent persons shot by dry officers.

Walthers, 19 years old when shot in 1923, said he and Reuben Quarnstrom were walking in the woods when he was wounded without warning. He denied knowledge of illicit liquor operations.

HEFLIN CALLS DOHENY TRIAL TRAVESTY

Washington, March 24 (AP)—The acquittal of Edward L. Doheny, millionaire oil operator, of a charge of bribery, was described in the Senate today by Senator Heflin, Democrat, Alabama, as a "rank travesty on justice."

As soon as the Senate convened, the Alabaman shouted that a list of jurors who rendered the verdict should be kept and that they should "never be permitted to sit on a jury trial again."

"If a man goes out and steals a loaf of bread," Heflin asserted, "he is put in jail and perhaps in the penitentiary. If a woman in distress steals food for her starving children she is locked up.

"But a millionaire who has corrupted high officials of the Government and pilfered the property of the Government can procure freedom from a jury."

Heflin added there ought to be "one standard of justice for the rich and poor alike" and that "there should be no distinction."

ARTIST TO TELL OF FATAL LOVE FOR SQUAW

Buffalo, N. Y., March 24 (INS)—Henri Marchand, artist and sculptor of international renown, steeled himself today for the ordeal he must go through on the stand this week at the trial of Lila Jimerson, his dark-eyed Indian mate, charged with the murder of his wife.

The gray-haired, distinguished-looking painter of Indian pictures will be a "key" witness in this strange case. He will be called chiefly for the purpose of establishing the motive of the crime, and, inasmuch as the finger of suspicion has been pointed at him, his testimony will be closely scrutinized.

Dist. Atty. Moore asserts that Lila Jimerson plotted the slaying of Mrs. Marchand because she believed Marchand, who had made love to her when she posed for him, would some day marry her.

Mrs. Marchand was beaten to death in her home by Nancy Bowen, a superstitious Indian woman of 66, on the afternoon of March 6 under circumstances that still are shrouded in mystery. Nancy was a friend of Lila's and was taken to the Marchand home by Lila. She was Lila's dupe, according to the state.

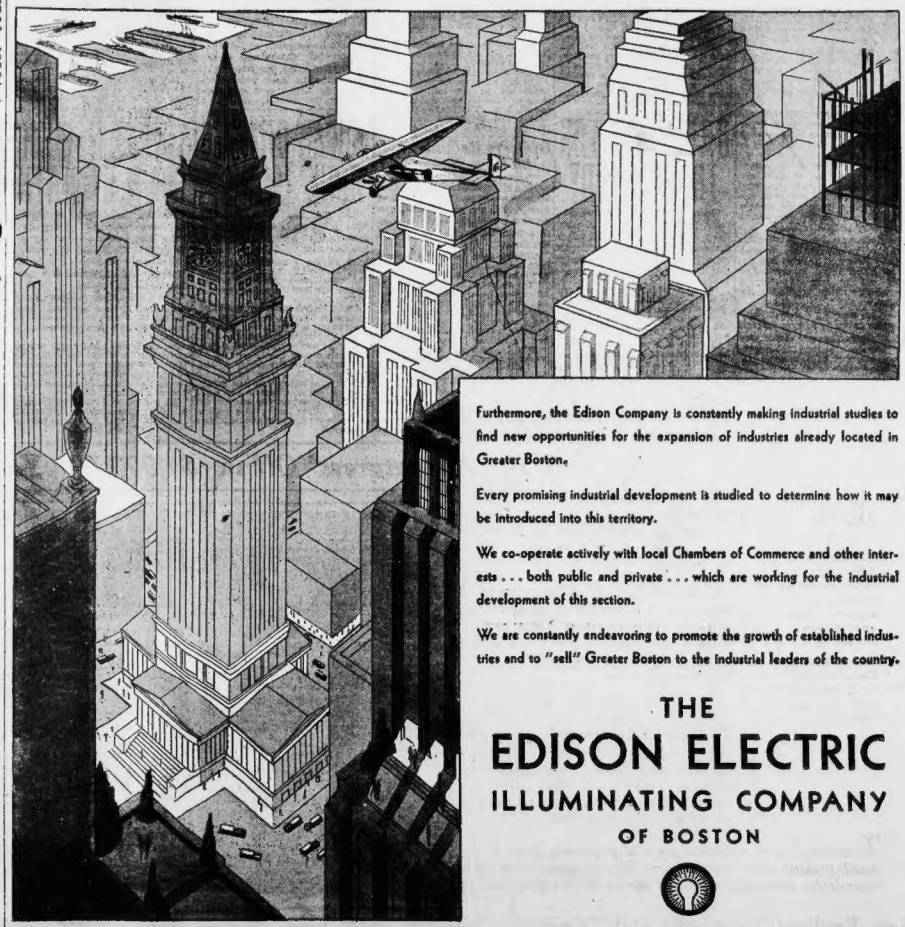
TRAVEL BY TRAIN OVER THE BOULEVARD OF STEEL

In a previous advertisement we told you how we had "looked at ourselves through our customers' eyes." This is the third of a series of ten advertisements telling you what we have found. Here we will answer the question, "What does The Boston Edison Company do to bring new industries to Greater Boston?" The answer to the next question will appear in this paper in two weeks.

a booster for Greater Boston

The Boston Edison Company has been an important factor in influencing a number of manufacturers to establish plants in local communities, thereby creating more employment opportunities . . . This policy also benefits local merchants since the purchasing power of the population is increased.



Furthermore, the Edison Company is constantly making industrial studies to find new opportunities for the expansion of industries already located in Greater Boston.

Every promising industrial development is studied to determine how it may be introduced into this territory.

We co-operate actively with local Chambers of Commerce and other interests . . . both public and private . . . which are working for the industrial development of this section.

We are constantly endeavoring to promote the growth of established industries and to "sell" Greater Boston to the industrial leaders of the country.

SUICIDE BARES VICTIM'S 'LOVE EXPERIMENT'

Detroit, March 24 (AP)—A three-weeks' journey to Bermuda, Havana and other southern points with the wife of Benjamin March, a Detroit art curator, taken with the consent of the latter as "an experiment," preceded the suicide of Thomas A. Newton in Miami, Fla., last week.

March had agreed to the experiment, he said, to save his wife from a "wild infatuation." His wife and Newton, he added, had told him in February they wanted to go away together.

He agreed, he said, with the understanding that if his wife decided she cared more for him and their 18 months old child than she did for Newton she would return to him.

From Miami she wired, he said, that she wanted to return. Yesterday they were reunited, returned to their home for a few hours and then disappeared.

Meanwhile Newton's widow is awaiting the return of his body to their home in Birmingham, a Detroit suburb.

Newton, the son of a wealthy Detroit packer, was a major in the Inspector-General's Department of the Michigan National Guard. March, curator of Asiatic art at the Detroit Institute of Arts, is a graduate of the University of Chicago.

Mrs. March was born in China, the daughter of a missionary.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON BOSTON SOCIETY

Junior League Glee Club to Give Concert March 31

MRS. MALCOLM BRADLEE will accompany on the piano several of the songs to be rendered by the Junior League Glee Club at its first formal concert to be held at the Women's Republican Club on Monday evening, March 31. The program will include many of the carols, folk-songs and madrigals which have been sung by the glee club members on their hospital tours, which have proven to be such a success. Word comes in that the patients look forward with eager anticipation to the arrival of the League girls when they make their "rounds." Mrs. John E. Thayer, Jr., co-chairman with Mrs. Bradlee, announces a number of extra rehearsals to be held at her home on Friday morning, in addition to the regular Tuesday afternoon meetings. Tickets are available at the League rooms, 6 Commonwealth ave

FANCY COSTUMES HAVE been very much in evidence this month where the gay young folks gather. Many of the young social maidens will wear them again to usher at the Dartmouth College Musical Club concert to be given for the Frances E. Willard Settlement on March 28 in Symphony Hall. The concert will be followed by dancing from 10 to 12, with music by the famous Barbary Coast Orchestra. Among those who will usher are the Misses Elizabeth J. Kimball, Alice Cary Kimball, Anne Barton, Elisabeth Brown, Rosamond Bolton, Polly Beale, Virginia Taylor, Catherine Brown, Rosamond Rice and Elizabeth Pillsbury.

Vincent Club Show Returns Please All

THE VINCENT CLUB SHOW committee is elated that the net returns from the show will be around twenty thousand dollars. The sale of programs and publicity carried the expenses of the performances and the proceeds from the sale of flowers, candy and tickets was the very handsome profit which will carry on the work of the club at the Vincent Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Henry Parsons King, Jr., was the able president of the Vincent Club and she is to be congratulated on the success this year.

GARDEN CLUB EXHIBITS will be a feature of the Flower Show which opens tomorrow and will continue through March 30. Horticultural Hall has been transformed into a beautiful country estate by the volunteer workers of the Junior League and society matrons under the able leadership of Mrs. N. Penrose Hallowell. While there will be many exhibits of cut flowers, especial emphasis will be on the small garden, and the committee in charge of this feature include Mms. Walter Hunnewell, Charles Belknap, Samuel Cabot, Henry W. Harris, Thomas Motley, Jr. Malcolm Seymour, Philip H. Stockton, Ward Thoron, James B. Whitin, and Miss Ellen Guild. Another idea which will be featured is flower arrangement as applied to interior decoration. Spring flowers will be on display. Mrs. Homer Gage, Mrs E. V. Hardford, Albert C. Burrage, Mrs. Edwin S. Webster, W. H. Vanderbilt and Howard Coonley will be among the many exhibitors.

Last of Musicale Series Wednesday

CONCLUDING A SUCCESSful season, the Boston School of Occupational Therapy, under whose auspices the Boston Morning Musicales were presented on six Wednesday programs in the Hotel Statler ballroom, will give the final concert Wednesday morning, a recital by Sigrid Onegin, world-famous contralto. Special arrangements have been made for the final program, and while patrons will be advised of arrangements for next year, and the artists engaged, this information will be given out by programs, that the concert itself may not depart from its high professional standards. Mrs. John W. Myers is chairman of the committee, and Mrs. H. Parker Whittington has been co-chairman with Mrs. Theodore Whitney, Jr. Coffee will be served before the concert.

MRS. EDWARD B. RICHARDSON is in charge of the ushers, who are Miss Nancy Adams, head usher; Miss Susan Bradlee, Miss Sarah Bradlee, Miss Rose Bryant, Miss Margery Fay, Miss Ethel Grew, Miss Betty Hobbs, Miss Nancy Loring, Miss Peggy Read and Mrs. Rodman Oliver. Later, on April 8, Mrs. Myers will entertain the members of her committee at luncheon at an all-day meeting at her country house, Fox Hill Farm, Westwood, when the subscriber's list will be brought up to date for the third season's program, which announces Edward Johnson for November 19, Dusoline M. Giannini for December 17, Guy Maier and Lee Pattison for January 14, Efrem Zimbalist for January 28, Marie Jeritza for February 18 and Giacomo Lauri-Volpi for March 4, 1931.

NEXT SEASON'S DEBUTANTE list is being compiled and all those who have not already sent their names to Miss Mary O. Porter, 50 River st., are urged to do so as soon as possible. A great many names have already been received and dates reserved. The season will be a very gay one and several debutante affairs have been planned for June.

When the Junior League Glee Club gives its first formal concert next Monday evening, at the Women's Republican Club, Mrs. Malcolm Bradlee will accompany several of the songs on the piano.

Mrs. Henry Lee Higginson, 2d, will be the soloist on Sunday afternoon, April 6, at the Eighteenth Century Symphony Orchestra concert for the benefit of the Oliver Ames, Jr., post of the American Legion. A large attendance of society leaders is expected.

Shakespeare Players Guests at Luncheon

A LUNCHEON IS BEING given today at the Women's Republican Club under the management of Mrs. William A. L. Bazeley, Mrs. Edward F. Gray, Mrs. J. Templeton Coolidge, Mrs. Henry G. Lord, Mrs. Stephen M Weld and Mrs. Alexander Whiteside for the Stratford-On-Avon Shakespeare players, with the English Speaking Union acting as hosts.

Vincent Club Girl Will Be June Bride

MISS CATHERINE ROBB, Vincent Club and Junior League member, is to be married in June to Peter Whyte of Banff, Alberta. Miss Robb made her social debut in the season of 1924-25 with a ball at the Hotel Somerset. The wedding will be a small affair with no attendants, we understand. Miss Robb's father, the late Russell Robb, was a member of the firm of Stone & Webster. Mr. Whyte has been a student at the Museum of Fine Arts and is now on a journey around the world; Miss Robb also attended the same art school. They are planning to have a garden wedding.

MRS. CURTIS GUILD WILL be the guest of honor at a tea given by the Allied Arts Center Thursday, March 27. Miss Louise Winsor Brooks, president and treasurer of this organization, will pour and will be assisted by a group of women interested in the art center. Among those expected are Mrs. George A. Agassiz, Mrs. Albert Farwell Bemis, Mrs. James Mott Hallowell, Mrs. F. M. Robinson, Miss Marian DeCourcy Ward.

Antique a Day No. 54

Early maple is always interesting. It was a favorite wood for use by cabinet makers in early Colonial days, its popularity was due to several causes. It was plentiful in the New England area. It could easily be handled in a turning lathe, being free from knots and firm of texture. It took on a beautiful finish in the final rub down process.

In intervening years, many a fine maple piece has been painted over. Owners are commencing to realize the hidden beauties of these old pieces, and are having the coats of paint and grime of years removed Today we show a fine piece of early New England maple in the form of a low pegged table. The round top is a single piece, which is somewhat of a rarity. On the top of the table is to be seen an old-fashioned wooden mortar and pestle without which no New England kitchen of 200 years ago was complete. It was largely used for powdering spices.

The pieces shown today are owned by Owen Rossiter of 33 Newbury st., prominent Boston collector and art critic.

In connection with the Massachusetts Tercentenary Year, the Boston Evening American is publishing daily photographs of interesting antiques. Owners of genuine antiques, particularly of Colonial or early American origin or of historic association, are invited to forward photographs and records for publication. If a photograph is not available, the American will send a cameraman to photograph the antique, provided the owner lives in Greater Boston. Address the "Antique Editor, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston."

SCHNABEL IS BRILLIANT

By MOSES SMITH

A remarkable performance by Artur Schnabel, German pianist who has come to America especially for the Brahms Festival at Symphony Hall, and a subsequent demonstration of great proportions featured the second concert in the Festival yesterday.

From outward appearances Schnabel might have been making his debut here. Either the audience had forgotten his earlier appearance with the Symphony Orchestra seven years ago, or else it had been aroused by recent reports from Germany hailing him as a great artist and a notable interpreter of Brahms' music.

Playing the Solo part in B-flat major Concerto Schnabel demonstrated clearly that reports had not been exaggerated. Leaving out of consideration his extraordinary technical equipment which is plentifully demanded in this most difficult piece, the listener was enthralled by Schnabel's extraordinary vitality, the propulsive force of his rhythms, his dynamic energy; by his beauty and variety of tone, and by a vivid musical imagination.

Most of all we admired the man's artistic genuineness, for he does great things simply. Not for a moment did he regard this essentially symphonic work as a showpiece for a virtuoso. He was apparently ever in accord with Mr. Koussevitzky, who conducted an almost equally powerful performance on the part of the orchestra. The demonstration that followed lasting several minutes, was well deserved.

The concert in other respects was a notable occasion. It offered further evidence of the genuine love on the part of this public for Brahms' music. It gave a splendid orchestra and never-tiring conductor opportunity to employ fresh vigor and musical sensibility on Brahms' E minor Symphony. This work received epical treatment.

As a sort of choral prelude to the joyous rites—and a curious prelude—there was the "Song of Destiny," thoroughly depressing in outlook. Brahms has here written noble music, which was given excellent performances with the assistance of a chorus drawn from the Harvard Glee Club and the Radcliffe Choral Society. It would have been better, however, to have saved it for tonight's program, featuring the "German Requiem."

HONOR HEADS OF SUFFRAGE LEAGUE

By NANCY BREWSTER

Honor will be paid to the leaders for woman's suffrage, who ten years ago founded the League of Women Voters, on Wednesday, when the anniversary is simultaneously observed throughout the country. The keynote celebration will take place in New York city, but Bay State women voters have their part to do.

A luncheon-meeting will take place at the Women's Christian Association. Speakers will include Miss Alice Stone Blackwell, honorary president of the Massachusetts League; Miss Florence H. Luscomb, Mrs. Hilda Smith, Gaidee-like Quirk, Mrs. Mary Tenney Healy, president of the Massachusetts League; Mrs. Robert Treat Dennormandie, first vice-president of the Boston League, and Mrs. Willard Dana Woodbury, head of the Boston League.

In New York, at the St. Regis Hotel, at 2 p. m., Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, honorary president of the National League; Miss Belle Sherwin, national president, and Miss Katharine Ludington, first vice-president, will broadcast over a nation-wide hookup a message of interest and inspiration to women voters.

The Memorial and Anniversary Plan, which has been in process of organization in every state, will be announced officially at this time and a campaign launched.

Speaking of this plan Mrs. Healy explained:

"At the last convention of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, Mrs. Catt proposed the organization of a League of Women Voters as a memorial fitting to the pioneers whose work and influence made possible for the women of this country a partnership in its public life.

"The National League of Women Voters was organized. Its aims have been to remove the remaining legal discriminations against women in the codes and constitutions of several states, to make our democracy so safe for the nation and so safe for the world that every citizen may feel secure.

"In order to further develop the idea of a permanent memorial to the pioneers, the league is raising a fund, the principal of which will remain intact, the income only to be used for the work of the league thus carrying out the ideals first projected in pre-suffrage days.

"As Massachusetts' share in the fund, we propose to raise $200 in memory of Julia Ward Howe, Mary E Livermore, Lucy Stone, Alice Stone Blackwell and Maud Wood Park."

BOSTON WOMEN'S TRADE UNION LEAGUE

The executive board of the league, through its president, Mrs. Mary Gordon Thompson, sent a letter to the Massachusetts Minimum Wage Commission protesting its policy and methods in handling the dispute over the wages to be paid by Harvard University to its employees.

It reads:

"Our organization feels that this policy has been one of negation and evasion of responsibility. On the basis of the following facts we charge that the Minimum Wage Commission has not administered the law with the sympathy and understanding of its purpose and with the vigorous and equitable concern for its integrity which the Commonwealth of Massachusetts has the right to expect from its agents."

The letter points out that the commission permitted Harvard, in December, 1929, "after eight years of non-compliance, to discharge the women rather than pay the rate, and still did not publish Harvard University as refusing to pay the minimum wage of 31 cents to women employed as building cleaners."

The League seeks explanation and "defense of tactics so subversive of the true purpose of the law."

Fabric Is Test of Fashion in Spring Suits, With Dark Shades in Mode

ONE very nice thing about suits this year is that there is a style for every type, and to suit every occasion where a suit might be worn. The word "suit" indicates only that the costume consists of more than one piece, for the variety of styles is so great that one type of suit has almost no family resemblance to another.

The afternoon tailormade, of intricate cut and details, has a very definite place in the mode for spring, 1930. The fabric determines the fashion to a great extent in a season when simplicity is the keynote of the mode. Semi-lustrous, suede-like woolens, and semi-sheer woolens are used for the more formal coats and suits.

THE costume pictured is a very lovely interpretation of the dressy type of suit, of light beige Delga cloth, with contrasting band of black galyak fur on the softly draped revers-like collar The overblouse of matching ribbed silk is buttoned down the front, ending in twin points, and even boasts tiny set-in pockets, and a belt across the back in true vest fashion. The skirt flares slightly beige hose, suede pull-on gloves, and calf-skin bag of the same tone are accented by black oxfords. and small hat of black Panamalac straw complementing the smart, sleek blackness of the galyak fur.

BLACK retains its importance as a suit, coat and ensemble color. In frocks it will feature importantly in filmy materials and as backgrounds for prints.

Greens will have great importance in the new season. Clear bright tones and others strongly influenced by blue and yellow make a lineup in which there is a flattering shade for every type.

Navy blue, a staple, gains perceptibly in fashion prestige.

Dark blues may be combined with other blue values, including many subtle shades, or use other spring colors as accents.

BROWNS and hennas follow the blues in fashion rank. The browns are smart combined with prints on brown or beige grounds. The hennas are attractive with henna ground prints, as accents to white, and in combination with peach shades.

Beige colors are regaining lost ground and in gold tones will be important in dresses and blouses and as trim.

Peachy-pinks will be prominent as blouse or trim with henna, brown and navy blue. Turquoise, henna and Spanish red will figure in the evening mode.

COOLIDGE ON POLITICS

Washington, March 24—Calvin Coolidge has written a roundup of the year since he left the White House and has frankly discussed the suggestion that he run for a third term. He also discusses the attempts under way to repeal the 18th Amendment, the tariff and the suggestion he be a candidate for senator from Massachusetts this fall, Ray Long, editor of Cosmopolitan Magazine, admitted here.

"This article seemed to me to be so important that I went to my farm in April number off the press when I received it," said Long. "Mr. Coolidge had written it in Florida and wrote me a letter about what it contained. I felt it was so important to the country that I wanted to stop the presses. I wired Mr. Coolidge to that effect, but he said the May issue was the one it should appear in. He apparently had a definite reason for this."

"Mr. Coolidge gives this article the title of 'Reflections from Private Life,' and for the first time he calls it a 'story.' That is exactly what it is—a news story. It will appear on the news stands on April 10."

The article, Long said, was written by Coolidge on the anniversary of the first magazine story he wrote after completing his term as President.

"Will Mr. Coolidge run for a third term?" he was asked.

"He states his mind on this too, as well as the suggestion that he run for senator from Massachusetts this fall," Long replied.

Fascism Is Denounced by Karolyi in Newark Speech

Newark, N. J., March 24 (AP) —Speaking before a large gathering of Hungarian workers at the Newark Labor Lyceum yesterday, Count Michael Karolyi, Hungarian Socialist leader, assailed Fascist ideals, declaring he came with "propaganda especially against it."

The first president of Hungary's one-time republic called Facism the greatest menace to world peace.

As long as Fascism exists in Europe, Karolyi declared, readjustment of economic problems would be impossible.

Italy Celebrates Fascist Anniversary

Rome, March 24—With Fascist demonstrations of party strength and unity in every city and large town, Italy celebrated the 11th anniversary of the foundation of the "Fasci," the combat units from which the Fascist party arose.

The Fascist secretaries in all districts read a message from Premier Mussolini, in which the Duce declared that during 11 years Fascism had prevailed over a thousand difficulties of every kind, but that many more no less grave awaited it.

MME. FRANTZ IN CONCERT

In a joint concert with Dalies Frantz, pianist, Mme. Amelia Frantz, dramatic soprano, made her first appearance at Jordan Hall in a program that included an aria from Handel's "Atalanta," six German songs and a group of modern numbers. Mme. Frantz beautiful voice and excellent artistry were applauded by the large audience.

Mr. Frantz played pieces by Bach, Scarlatti and Brahms with the fleetness and precision of mechanics and the musical sensibility which he has displayed in previous concerts in Boston.

Guy Maier, composer of "Reflections," which was sung by Mme. Frantz, shared in the applause accorded the performers.

Boston women know that this is a suit season

Stearns announces the opening of a separate shop for suits of all types and sizes on the sixth floor

The "dressmaker" suit | The mannish suit | The capelet suit
The fitted suit | The peplum suit | The belted suit | The tied cardigan

We began our preparation weeks ago, when the couturiers forecast the biggest suit season in the history of fashion. Suit coats are short, three-quarter, seven-eighths, or full length. The soft-as-a-dress suits in new drapable wools have silk blouses that sometimes match the coat linings. So wearable is the 1930 suit that every type of woman is making it the foundation of her spring wardrobe. She wears the tailleur to travel in and the "dressmaker suit" to bridge or-five-o'clock tea. Materials include covert, sharkskin, men's suiting, nub tweeds, lace tweeds, monotone tweeds, domestic and imported wool crepes.

COST OF FLYING CUT TO LEVEL OF TRAINS

with the air line companies dropping their fares almost to the level of the best trains, commercial aviation is coming down to a point where the average man can use it as a means of transportation.

Private ownership of planes, however, has been looked on with the idea that one must be well-to-do in order to indulge in the sport of flying.

It remained to a Boston flying company to show that an airplane does not cost a lot of money to operate and can have moderate first cost.

This company, Walter S. Rogers and Associates, distributors of the Davis monoplane in New England, flew a ship piloted by Gus Ham with Rogers as passenger, to New Bedford and return for the total sum of $2, taking one hour and 17 minutes for the round trip.

This figure cuts the train fare in halves, and at the same time, clips the time required for the round trip down to a little more than a third.

Rogers stated that exactly six gallons of gasoline were used and a little less than a quart of oil. The ship cruised along at slightly under 80 miles an hour, flying at an altitude of 3000 feet.

The Davis monoplane is a light, two-place, open-cockpit monoplane with the wing of the parasol type suspended above the fuselage by means of struts.

"We spent enough time at the Boston Airport to take care of any business that might arise," said Rogers, "and then we hopped into the ship for the short run to New Bedford. This ship is consistently breaking the back of the cost of upkeep and operation."

GERMS POINT TO ORIGIN OF LIFE

Berkeley, Cal., March 24 (AP)—Accidental discovery of what were termed "artificial bacilli," generated in sterile media, was announced here today at the University of California.

The discovery was made by Dr. C. D. Lipman, professor of plant physiology at the university, while preparing agar, a substance made from Japanese seaweed, for use in bacteria culture.

Under a microscope, Dr. Lipman detected what he at first thought to be contaminating organisms in the form of rod-shaped bodies which looked like bacilli and absorbed dyes as they would.

After a series of experiments Dr. Lipman became convinced the rods were not living bacilli, but merely crystallizations of the agar. As they look like one of the simplest forms of life the scientist has speculated upon the possibility that his find might indicate the way life originated.

Mad Elephant Fails to Stop Wales Hunt

Nairobi, Kenya, March 24 (INS)—Thrilled by his recent harrowing experiments in the elephant country of Uganda, the Prince of Wales, brown and vigorous from his days in the open, was moving into the Belgian Congo today in search of white rhinoceros.

Messages received here say the heir to the British throne had a narrow escape while making movies of a bull elephant. The prince had set his camera in motion and was intent on keeping the animal in the camera eye when the elephant charged.

Rifles in the group behind the prince spoke, the great beast fell, and the prince, with a smile, remarked:

"A fine picture, that."

Tokio Celebrates Huge Rebuilding

Tokio, March 24 (AP)—The capital today began a three-day celebration in commemoration of reconstruction, following the earthquake and fire of September 1, 1923, officially pronounced completed after an expenditure of 739,000,000 yen (about $369,500,000). Today's feature was Emperor Hirohito's journey of inspection through the restored areas.

2500 Chickens Burn; Aged Woman Saved

Vineland, N. J., March 24 (AP)—The home, three barns and three chicken houses of James Tiffany, in Landis township, were destroyed and 2500 chickens killed by fire last night. The loss was estimated at $35,000.

Mrs. Sarah Tiffany, 78, mother of the farmer, was rescued by her son, who saved 500 chickens and some live stock.

Letters From Readers

Something to Think About

Editor Boston American:

The present domestic chaos in Russia is but a passing phase in the working out of that country's salvation. This was so in the French revolution in an attempt to annihilate Christianity. These eruptions are merely national goiters. People once oppressed, when relieved of their yoke of bondage, will enjoy their freedom by knockout blows upon others and institutions. Let it be noticed that no other nation is giving Russia any support in her present campaign against organized religion.

It is not the overthrow of religion which will ultimately take place in that country, but the overthrow of Russia herself. History repeats itself.

Illiteracy Not Always Drawback

Editor Boston American:

Something was said in your letter column about the growth of illiteracy in Massachusetts and that this state stood 36th in the list, with all its educational advantages.

Now illiteracy is not such a curse as many make it out to be. Anyway, if you can believe what is said of the 158 persons in Bulgaria who are centenarians, only 12 of that number can read and write. Many of them, in fact nearly all, are vegetarians, three per cent have eaten meat occasionally. They verify the old saying, "What they do not know does not hurt them."

Their ignorance has saved them many worries and kept off a lot of excitements that might have had a weakening influence upon their hearts. Ignorance is not such a bad thing after all and probably that is the reason why so many people live longer in New York than they do in Boston. This is worth considering.

Censorship of Sex Lecturers Urged

Editor Boston American:

I recently read a letter in your Readers' Column about the methods pursued by some physicians in speaking on sexology to a mixed audience of young persons. The letter was signed Mother. I agree with that letter entirely. No one should be allowed to lecture on sexology except those endorsed by a committee who understand how it should be dispensed to young minds. There is a way to do this, and there is a way not to do it.

Little Likelihood of Famine Today

Editor Boston American:

Last week in arriving in Boston from a trip to Chicago I noticed a number of refrigerator cars on a side track. This thought rushed through my mind. These are the great carriers of food from coast to coast. They are with other agencies our protectors against famine. The greatest scourge in the history of the human race is that of famine.

With the advance of civilization and the introduction of organized agriculture, the frequency and severity of famine has been mitigated to a great degree by the storage of reserves. There is no likelihood of a world famine today in peace times.

Let us be thankful that civilization has progressed so far in this respect. Look at China!

Biographic Halt On Lincoln Urged

Editor Boston American:

If a newspaper has any influence, as I most assuredly believe it has, may I ask that it be extended to control literary persons, to prevent them from writing any more biographies of Abraham Lincoln. We have biographies by Beveridge, Miss Tarbell, Hay, Carl Sandburg and Lord Charnwood and how another is announced.

Please let Lincoln alone. His life is already well written by several of the above mentioned writers. We do not need any more lives and we do not need any more commercialism buzzing around the martyr President. If he could only see the last biography how he would smile.

Hopes to See State Dryest in Union

Editor Boston American:

I note that Representative Joseph E. Perry is asking court opinion on the dry law. That remark sure sounded good. Yet the court in Massachusetts doesn't mean the same to all the law breakers. The big bootlegger will not get a jail sentence. No, but the moonshiner will be given a fine and probation if he is working for the big ring. Good American citizens who have thousands, go over to the other side to bring it in. It's a disgrace to Massachusetts. I hope to live to see our State the dryest in the Union, free from all kinds of liquor. Coming generations will have no night clubs or dens.

Linoleum Tariff Increase Opposed

Editor Boston American:

Many unjustifiable increases have been suggested in the tariff House bill and again in the Senate, but one which has been drawn to my attention has reference to inlaid linoleum.

The present tariff is 35 per cent ad valorem, but in the House bill a tariff of 40 per cent ad valorem was proposed and now in the Senate bill this has been increased to 42 per cent. It appears that in 1924 the total of imports of linoleum were 1,504,784 square yards, while in 1928 they were 723,783 square yards., which you will note is less than half, and I believe that 1929 figures show a further drop in yardage.

The total production of linoleum in our country is 50,000,000 square yards, so the imports only represent about 1½ per cent of the linoleum production here.

The strongest argument against any change in the linoleum tariff are the government figures of exports of linoleum, which show a total yardage of 1,819,836 in 1925, which was 1,096,053 in excess of total imports.

These figures speak for themselves, and this linoleum industry does not, on the face of things, need further protection, and therefore we should not be called upon as citizens to support an extreme tariff on this or any other commodity.

Married Women on State Jobs

Editor Boston American:

Gov. Allen's committee on unemployment might well start their inquiry in the State House. Here we find many married women working under their malden names helping to swell unemployment for single girls who cannot find a place, while such women refuse to stay at home, raise a family and keep house for their big, strong, working husbands.

The thing to do with them is to give them their choice between leaving their husbands or leaving their jobs.

Real Cigarette Pleasure

WHY BE SATISFIED with less smoking pleasure when for the same price you can have the luxury of Camels?

Camels stand alone. If you merely want to puff, anything will do. But if you want to know the true delight of smoking—to enjoy the mild, mellow fragrance of superbly blended Domestic and Turkish tobaccos, brought to perfection by the most scientific methods of manufacture but with none of the delicacy of its natural goodness lost or spoiled by over-treatment—then Camel is the cigarette for you.

You'll find in Camels all the exquisite enjoyment that can be packed into a smoke.

Frankfort Family Great for Helping Out

WHEN you find yourself wishing for a new variety of meat for dinner, let the frankfort family step right in and provide a new and distinctive flavor for your meat course.

Pedigreed frankforts — and of course they'll be made from New England fresh dressed pork—of the brand we use in the Martha Lee Kitchen, deserve a special place on your menu, for they are wholesome, hunger satisfying and spiced just right. Perhaps you think that the place for frankforts is only at outdoor frolics, socials packed away somewhere on the running board of the car, or wherever there is cooking out-of-doors, but if you'll try the following two recipes, you will see that they are especially adopted to hurry-up meals when the family comes home late just starved—or most any other time.

FRANKFORTS WITH BROILED TOMATOES

Cut medium-sized tomatoes in halves. Cover the tops with buttered crumbs and broil on a well-greased grill or bake quickly in a very hot oven until the crumbs are browned. Cut frankforts in halves, lengthwise, and broil them quickly also. Serve the tomatoes with the halves of the broiled frankforts over the top and pile of fluffy mashed potatoes on the side.

Another delicious frankfort dish is made by skinning several pedigreed frankforts and cutting them in thick slices. Sizzle them in hot bacon fat or butter until delicately brown. Meanwhile, scramble several eggs and arrange them on a hot platter with the frankfort slices in the depression in the center of the eggs.

And, of course, you haven't forgotten my recent suggestion for Frankfort Bundles, made by preparing a plain pie crust dough, rolling it thin and cutting it in six-inch squares. Arrange skinned frankforts, cut in thin slices, in two rows down the centers of the squares of pastry. Pinch the ends of the paste together and roll up like a bundle. Place in a hot oven, 450 F., for about 15 minutes and serve with prepared mustard.

For Friday's Luncheon

HAVE you a favorite variety of fried rice as served in Chinese restaurants? The following recipe strikes a new note in lenten luncheons and it's guaranteed to be delicious.

SHRIMP FRIED RICE
(Five to eight persons).

6 c. cold steamed rice
1 lb. fresh boiled shrimp
½ c. mushrooms
1 stalk celery
1 medium-size onion or
2 green onions
5 eggs
5 tbsps. butter or oil
2 tbsps. soy sauce
1 tsp. salt; bit of pepper

Wash and shell shrimp. Fry them in butter with the mushrooms and chopped celery for about five minutes. Add cold rice, stirring it with a big fork or spoon and season with soy sauce, salt and pepper. Break the eggs into the rice, mix well until the eggs are cooked. Serve with hot rolls and tea.

Try This One in Your New Electric Refrigerator

AMONG the endless delicious desserts that can be prepared in trays of an electric refrigerator, this Ginger Parfait deserves a special star.

GINGER PARFAIT

¼ cup sugar.
¼ cup water.
2 egg whites.
1 cup heavy cream.
8 tbsps. preserved ginger chopped fine.
1 tbsp. ginger syrup.

Make a syrup of the sugar and water and 1 tbsp. of syrup drained from a jar of Canton ginger. Have ready the stiffly beaten whites of eggs, and when syrup spins a thread, remove from the fire and pour slowly over the eggs, beating constantly until cool. When cool, chill thoroughly, then fold into cream, which has been whipped until it will hold its shape. Pile lightly in electric refrigerator tray and freeze for 3 hours.

Another extra gorgeous combination is this Frozen Fruit Salad with Cheese:

FROZEN FRUIT SALAD WITH CHEESE

1 cup shredded pineapple
2 tbsps. powdered sugar
¼ lb. cream cheese
1 cup mayonnaise
1 cup cream, whipped
1 dozen maraschino cherries
8 marshmallows

Drain pineapple well, add sugar, cherries and marshmallows. Soften the cream cheese and gradually work in the mayonnaise to make a smooth mixture, then fold in the whipped cream and combine with the fruit. Pour it into the tray of your electric refrigerator. Place cherries on top, so that when cut into servings one will be in the center of each portion. Serve on lettuce. If desired may be served with mayonnaise, thinned with whipped cream, reserving the cherries for garnish.

I've just received another shipment of those splendid recipe books featuring desserts, salads and other dishes especially adapted for making in your electric refrigerator. I'll be happy to send you your copy on request.

From Watch Tower

THE abundance and cheapness of common yellow onions bring onion soup au gratin, scalloped, boiled, creamed and fried onion to our special attention, since they represent the most desirable combination of economy and healthfulness.

Carrots and lettuce are plentiful too, and with the low cheese prices suggest grated raw carrots and cheese salad, than which I know nothing better for that schoolgirl complexion.

Spinach, mushrooms and cabbage prices are a bit higher, and so are naval oranges, but Florida Valencias and grapefruit are moderately priced. Baldwin apples range in price from 3 to 4 pounds for 25c.

Lamb and pork are the most economical meat buys. Lamb kidney chops retail around 35c a pound and good Native duck is selling for 29c to 35c.

Fish prices are generally higher than last week, but lobster appears to be more plentiful with the lobster meat at $2.50 a pound.

A limited amount of the 1930 crop maple syrups has arrived and is quoted at prices from $2.75 to $4 a gallon. New maple sugar is 50c to 70c a pound.

All egg prices are very low, and what cheaper or more nutritious protein food is there on the market today?

Scallops, both the Cape and the sea variety, are worthy of a passing thought, too. Especially if you prepare them as we did in the Martha Lee Kitchen by placing a generous amount of cracker crumbs on a large piece of brown paper, rolling the scallops around in this until they are well covered, then putting them in a bowl in which 2 eggs have been well beaten and when they are thoroughly coated turning them out on another mound of crumbs and rolling them around until they are thoroughly covered.

Have deep fat very hot and immerse the scallops just long enough to brown them, which will take about one minute.

Many Uses of Gelatine

GELATINE is really the best mixer in the whole society of foods! Not only is it a valuable food in itself, but when mixed with other foods it makes them more digestible and adds to their nutrition.

Gelatine, as we all know, simplifies the making of jellies and whipped creams and candies, and a little added to ice cream or milk increases its nutritional food value and digestibility by approximately 20 per cent. Added to the milk it tends also to prevent large, hard curds from forming in the stomach, and therefore makes the milk easy to digest both for infants and adults.

Dissolve a little softened gelatine in your left-over breakfast cereal and serve it molded the next night and surrounded by crushed fruit. Add a tsp. of softened gelatine to your hot croquette mixture. It will help you shape them easily and will make the croquettes soft and creamy. Chilled gelatine, put through a sieve, makes an attractive garnish for meats, salads and desserts, and, of course, we know that gelatine has an important place in the making of marshmallows, gumdrops, paste, jellies, fondant and nougats.

Remember that plain, unflavored gelatine should always be softened in a little cold water before dissolving in hot water. And always add the gelatine to the water—do not pour the water on the gelatine Stir gently while adding the gelatine. Remember, too, that gelatine must never be directly boiled over a fire. It will make it sticky and weaken its strength.

Shall we send you a new book of gelatined dishes?

One Platter Meal for the Lenten Season

FOR a Lenten luncheon or even as a supper dish, tomatoes stuffed with crab salad and served with crisp French fried potatoes and cole slaw, makes a well balanced and exceptionally delicious one-platter meal.

Prepare the tomatoes by cutting a thin slice from the stem end and scooping out a portion of the center. Remove the spines from a can of Japanese crab meat (and don't throw away the liquid in the can, for this contains precious fish proteins). Mix the Japanese crab meat with your favorite salad dressing. Fill the centers of the tomatoes with the crab.

Place the tomatoes on crisp lettuce leaves and arrange more of the crab salad around the base of the tomatoes. In another section of the blue plate, place a generous serving of crisp French fried potatoes. And please notice that I said crisp.

Not the soft and flannely greasy kind so often served under this name. To make French fried potatoes crisp, cut the potatoes as usual and place them in rather cool deep fat. They need to cook at least one-half hour before beginning to brown in order to cook out the water. Then drain and bring the fat up to 375 degrees. Place the potatoes back in it and brown quickly. Drain on soft paper, sprinkle with salt and serve immediately. These will keep crisp and are as wholesome as they are delicious.

To serve with this combination, I know nothing more delicious than Pint's relish.

PINT'S RELISH

Shred 2 firm cabbages from which the hard centers have been removed. To the cabbage add 4 finely shredded green peppers and 4 dill pickles chopped in very fine strips lengthwise. Add 6 pimientos, diced. Over this pour a dressing made of 1 cup of tarragon vinegar and 1 cup of olive oil and 2 large tbsps. of celery seed.

The relish is neat tossed together with a fork after being generously sprinkled with salt and pepper and 2 tbsps. of sugar. Allow to stand in the ice chest for an hour before serving. This will keep 2 or 3 days. Makes a large quantity.

When making egg custard pies, always heat the milk to the boiling point before mixing with the eggs. If this rule is followed, the undercrust will be crisp.

A LENTEN SPECIAL

ELBOW MACARONI AND LIMA BEANS

½ pkg. elbow macaroni.
1 cup cooked lima beans.
½ tbsp. flour.
1½ tbsps. butter.
1 cup milk.
½ tsp. salt.
⅛ tsp. paprika.
1 cup grated cheese.
4 slices broiled bacon.

Parboil the elbow macaroni for 9 minutes in 2 qts. boiling water, to which ½ tbsp. salt has been added. Drain. Make a white sauce in a double boiler by melting butter, blending in flour and milk and seasoning with salt and paprika. Cook until the mixture thickens, then add the grated cheese.

Continue cooking until cheese is melted. Into a well-greased baking dish put alternate layers of the macaroni and lima beans, continuing until the ingredients are used up. Allow the top layer to be elbow macaroni. Pour the cheese sauce over this, cover with the sliced bacon and bake in a moderate oven for 20 minutes. Fresh or canned lima beans may be used.

Stuffed Egg Salad Wins Weekly $5 Prize

BECAUSE the recipe for Stuffed Egg Salad, sent in by Mrs. Elizabeth Coleman, of 106 Union st., Brighton, is "different," delicious, timely and not too expensive, it has been awarded the weekly $5 recipe prize.

Remove the shells from 6 Hood's eggs which have been hard boiled. Cut them in halves lengthwise. Carefully remove the yolks and mash them, and moisten them with a small amount of the dressing. To this add ¾ cup of finely chopped celery, 2 tbsps. of chopped green peppers, and if liked ½ tsp. of finely chopped onion. Season with Worcester salt, Slade's pepper and Slade's cayenne. Add enough dressing to make it of the right consistency to refill the whites. Decorate with the dressing and a sprig or two of parsley and arrange the eggs on a few leaves of crisp lettuce.

For dressing, scald ½ cup of vinegar, and pour it gradually over 4 Hood's eggs, which have been beaten slightly and mixed with 2 tsps. each of Worcester salt and Slade's mustard, 1 tsp. Domino sugar, tsp. of Slade's paprika, and a few grains of cayenne. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly. When the mixture begins to thicken, add ½ cup Hood's butter, a bit at a time, and when taken from the fire, add 2 tbsps. of lemon juice and chill. Before using add 1 cup of heavy Hood's cream beaten stiff.

While this is an expensive dressing, it is truly delicious, and as the salad is hearty enough to be used for a main dish, and as eggs are very reasonable just now, the extravagance may be excused.

Use the egg whites for a Silver Cake, made with economical white vegetable shortening.

RUNYON SAYS

by Damon Runyon

NEW YORK, March 24—Few authors possess the rare good judgment of Mr. Abraham Hollandersky, whose latest book is to hand.

I find toward the end of this enthralling tome, a page given over to two illustrations, one of the author, Mr. Hollandersky, himself, posed with his arms folded across his manly chest, in true authoresque style, and the other of a pleasant looking young lady.

This as I gather from the cutlines, is Freda Weinberg, fiances of Mr. Hollandersky, "who is patiently waiting for Abe's book to be published and supply them with the means to begin their married lives together."

How many of our authors marry first, and write their books afterwards, not waiting to see if their royalties will supply them with the means to begin their married lives? How many, I repeat? Well, too many, according to my operatives who have been around interviewing the wives of authors.

So I contend Mr. Hollandersky is an author of rare sagacity. I bow, too, to Freda Weinberg, the lady who is patiently waiting. I hope and trust that Mr. Hollandersky's book, "The Life Story of Abe the Newsboy" meets with immediate and great success. I haven't got far into it as yet, but you can see it is a deserving tome.

MR. HOLLANDERSKY, by the by, is none other than Abe the newsboy himself. I was greatly surprised to learn this. I have known Abe the newsboy for many years, but I always thought his name was Abe the newsboy. But there it is Hollandersky. It shows you how little we know of our fellow citizens, after all. I think I prefer Abe the newsboy.

HE bounced in on me the other day to favor me with a copy of his book. Abe the newsboy is a short, chunky built little man, of swarthy complexion, with two mangled ears, and a slight mumble in his speech, the afterwath, no doubt, of 1039 ring battles, of which, according to the book, Abe was the hero.

"I had to get my book printed at my own expense," Abe explained to me, as he handed me my presentation copy. "It cost me $12,000, but what's the difference—it gives me a life job selling it."

It is a solid looking, well bound volume, this "Life Story of Abe the Newsboy," and from a cursory perusal of the text, I am inclined to think Abe had some expert assistance on it.

But he supplied all the illustrations, beginning with a full length photo of himself carrying a traveling bag covered with labels from all over the world.

THE book contains photos of both the Theodore Roosevelts, of Calvin Coolidge, and Herbert Hoover, all autographed to Abe. There are photos of distinguished officers of the navy, and of scores of celebrities in other fields, also autographed to Abe. These pictures denote for my friend Abe a wide acquaintance and considerable erust. A shrinking violet wouldn't exhibit Al Smith, for example, on an autographed photo, would it? But here's Al beaming right at you from a page of Abe's book.

NOW don't think Abe's 1039 battles the bunk. He had 'em. In all parts of the world. He also had 387 wrestling matches, once wrestling a bloke in Panama 5 hours 22 minutes, which is really longer than he would care to go through a wrestling bout. The 22 minutes would suffice.

HE once licked Jack Ortega, who weighed 220 pounds, for the heavyweight championship of Panama and South America, although Abe, the newsboy, never hefted much above the welterweight mark. The bout was scheduled for 45 rounds, and Abe won in the nineteenth. Along came Willie Wood, of Baltimore, otherwise Kid Norfolk, otherwise "The Little Black Thunderbolt," to relieve Abe of the title in 25 tough heats.

So you see, my friend, Abe was no geezer in the manly art. Kid Norfolk was afterwards quite a distinguished fistic figure. In 1907 in Panama, he grappled with a guy for 4 hours, 18 minutes, to win the welterweight wrestling championship of the world. Anyway, Abe claims it was of the world. If it was only of the nearest cantina, it was good enough.

FOR a man who has held the world's welterweight wrestling championship, the heavyweight boxing championship of Panama and South America, and the welterweight boxing championship of Panama and South America, Abe the newsboy, is somewhat reduced in titles as he moves into the 42d year of his life. In fact, the only title has now claims is "world champion newsboy." He probably is all of that.

BRUINS HOME FOR THIRD GAME

By BILL GRIMES

AFTER two hectic battles in Montreal, the Bruins returned home last night, anxious to wind up the championship series tomorrow night at the Garden.

Aside from the fact that the Bruins won the first game and that it was one of the longest in the annals of championship contests, there was little to thrill over, due to the defensive style of play resorted to by the Maroons.

But the second game was a game. From the moment Harry Oliver whipped home the winning goal of the first game to the faceoff for the second contest, the Maroons must have been on the receiving end of a fight talk. They were informed by their partisan followers that they had been robbed of the first encounter.

Bill Grimes

They must have been told that the Bruins had been allowed to get away with everything. The Maroons came on the ice Saturday night looking for trouble, and when the Bruins refused to resort to the wild tactics expected, the Montrealers set about to force the rough-house issue, hoping to succeed in having the Bruins penalized.

While Maroons had evidently been instructed to get the Bruins' "goats," Manager Ross counteracted by insisting that the Boston players hold their heads regardless of their opponents' actions.

Capt. Lionel Hitchman, who is still handicapped by a fractured jaw, and Eddie Shore were the Bruins the Maroons were anxious to "take for a ride." Shore and Hitchman took a terrible beating in the first game, but they refused to lose their temper.

In the second game, the Maroons went after the two Bruin defense men from the start. Hooley Smith deliberately smashed Hitchman on the head with his stick when he was checked and the blow, in spite of the fact that the Bruin captain wore a head guard, rendered him punch drunk for some time. Ward and Stewart gave Shore the business as did Trottier. But the Bruin star refrained from retaliating. Trottier flipped his stick and cut Hitchman's eye as he raced through the Bruin defense.

Hitchman Was Object of Maroons' Attack

Between the Smith and Trottier attacks, Hitchman was forced to do some fast stepping in avoiding many other deliberate attempts to injure him. But after having his eye closed, Hitch evidently felt that he had had enough and from then on he did a job on all of the so-called Maroon bad men.

Batt Phillips tried to butt and Hitch and was rewarded with a murderous cross check. The effects of which he will feel for some time. He made a somewhat feeble attempt to come back at Hitchman and after getting the worst of the second mixup, swung his stick around to connect, but missed so hard against the Bruin captain's hip that it left its imprint.

Hooley Smith and Dave Trottier were the chief offenders. They will be in for a warm reception tomorrow night, if they display any signs of the article of hockey they played in the Forum. Although there may be some question regarding Hooley Smith, it is quite likely that Trottier will be more or less meek away from his friends at the Forum.

Manager Art Ross is set to wind

Eagle Trackmen Start Practice

Boston College's track team will officially start its outdoor season on the Alumni Field cinder path today. The board track has been ripped up and the Eagles are anxious to open what they hope will be a successful campaign.

There are two objectives that Coach Jack Ryder will point his men for during the next month. First is the Penn Relays, on April 25 and 26, at Franklin Field, Philadelphia.

The second is the Boston Intercity meet at the Harvard Stadium on May 3, in which Harvard entertains B. U., B. C., Tech, Northeastern and Tufts. This marks the first time in 11 years that B. C. has had any athletic connection with the Crimson.

AMATEUR STARS WHO BATTLE AT ARENA TONIGHT

20 Colleges in Harvard Swim Meet

The stage is set at Harvard for the national intercollegiate swimming championships, which will be disputed in the new Harvard pool on Friday and Saturday.

Twenty colleges, representing every section of the country, are sending teams to the meet. Six New England institutions of learning will have their natators in the meet, while five teams are coming from the Middle and Far West to try for honors. McGill University of Canada is sending a special team to add an international flavor to the tank fiesta.

The colleges entered are: Syracuse, Minnesota, Northwestern, Dartmouth, Princeton, Stanford, Springfield, Amherst, Brown, M. I. T., University of Pennsylvania, Iowa, Michigan, Union, N. Y. U., Columbia, Fordham, Rutgers, Bowdoin and McGill.

Every swimming champion in the Western Conference will appear. This includes Al Schwartz of Northwestern, 100-yard titlist; Garnett Ault of Michigan, winner in the 440-yard freestyle; Dick Hinch of Northwestern, in the 50-yard backstroke; Bob Hewlett of Northwestern in the 200-yard breaststroke, and Wentworth Lobdell, Iowa's single entry, fancy diving champion.

Riley and DesJardins to Give Exhibition

An additional feature of the meet will be the appearance of Mickey Riley and Pete DesJardins of California, who will give special exhibitions of diving. Both boys are Olympic champions, and about the best in the country in the art of fancy diving.

Harvard's only connection with the big meet is in supplying the pool. No team has been named by Coach Uhlan of Harvard to wear the Crimson's colors in the meet, but some entries from the college may enter.

Approximately 1600 persons can be accommodated in the gallery flanking the pool at Harvard. Seats along two sides of the tank will seat 1600 fans, while 200 more will be admitted standing room sections.

Ten events will be contested before the championships are decided. They are the 200-yard relay, 200-yard breastroke, 50-yard free style, 440-yard free style, 150-yard backstroke, 100-yard free style, fancy diving, 150-yard medley swim, 22-yard free style and 300-yard medley relay.

Northwestern is favored to take first place in team honors, while Stanford and Michigan are considered close contenders who may upset the Illini.

FRIEDMAN IS ON WITH MONTE

Al Friedman of Roslindale, wildly popular Hebrew heavyweight, will return once more to a local ring on Friday night when he boxes Joe Monte of Brockton in the feature ten-round bout of an all-heavyweight card at the Garden.

Friedman, who is training at the Philadelphia Y. M. H. A., will return with high hopes of victory. Since his stirring battle with Tuffy Griffith in the Garden, he has defeated Emmett Rocco in Newark. The Hebrew heavyweight is the busiest boxer in the world. Promoters all over the country are seeking his services, for Friedman never fails to give satisfaction.

He has been the outstanding figure in local rings for the past year, because of his savage battles with Jack Gagnon, Ernie Schaaf, Jim Maloney and Griffith. Friedman has fought all the leading heavyweights who cared to fight him, up and down the line, and will try to keep his record intact in order to meet Maloney next summer.

Friedman has a large following. Monte will rally a big crowd from Brockton.

The two young heavyweights fought twice in Brockton a few years ago, and twice Monte received the decision after whirlwind battles. Monte has been stepping along nicely in the past few months. He beat Harry Allen twice and knocked out Moise Bouquillon, French heavyweight champion.

Pat McCarthy, veteran light heavyweight from Roxbury, will return to the ring to meet Sam Weiss of Philadelphia, in the 10-round semifinal bout.

Victorian Captures Richest Race

Auga Caliente, Mexico, March 24 (AP)—High into the class of the all time big money winners of the turf today was Victorian, which breezed home ahead of Alexander Pantages in the first Auga Caliente handicap to boost his earnings to $254,775, third among the racing immortals. The Canadian colt Donnay was third. Fourteen horses started.

The victory netted the Warm Stables of Louisville, Ky., $98,400, the winner's share of the $122,000 stake

There was nothing unexpected in the triumph, with the Eastern five-year-old speedster coming up from seventh place at the start, to win, pulling away from a fast field. His time was 2 minutes 31-5 seconds.

13,000 See Fall River Win Cup

New Bedford, March 24—Fall River defeated Bethlehem Steel, 3 to 2, n., Battery Park here in the eastern final of the National Cup before a crowd of 13,000 fans.

The contest was a replay, the teams having battle to a 3-to-1 tie in an extra period contest at the Polo Grounds, New York, last week.

The game was a regular cup tie, both elevens battling hard to survive and meet the winner of the Western finals for the open championship.

Inter-Fraternity Bouts at Tufts

The Tufts interfraternity mat bouts will start this afternoon and will close Wednesday with a card of some 90 bouts on tap for the three days or competition.

Eleven separate teams are entered in the meet and only men who have not competed as varsity, freshman, or class wrestlers are eligible for this tourney which is being held under the direction of Hingston, former 175-pound champion; Coach Ruggeri and Chet Delano, director of inframural athletics.

U. S. to Celebrate

Los Angeles (AP)—The University of Southern California will celebrate its semi-centennial anniversary in June. In 50 years it has grown from 35 students to 15,000.

FLOWERS SET FOR PERLICK GO

With the arrival in the Hub today of Bruce Flowers and with the Perlick Twins of Kalmazoo train in on high, the double windup of the Argonne A. A., which is carded at Mechanics building on Thursday night looms up as one of the outstanding ring features of the indoor season.

The Hub already has become enthusiastic over the prospects of witnessing the twins in action because of their brilliant record in the ring as well as their colorful dispositions.

Flowers is carded to swap wallops with Herman Perlick and this bout looms up as a lightweight attraction.

Henry Perlick, who meets Hy Diamond of the West End on this card, knocked out Charley White in his last start, and this feat alone has proved sufficient to attract keen interest in the appearance of these boys in the Hub.

The Perlicks spent the Sabbath with the Sullivan Twins, Jack and Mike—and these ring veterans will be at the ringside Thursday night to cheer on the Kalmazoo Klouters to victory. The Perlicks are the first twins since the Sullivans to invade the ring, and for this reason are regarded as of the utmost interest.

In four-rounders, Billy Edwards of Natick, takes on Tom Quigley, Cambridge, and Johnny Gonzales, Los Angeles, meets Jay Mack, Revere. Young Nadeau, Cambridge, opposes Frankie Garcie, Quincy, and Napoleon Bonaparte, France, meets John Duve, Haverhill.

Maribell Vinson Wins Ice Title

Providence, R. I., March 24—Miss Maribell Y. Vinson of Winchester, 15-year-old student at Radcliffe College, was awarded the senior ladies' national amateur figure skating crown for the third year by Charles M. Hotch, president of the Skating Club of Boston. Mrs. Frederick Secord of New York was second.

Another Boston skater and also a defending champion, Roger F. Turner, won the senior men's title again, with James L. Madden, also a representative of the Skating Club of Boston, taking runner-up honors.

Capt. M'Ewan to Coach H. C. Grid Team

Worcester, March 24—Capt. John J. McEwan, U. S. A., retired, will be head football coach at Holy Cross College next season.

This announcement was made by the Rev. John M. Fox, S. J., president of the college, following a meeting with officials and college alumni.

PRACTICE WEDNESDAY

Capt. McEwan will take up his new duties immediately. He returned to New York last night, but is expected back in Worcester to hold first football practice Wednesday afternoon.

Fr. Fox did not say how long a contract had been given Capt. McEwan. He is to be in complete charge of football with carte blanche and will have the supervision and selection of his own assistants.

Whether any of the former staff of assistants will return under Capt. McEwan is possibly a matter of availability.

Capt. McEwan succeeds Cleo A. O'Donnell as football coach, the latter directing the destinies of the Crusaders from 1919 to the close of the 1929 season, when he resigned as football coach, but still remains with the college as director of athletics.

Both as player and a coach, Capt. McEwan has been outstanding, winning national repute. He has been selected on three different occasions for Walter Camp's all-America team.

Appointed to West Point by Lindbergh's Father

A graduate of Sauk Center high school, he later went to University of Minnesota, being appointed in his sophomore year for the United States Military Academy by Congressman Lindbergh, father of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

At West Point McEwan was center of the 1913-14-15-16 teams, winning all-America recognition in his first year and being second place all-America the three following years.

Following service in the army during which he saw service on the Mexican border and in the World War, rising to rank of major at 23, he returned in 1919 to West Point as line coach under Maj. Charles L. Daly, and became head coach in 1923.

McEwan's teams at West Point were among the most famous ever developed at that institution. His 1925 team defeated Notre Dame, 27 to 0, for one of the very few beatings the Irish have received in recent years. While at Oregon only 13 points have been scored against his teams in two years.

18 Bouts Carded in International Matches

The tournament is scheduled to get under way at 8 o'clock. With the exception of the international classes and a dozen more in the open divisions, there should be plenty of action. The boxers are carded to weigh in at the Arena at 5 o'clock.

CANADA HAS 4 CHAMPIONS IN TOURNEY

WITH the outstanding amateur boxing champions from two countries meeting in six championship classes at the Boston Arena tonight in the final simon pure tournament previous to the national championships, it is expected that this international fistic carnival will prove an attraction which will arouse more interest than any similar event in many months.

Canada will be represented in the tournament by a quartet of Montreal champions only recently crowned and the wearers of the maple leaf, who have always proved popular in this city, will oppose the representative champions of Boston, Grand Rapids and Cleveland.

Although the New England Association of the A. A. U. has gone to considerable expense in bringing these boxers here, the keen interest in the simon pures during the past year is expected to repay them.

The international bouts will be staged in six classes, while in addition there will be bouts in two open divisions in which all of the foremost Hub boys are expected to compete.

3 Junior Champions in Arena Tussle

Three junior national champions, recently crowned at Grand Rapids and Cincinnati, are numbered among the boxers. Joey Kushner, Don Gonzales and Charlie Kelley won these titles.

State and New England champions are also included among the Boston representatives in the show.

According to Tom Kansly, the twelve Hub representatives form the best team that has been selected to represent this city in many years.

Mart'n Leverdowski, light heavyweight champion, who was scheduled to cross in the tournament will not be with the show because of a severe attack of boils sustained during his training. His physician have barred him for him for a week. Everett Semeyn, who held Leverdowski to a close decision in the Michigan State championships, will replace the champion on the card.

Honore Chevrier, Montreal welterweight is expected to prove one of the big features of the tournament. This youngster is a member of the Canadian National army and is the ex-Dominion champion in Ottawa. He is very champion and has won many tournaments both in this country and in Canada.

The ice which has covered the Arena surface for the entire winter season was permanently removed last Saturday night and will not be put on until next year. For this reason the fans are assured of

The Boston Red Sox Baseball Uniforms

Braves' Pilot Predicts Tribe Will Be Fighting Team

M'KECHNIE HAS HOPES FOR BIG YEAR

By BILL CONNELL

ST. PETERSBURG, FLA., March 24—"One thing is certain about this year's Braves and that is that they will be a fighting ball club," said Manager Bill McKechnie of the Tribe today.

"They won't need driving to play their best ball. I can see that already," concluded the pilot.

Not a lengthy statement from the boss of the warriors, yet one that should mean a lot to Boston baseball fans. For some years the Tribe has been low in the standing though the nines have not been quitting.

Those losing Brave squads were trying most of the time, but their efforts were those of a hopeless crew which didn't expect to win and was only striving to stave off defeat as long as possible.

Bill Connell

This year, the Braves are a younger ball club, and the new blood in the team plus a new spirit should mean a great deal before the season progresses very far.

The Tribe of this year will be out there fighting for wins, not delaying defeats. And there is all the difference in the world between a club which asks and gives no quarter as it plays the game, and a team that desperately goes through the motions, fending off disaster.

McKechnie Puts New Life Into Braves

Bill McKechnie doesn't take a bit of the credit for building a team with the courageous spirit of youth. But the slim, soft spoken manager of the Boston National League entry is the reason for this new attitude on the part of the Tribesmen.

Kindly, never explosive, always teaching and guiding rather than driving and punishing, Chief McKechnie has won the hearts and loyalty of the athletes. Veterans and youngsters alike are working with their leader every minute of the day.

A 10th inning rally to beat Detroit, a slugging club of fine ball players, the other day, was the first real indication of the batting qualities of the warriors. Then on Sunday the Braves beat the Yanks in the ninth inning, after the New York team had overcome the early lead of the Tribesmen.

Those wins are the best indication of the potential strength of the Braves. And those and other victories came despite the fact that McKechnie was experimenting and shifting men constantly and not placing his best nine on the field.

Just the other evening as the players were in the dining room of their hotel here, McKechnie was outside awaiting for an auto to take him to a necessary dinner engagement. "I hate to eat away from my boys," said Bill. "They're under my care and I like to be with them all the time."

That was a simple sentence, yet it showed how the manager feels towards his "boys." And the players recognize and appreciate the fine type of man who has come to pilot them through the rough stretch of a big league campaign.

Tribe Will Fight to Get Near Top

A great leader, Bill McKechnie, who has welded a weak club into a fighting unit. It's hard to tell now how the Tribe will finish, but what a whale of a fight it will put along the trail.

And the other teams will know they have been in a clash. And Hub fans will have plenty to cheer for along the sidelines of the baseball battleground.

St. Pete's big league spring champions, the Braves, go to Bradenton today to play the Cardinals. Rob Brown, Nantasket boy, hasn't worked for a few days, and probably will pitch part of the game. Percy Jones and Bruce Cunningham are likely to work this p. m.

The Tribe goes to Bradenton by bus and will return to St. Pete immediately after the ball game. Then the Yankees come to Waterfront Park tomorrow afternoon for the final game between the teams in the Sunshine city this season. Both the Yanks and the Braves start North Wednesday. The teams do not play a game in the exhibition games after tomorrow.

That 7-to-6 victory over the Yanks on Sunday gave the Braves their fifth win of the spring over the New York team. The Yankees conquered the Tribe three times. So our Braves are entitled to claim the St. Pete exhibition game crown.

Babe Ruth, who was topping the ball for a couple of weeks, has his eye on the pill now. Saturday he hit a homer. And in Sunday's clash, Ruth socked several which just went foul, but sailed far over the right field fence.

Ed Roush in Wrong With McGraw

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 24 (AP)—If John McGraw really meant what he said, Ed J. Roush, veteran outfielder, seems just about through as a member of the New York Giants. Roush, who has declined to accept a big cut in his salary, was given until Sunday to report, or suffer "the consequences."

Roush neither reported nor sent any word to McGraw. McGraw now may explain what he meant by his phrase, "suffer the consequences."

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 24 (AP)—The fate of the New York Yankees seems to lie in the hands of Dusty Cooke and Ben Chapman, two recruits from the St. Paul club of the American Association. Together they will patrol the left side of the Yankee defense, Cooke in left field and Chapman at third base. There have been whispers that neither will be in the regular lineup when the regular season starts, but Manager Bob Shawkey insists that both will start.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 24 (AP)—Wilbert Robinson's wildcat cage, only thing of its kind in the major leagues, is to see a lot of service this week.

For the benefit of the uninitiated the contrivance consists of a rope-meshed cage 100 feet long, 15 wide and 15 high. On one end is a back drop and a few feet in front a regulation home plate. Suspended on either side of the plate are two sand bags, the top of each being shoulder high and the bottom knee high.

At the other end of the cage is a pitching dais. Robbie makes the pitchers go through their full repertoire, trying to pitch each ball between the bags.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 24 (AP)—Exhibition games don't bring pennants, but Manager Joe McCarthy of the Chicago Cubs isn't exactly pleased at the way the Pacific Coast League clubs are hitting his pitching regulars.

Guy Bush is the latest victim. The "Mississippi Mudcat" was slaughtered for six runs and eight hits in four innings by Los Angeles.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 24 (AP)—Smead Jolley, the big base hit man who is expected to give the White Sox a long missing punch at the plate, already has started delivering.

He began the attack against the Giants and kept it rolling with a pair of doubles.

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 24 (AP)—Grover Alexander engaged by the Phillies as pitchers coach and relief hurler, declared today his arm was in great shape and that he was anxious to get into his regular turn this year," he said. "That means every fourth day. If I get too much rest I'm a poor pitcher. I'm in shape now and ready to go."

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 24 (AP)—Elongated Ted Gullic, Ozark mountaineer, still under a Western League contract, is due to affix his mark to a St. Louis Browns' document if he continues to shine as brilliantly as he has in the past few Coconut League contests.

BRADENTON, Fla., March 24 (AP)—Frankie Frisch, the Fordham flash, was scheduled to make his 1930 debut today at third base for the St. Louis Cardinals when they played the Boston Braves in a return engagement.

Good Golf

By CHESTER HORTON
GOLF'S GREATEST TEACHER

In the correctly made forward swing you swing the clubhead through on the ends of your arms—the clubhead swinging off your wrists entirely, not your wrists swinging the clubhead, that being another golfing fallacy—in such a manner that, if you let go of the club just after taking the ball the club should fly off to a point considerably to the right of your direction line. That's why a professional giving you a lesson will now and then tell you to "throw the clubhead away" out toward that apple tree over there," indicating a tree to the right of your direction line. In order to make good golf swings it is, as I have heretofore mentioned, desirable to see yourself making them, at least in your imagination, so glance at the sketch herewith and perhaps you can see exactly why you would swing your clubhead from the inside out, as the saying is. The circular path, indicating the oblique plane of the swing, would hardly admit of its being swung any other way.

Tufts Coach Has Infield Problem

The Tufts infield problem is one that must be solved by Ken Nash before the opening game with Northeastern which is only two weeks away. With Norm Ingalls, the heavy-hitting shortstop as the only veteran returning in the inner cordon, Nash has a serious task to fill the positions left vacant by the graduation of Leonardi, Fitzgerald and Phillips.

Despite the fact that a new infield must be built for the coming season the prospects of a smooth working set of fielders are unusually good. The material from last year's squad and the experienced candidates from the sophomore class look to have the ability to step into the vacancies without much trouble.

Third base will be the hardest to fill from present indications, but it only seems a question of the final choice from the several candidates who are making a bid for the hot corner.

Jack Marchand, a former yearling star, who was ineligible last year, will be one of the leading candidates as will Ossie Hornig up from the freshmen.

Hornig is a shortstop, but has had experience at the third sack. Ray Ockert, the slugging outfielder, and Parkhurst, a pitcher, both veterans, will be given a chance at the position as there is an abundance of first-class material in their regular positions, so that they can be shifted without weakening the garden

Maloney Pictures at Howard and Bowdoin

The fight pictures of the recent Maloney-Bouquillon contest held in Miami, Florida, were being shown all the week at the Howard and Bowdoin Square theaters. These are of real interest owing to the wonderful showing of the "Pride of Boston."

Johnson to Lead Dartmouth Ice Team

Henry L. Johnson, Jr., of Waban Mass., will captain the Dartmouth hockey squad next season. He was named by this year's lettermen. A defense mate to Captain Hal Boonse, the new captain was one of the Green's leading scorers

CAMPOLO AND RISKO MEET TONIGHT

NEW YORK, March 24 (AP)—Johnny Risko, the rubber man from Cleveland, gets another opportunity tonight to prove to the New York State Athletic Commission that he is not too small to beat Victori Campolo of the Argentine.

Risko battles Campolo in a ten-round feature of Madison Square Garden's charity show for the House of Calvary Cancer hospital. Not so long ago at Miami Risko spent an enjoyable evening cuffing Campolo about. Kid McPartland, the referee, called it a draw, but most sports editors credited Risko with winning eight of the ten rounds.

The Cleveland trial horse, who has beaten most of the first-rate heavyweights in his long ring career, rules a 6-to-5 favorite to whip Campolo tonight.

Happy Smith, Harlem Negro, meets Charley Belanger, Winnipeg light heavyweight, in the ten-round semi-final and Doc Conrad, Newark middleweight, takes on Vincent Forgione of Philadelphia in the first ten.

The Garden also will welcome the faithful on Friday when Jimmy McLarnin, Vancouver Irishman, battles Young Jack Thompson, Negro welterweight from San Francisco

Primo Carnera to Make a Picture

Kansas City, March 24 (AP)—Negotiations are under way, according to Leon See and William Duffy, managers of Primo Carnera, for a movie contract for the towering Italian prize fighter to play for three weeks the part of Hercules in a picture which would be Lo Chaney Carnera and his troupe are in Kansas City for a 10-round bout Wednesday night between Primo and George Trafton of Chicago.

H. J. Schiller, local representative of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Distributing Company, said last night that it was true that negotiations were being carried forward.

EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS

Hard Work for Sox

17 GAMES IN 17 DAYS ARE LISTED

By JOE CASHMAN

PENSACOLA, Fla., March 24—The exhibition game schedule of the Red Sox, which to date has been the softest of any big league club, will soon become the toughest.

Seven contests have been added to the list, so starting next Friday, the Fenway athletes will be called upon daily until the season opens which means 17 games in 17 days.

Joe Cashman

They will warm up for this grind by playing Pensacola here Wednesday and begin it with series with Louisville and Mobile.

The regulars will play the Colonels on the local park Friday, Saturday and Sunday while the rookies will break camp here Friday and travel to Mobile for games on Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

Sunday evening the regulars will pack up and start for Selma, Ala., where they have a game scheduled for Monday.

On the following day, the two groups will join again in Montgomery and play there.

Wednesday, April 2, will find them opening a three game series in Louisville. From there they will go to Indianapolis for three days and thence to Columbus for two days.

The Dodgers will be their opponents in Brooklyn on April 10 and 11 and the Braves their foes in Boston on Saturday and Sunday, April 12 and 13.

The next day they will play the first major league game of the season in Washington and jump back to Boston that night to open a series with the Senators, the following afternoon.

Team Will Be Busy Until Season Starts

So, the only rest they will enjoy from next Friday until well along in the season will be when the weather causes a postponement or cancellation of a game.

They haven't played as many tilts down here as they had planned because of the inclement weather, but they need do no fretting about that.

They will get all the preliminary work they need and a lot more, if they are able to play half of the exhibitions arranged.

Up to now, the Sox are undefeated, but they have faced only the weakest sort of opposition.

They will have to spruce up considerably, especially at the bat, if they hope to make a creditable showing against the Class AA, and major league enemies they will be encountering from here on.

96 TEAMS ENTER COURT TOURNEY

Entries received for the seventh annual amateur basketball tournament of the Boys' Club of Boston reached the mark of 96 teams enrolled and with the closing day for applications set for next Monday it is expected that the total number will be close to the record number of teams that participated last year.

The leading claimants for the championship in every division are entered and practically every quintet of amateur standing has sent or is planning to send its application. With teams from surrounding towns and cities competing the tournament should be an interesting affair from start to finish.

Applications must be made by writing, giving the name of team, the lineup and correct weight of players. There will be prizes of gold and silver miniature basketballs awarded to the winners and runners-up of their respective division, which are as follows: Pygmy 90 pounds and under; midget, 90 to 100 pounds; cub, 100 to 115 pounds; junior, 115 to 130 pounds; intermediate, 130 to 145 pounds, and senior unlimited as to weight but restricted to players under 21 years of age.

Somerville Boy on All-Marine Nine

Quantico, Va., March 24—A Greater Boston Marine, Clarence W. Johnson, is practising daily with the All-Marine baseball squad here in preparation for the season's campaign

The team is booked to play some of the leading colleges in the country, among them Harvard, Boston College, Holy Cross, Dartmouth and teams of similar calibre.

Johnson formerly lived with his mother, Mrs. James W. Johnson, 17 Howe st., Somerville

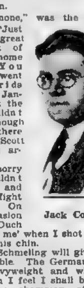
Jack Sharkey Glad to Be Home Again

JACK SHARKEY called Mr. Boston on the telephone.

"How's everybody in town?" queried the American heavyweight champion. "I'd rather be in Boston on a windy March day than basking in the sun at Miami Beach. Florida is a great place and all that, but there's no place like home."

"What are your plans?" asked Mr. Boston.

"Have none," was the quick reply. "Just getting a great kick out of being home again. You know, I went to Florida early in January. At the time it didn't look as though I'd fight there. Then the Scott bout was arranged.



Jack Conway

"I am sorry Scott wouldn't stand up and make a fight out of it. On one occasion he said, 'Ouch don't hurt me' when I shot a left hook for his chin.

"Guess Schmeling will give me more trouble. The German is a great heavyweight and when I defeat him I feel I shall be recognized as champion of the world.

"I have a date to play hearts with Johnny Buckley, Bobby Goldman, Tommy MacFarland, Eddie Devine and some of the other boys. Will see you at Mechanics Building on Thursday night. I want to take a peek at the Perlick twins.

"I wish you would permit me to tell the readers of your column that I'm mighty thankful for all the fine messages I received from Boston and New England fans before and after my fight with Scott. It was gratifying for me to know I had so many well wishers, and I thank each of them from the bottom of my heart."

Hip Punch Amusing to Jim Corbett

JIM CORBETT, former heavyweight champion of the world, got quite a laugh out of Phil Scott's claim that Jack Sharkey fouled him with a blow to the hip.

"When I was fighting, we often turned our side to a tough puncher and took a punch on the hip rather than in the body," said Corbett. "It is ridiculous for anybody to claim he could be injured by a punch to the hip. The one delivering a smash to the hip suffers more than the recipient of the wallop.

"Scott's alibi on his defeat at Miami was one of the funniest ever heard of during my ring experience.

"I notice that Billy Gibson says Dempsey hit Tunney several times on the hip during their bout in Chicago, but that Gene didn't complain. Of course he didn't. No first class fighter ever protested against such a punch."

"Tunney," chirped Mr. Boston "attended the Sharkey-Scott bout and branded the Brishish champion as a quitter after he went down for the final time."

Basketball Shooters to Have Their Innings

NATE HURWITZ, of the Boys Club of Boston, dropped in to see Mr. Boston.

"Our annual basketball tournament gets underway next Monday," said Nate, who is quite an athlete himself "A year ago we had 230 teams in competition. Look for as many teams to enter this year's tournament.

"There will be games in six divisions as follows: Under 90 pounds, 90 to 100 pounds, 100 to 115 pounds, 115 to 130 pounds, 130 to 145 pounds and for seniors with no weight limit, but under 21 years of age.

"I would like to have you drop over to see some of the games. The youngsters give more action than one gets at the pro sports."

Charley Mooney Wins From K. O. Sickness

"CHARLEY MOONEY, who played in the 'Old Eastern' in the days before the boys wore gloves, has just kayoed an attack of ulcers at the Baptist Hospital Annex, Roxbury. Charley has seen all of the old-time baseball players and boxers in action and is a walking record book when it comes to facts and figures. I'll be glad when the king of Magoon sq. is back on the job again."

TIGERS PLAY ARROWS ON THURSDAY

THE Boston Tigers will hold a short but intensive practice session at the Garden tomorrow morning in preparation for their first game in the playoff series with Philadelphia Thursday evening.

Manager Eddie Powers will lead his Can-Am champs into the Quaker City the night before the game so that the club will be well rested before the crucial series. The two teams will return here for the second and final game which is scheduled for the Garden Saturday night, unless the Maroons achieve the seemingly impossible by forcing the Bruins into five games.

Total goals will decide the two-game series between the Tigers and the Arrows and the winner will play the Providence Reds in a series for the best three games out of five to decide the league champion.

Despite the inability of the Tigers to score a win over Providence since Sprague Cleghorn took over the management of the Reds, the Boston entry has a fine chance to successfully defend the title which it won a year ago.

The fact that it led Providence until the final period in the last two games at the Garden shows that the Tigers are capable of at least holding their own with this year's winners, when playing their regular brand of hockey.

BRUINS HOME FOR 3RD GAME

up this series tomorrow night Naturally, after watching the Maroons' actions in Montreal, Ross predicts a wild third game. He has ordered that every defense man wear football helmets. The same dope was handed out before the Bruins left for Montreal, but Hitchman was the only player to wear a head guard.

All Bruin Players Badly Used Up

Although Hitchman and Shore received most of the bruises, every Bruin came out of the second game with his share of injuries. Harry Oliver is nursing a bad ankle, Perk Galbraith is bruised about the knees and elbows, Marty Barry, who by the way, was the hardest Bruin for the Maroons to stop, is sore from head to foot, Cooney Weiland has a bad back and Dutch Gainor is still suffering from an injured elbow.

In all the games that Cooney Weiland has played for Boston, he has never been bumped around or lopped as many times as he was on Saturday. Cooney is very smart and can usually avoid heavy body checks but the Maroons sandwiched and crossed checked him time and again, sprawling him all over the ice.

He is looked upon as the key to the Bruin attack and evidently a special guard was assigned to cover him. Cooney managed to break free a couple of times with Dit Clapper and two of the four goals resulted.

Barry and Thompson Starred in Second Win

A review of the Bruin-Maroon game would not be complete without mentioning Martin Barry's goal, which started the Boston team on its way to victory, and the goal tending of Tiny Thompson.

Marty carried the puck down center ice, and he was checked to the right of and about ten feet of the Maroon goal, by Dunc Munro and Red Dutton.

The puck went through the Montreal points and stopped about opposite the nets. Flat Walsh came out of his goal to clear, but Barry broke away from Munro and Dutton and beat Walsh to the puck. He hooked the rubber, spun around Walsh and darted for the Montreal unguarded net, scoring one of the cleverest goals of the season.

Tiny Thompson's prowess as a goalie is well known and fully appreciated by Bruin followers, but he has played such superb hockey this season that the tendency seems to have been to overlook him. Due to the wonderful success he has had this season Tiny was especially anxious to be at his best during the playoffs.

In any number of games on the regular schedule Tiny has withstood some of the hottest bombardments ever encountered by any goalie. But never has he been under such rapid fire as that which flew from the sticks of the Maroons.

To describe his work as sensational, is far too mild a term. Laxity on the part of the officials as regards interference with the goalie's vision put Thompson in many dangerous situations. He was at one time forced to make a save with no less than three Maroons behind him and the shooter, Jimmie Ward, who rifled a high corner shot, which Tiny saw just in the nick of time.

Stewart blocked Tiny's vision time and again and not once was he penalized.

At the Radio Dial

By THE RADIO EDITOR

ONE OF THE most active groups in the Massachusetts tercentenary movement is the radio committee. Under the chairmanship of Dean Gleason L. Archer of the Suffolk Law School a series of interesting talks has been arranged for practically all the local stations. Tonight Governor Frank G. Allen will speak over WEEI at 7 15. His topic is "John Winthrop, First Governor of Massachusetts"

Other speakers to be heard in the course of the week on Tercentenary topics are Forrest P. Hull, Boston newspaper writer, who speaks from WLEX Thursday at 8:15 p. m., ex-Mayor John F. Fitzgerald on WNAC Saturday at 7.30 p. m.; and in the following week Leverett Saltonstall, speaker of the House, over WBZ Tuesday, April 1, at 10:30. The last three named will speak on "Salem," "Boston" and "Watertown" respectively.

Gov. Allen

WELL REMEMBERED

Old Friend Eddie Dunham, identified with radio since the first days of Medford Hillside experimenting, is featured tonight in Personalities at 711" over WJZ and KDKA at 7 15. He is a regular performer in "Sunday at Seth Parker's" and the Enna Jettick Melodies programs as organist, accompanist and actor.

VELLY GOOD LADIO

TINKLING tunes suggestive of the Celestial Kingdom, which is now in the throes of uncelestial warfare, prevail through the program of the Whittall Anglo-Persians on the Red Network at 10 o'clock. By merest chance, a tune from the "Mikado" finds a place in this "all-Chinese" program. Perhaps of all the delightful bits on the list this one has the greatest authenticity. Like Puccini, with his "Mme Butterfly," Sullivan used veritable Japanese tunes as the basis for his operetta score.

MEMORIES of that titanic interpreter of song, Chaliapin, were evoked by mighty-voiced Lawrence Tibbett when he sang that grotesque ballad of the Flea who was the favored guest of the King. Chaliapin, singing Moussorgsky's song in Russian, relied upon facile expressions and nimble grimacing to thrust home the broad points of the musical legend. Last night's invisible singer had the advantage of a familiar language to offset the restrictions which radio imposes upon pantomime.

Almost forgotten ballads find new life from week to week in the admirable Davey broadcasts. Yesterday's brought two old-timers in the plaintive "Red Wing" and "My Rainbow." Nineteenth century sentimentality over the Indian maid of romance seems to have passed away. Perhaps the prevalence of such lyrics in the late 80's and 90's was largely to be traced to Longfellow's "Hiawatha." Earlier Indian ballads, notably those preserved in the Tennessee and Virginia mountains, were based on traditional old English folk tunes imported by the earliest settlers. The Indian themes sung by cowboys are another thing again. It is only in recent years that composers have attempted to incorporate authentic Indian musical phrasing in their songs.

DRYS CAN WIN: WICKERSHAM

Washington, March 24 (AP)—Chairman Wickersham of the Hoover law enforcement commission believes the prohibition law "can be measurably enforced, although human appetite is widespread."

This prediction by Wickersham was given the Senate judiciary committee when he appeared before them in executive session. Testimony at that hearing was made public only today.

Wickersham said a fair test would have to await an opportunity for enforcement under the Justice Department as proposed in legislation now before Congress.

"Until that is done," he asserted, "no one can say absolutely whether the law can be or cannot be enforced.

"I think it can be measurably enforced, although human appetite is widespread. We all know the history of efforts to enforce regulation of the use of liquor which resulted finally in prohibition. It is a long and somewhat disheartening history."

Modification of the Jones act is favored by Chairman Wickersham, who is of the opinion that effective law enforcement is never accomplished by placing extreme penalties on minor violators.

Wickersham told the committee the act covered offenses "indiscriminately under the classification of felonies with the exception of possession and maintaining a nuisance." He said that was contrary to what he regarded as "sound legislative policy."

First K. of C. Debate in Brookline Tonight

DEAD ENGINEER AT THROTTLE

Kansas City, March 23 (AP)—Passenger train number three of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railroad thundered southward toward Excelsior Springs with a dead engineer at the throttle and only the quick action of the locomotive's fireman in stopping the train averted a collision with a freight train.

The train, from Ottuma, Ia., was due at Excelsior Springs at 4.51 o'clock, a freight train, running ahead of the passenger, was scheduled to take the siding to clear the main line for the faster train. Eight miles east of Excelsior Springs, Fireman Milburn was surprised to see the freight train rounding a curve ahead and not yet completely on a side track.

When the passenger train did not slacken speed, Milburn shouted across the cab, and then was startled to see Engineer G. F. Robinson slumped in his seat. Milburn closed the throttle and applied the air brakes.

Launch New War on Russian K'ulaks

Moscow, March 24 (AP)—Unrelenting war upon kulaks (rich peasants) and "right wing opportunists" of the Communist party, was declared anew today by Pravda and Izvestia, official mouthpieces of the Communist party and the government. This came as a surprise to those kulaks and opposition members of the party who saw in the Government's recent modification of its rural policies signs of retreat from the previous uncompromising attitude toward the kulak.

Dixie Bike Girl Weds Into Society

New York, March 24 (AP)—Miss Dixie, vaudeville bicycle rider, is sure her marriage will last. Carlene Ora Dickinson is the bride of Robert De Coppet, whose family is socially prominent. Mrs. De Coppet has extended congratulations.

Other members of the committee are E. J. Frost of William Filene's Sons Co., John R. Macomber of Harris Forbes, St. John Morgan of State St. Trust Co., Maurice Wrigley of Jordan Marsh Co. and Lee Nowell of Lee, Higginson & Co.

Stables of Boston Man Are Burned

Center Harbor, N. H., March 24 (AP)—Loss estimated by firemen at $20,000 was caused today by a fire which swept the stables in this town of John Edwards of Boston. The blaze threatened to spread to the Edwards home and the adjoining residences of James Garland, but the fire forces of this town, Moultonboro, Meredith and the private department from the estate of Ernest E. Dane of Brookline, Mass., confined the flames to the stables. Ten horses, a cow and a calf were saved.

Daring Story of Eternal Love Triangle

Ardeth Carroll, beauty, lives in the drab home of her Aunt Stella. Neil Burke, downstairs, claims Ardeth as his. She is uncertain. She yearns for a fuller life. Ardeth sees the man of her dreams, Ken Gleason. Neil is furiously jealous. Jeanette Parker, society girl, plans to use Ardeth in a scheme for revenge. She opens a shop and engages Ardeth to run it. Ardeth sees that she can never marry Neil. Ken comes to the shop and meets Ardeth. Both are secretly impressed. Sunday they spend on Ken's houseboat. Their first kiss. Then Ardeth becomes jealous of Cecilie, Jeanett's sister.

CHAPTER 15

WHERE this blind love for Ken was, leading her, Ardeth did not stop to consider. Later, when she looked back upon this time in memory, it seemed impossible that she could have been so indifferent to the future.

She was in a trance of happiness. Nothing was very real these days, save Ken. She went about in a dream which took no note of the things which had once grated on her. Aunt Stel's nagging — Bet's petty spite — these held no weight. Even Neil had become one of the shadowy people melting into her background when she was not with Ken.

Afterwards, Ardeth wondered if it was not some instinctive fear of the future which kept her thoughts from crystaling into practical plans — some subtle sense of trouble which makes the dreamer persist in the dream because waking means facing unpleasant reality.

Jeanette's little shop was doubly dear to Ardeth at this time — not only as an escape from the shabby Harrison flat, but because it provided a meeting place for Ken and herself.

Rarely a day when Ken did not drop in on his Jeanette observed to herself with a narrow secretive smile. The smokerie gave them ample excuse.

Jeanette's scheme to turn the backroom into a woman's smoking retreat was proving a bonanza.

Always some one dropping into the shop, now for a cup of tea or a cigarette, or for that other excellent reason—merely to see who else was there.

Ardeth grew to know by sight women who had been only names to her in the society section of the Sunday papers. Young matrons and the more sophisticated of the debutantes, for the most part, with always a piquant peppering of men.

From the middle of the forenoon to the closing hour they sauntered in for free tea and expensive cigarettes. The backroom breathed always of incense and the expensive perfumes, and tinkled with teacups and laughter. It took on the nature of a smart club.

Jeanette, beginning to be bored by the game of tending shop, found new interest in playing hostess. She was generally in the smokerie these days, chatting over the latest bit of gossip or subtly engineering the sale of her latest perfume or powder compact—cigarette case or holder; leaving the care of the outer shop to Ardeth.

A changing show, passing under the eyes of the slender, golden-haired girl watching from behind the glass case. She came to know their individualities . . . Tow-headed Phyllis Hawkins, lisping sophistries with a baby mouth. The vacant-faced Duvant twins, the one who giggled and the one who drawled, "Not ree-ally!" Tall, dark Mary Eastwood whom she liked for a sort of boyish frankness, in her manner.

And there was Cyril Underhill!...

A dark, silky sort of person was Cyril. His features were Eurasian, something of the cunning of the Orient, too, in his long black eyes One felt instinctively that he had no right to his English name.

Something of feline grace about his tall, slim figure which fascinated most women and caused most men to long to punch him.

"He makes me think of secret stairways and daggers and poisoned cups," said Ardeth to Jeanette on the occasion of his first visit to the store.

Jeanette shrugged and laughed. "Oh—Cyril!" No one really takes him seriously—but he keeps them entertained." As though in vindication a burst of laughter came from the back room, trailing the Duvant twin's deliciously shocked "Not ree-ally!" on it. wake.

Cyril Underhill always knew the details of the latest scandal. Standing with one slender white hand trailing over the corner of a Corsmandel screen, his heavy lidded eyes looking about at his appreciative feminine audience, he had a way of tossing out pungent footnotes with a bold lightness which robbed them of maliciousness until one came to think them over later.

Even Mary Eastwood laughed at his outrageous wit, dismissing the

Brighton Garage Permit Fought

JANITOR OF ONE DAY IS UNDER FIRE

Opposition Shows Up in Force Before Street Commissioners

Leo N. Harlow, counsel for 30 remonstrants, cross - examined Sweetser. B. Loring Young appeared for Robert R. Parks of Pitchburg, one of the largest property owners in the district.

SEE HOPE FOR DR. STURGIS

With his hiccoughs checked somewhat, Dr. Walter H. Sturgis of Hull, under of the Sturgis Hospital, fell into a sleep today, with his attending physicians greatly encouraged.

The doctor, one of the most prominent on the south shore, became ill a week ago with a heart ailment, aggravated by hiccoughs. Since that time Hull firemen, working in relays, have worked almost constantly on him, administering oxygen with the fire department inhalator in an attempt to relieve the hiccoughs and to keep him alive.

So critical has been his condition that it has been impossible to move him the short distance to his hospital from the home of a friend, Frank T. Richardson, in Main st., where Dr. Sturgis became ill.

His night nurse said today that Dr. Sturgis passed a "fairly comfortable" night and felt into a deep sleep at 8 a. m.

The Corbosiero family were visiting friends at Clinton when the fire broke out.

CARDINAL HITS SOVIET, RICHES AND ATHEISM

State Churches Crumble With States, He Says; Peace Only in God

The war on religion in Russia, Asiatic throughout the world and the unhappiness and loss of faith which attend riches and greed, were denounced by his Eminence William Cardinal O'Connell, in a sermon to 1500 men who had completed a week's mission at the Cathedral of the Holy Cross.

The Cardinal pontificated at solemn vespers, which closed the session.

Addressing the congregation following vespers the Cardinal said in part:

STATE CHURCHES

"In nearly all of these countries, where terrible troubles take place, there have been two causes—first the neglect of their duty to think of the poor, the struggling peasant, the worker of the factory, the proletariat, in other words; second, tying up religion as a State church in such a way that it is only another form of civil government.

When one does down, the other goes down immediately.

"Here is the principal reason for the upheaval we are now witnessing in Russia and other countries where similar conditions exist.

Again and again the Catholic church has warned against such conditions as these.

"Atheists, call religion the opiate of the people, that by religion they are put to sleep so that the rich can have their way. You know that is false.

"In Russia they are groping around in the dark to find their happiness which they never will find. The have overthrown the monarchy, the Czar, hoping to find liberty, but they found only more and grosser slavery and masters who are heartless.

"That is what men get if they throw over their faith. They are unwilling to bow their heads to the law of God but they have to bow their heads to laws made by most brutal men.

PEACE FROM GOD

"Unfortunately faith, though the greatest gift of God to man, can be lost. Faith is that wonderful grace of God by which you see even during this mortal life, the face of Our Father in Heaven.

"By the grace of faith, we realize we are living in this life for only a brief time, but that beyond life is eternity, and that this life at best is only a period of trial.

"The world is constantly looking for peace and rest. In this modern world everybody is complaining of the rush of events which leaves them no time to think but passes so quickly it is over before one knows it.

"There is little peace, and no rest except it comes from God, and the only hope of peace and rest is through religion.

"No matter how wealthy a man may be he is not happy unless he has peace for conscience. Those who seem as though they ought to be happy are some of the most miserable of men.

"Those who live humble lives, going from day to day to their labor are the ones really to be envied, if in that contentment there is religion to give it solace.

"The drudgery of slavery is nothing compared to the condition of those men who have thrown over their faith like so many beasts in their grovelling passion and selfish desires

"We are living in an age of the greatest faith and the greatest infidelity. Demonstrations like this are a proof of your living faith, but look out all over the world and see how men are throwing aside the most precious gift God has given them."

BRITISH TAX UPON IRELAND BITTERLY SCORED BY DE VALERA

$26,000,000 ANNUALLY, HE SAYS

Represents 24 Cents Out of Every Dollar of Erin's Revenue, Figures Show

Eamon De Valera leaves Boston today, following a mass meeting, Sunday, in Symphony Hall, where he declared his one aim was to blot out forever British power in Ireland.

Approximately 2500 advocates of an independent government for Erine attended the meeting, held in conjunction with a campaign to raise funds for the establishment of an Irish daily newspaper.

De Valera branded as false the statement that there had been any disagreement between himself and Mayor Curley at their meeting on Saturday. The mayor was not present, but his representative asserted that the mayor is in favor of a republic and free edom for all Ireland.

The alleged disagreement was characterized as "nothing but a conversation between two men about economic conditions abroad."

In attacking the Irish Free State the former president of the Irish republic said:

"We have a very definite destructive aim and that is to destroy British power in Ireland. And I would rather be instrumental in destroying British power in Ireland than in any constructive act that I can think of.

"Those who are building in Ireland on the foundations of an Irish Free State, are building on sand. We want to build on a firm foundation. In trying to destroy British power we are really building on the Irish people."

De Valera stated that the need of an Irish newspaper in Ireland run by Irishmen is imperative. He says that the present press does not properly reflect the opinions of the vast majority and in fact is distinctly pro-British.

Deploring the Free State as something which no real patriot would accept, he said:

"We will regard nothing as good enough for our nation which a German, a Frenchman or an American would not regard as good enough for him."

He said that Ireland pays an annual levy of $26,000,000 to England, representing 24 cents out of every dollar of revenue of the Free State government. This represents a greater average than the German reparations settlement under the Young plan which requires Germany to pay 21 cents out of every dollar of revenue.

During the meeting several thousand dollars in cash and pledges was raised to swell the newspaper fund, which has reached $140,000 in the United States and $500,000 in Ireland.

Darrow to Speak

Clarence Darrow, noted criminal lawyer, will address members of the Boston City Club tonight at 8 o'clock on "Crime, Its Cause and Treatment," William G. Crawford, president of the club, will preside.

A day that might have meant so much—and she has to be excused. What a pity there's a woman left who does not know of Midol! One or two tablets in time, and not a twinge of pain throughout the periodic process. Or an end to such suffering at any time, five to seven minutes after Midol is taken. Yet this merciful medicine is non-narcotic. Its wonderful results are due to the fact it acts directly on the organs affected; so it's utterly harmless, and it is only common sense to use it. Midol comes in a clever little case of metal you can slip in the smallest purse. And the cost of this comfort is fifty cents.*

* Midol's comfort is not confined to any certain days or age. It relieves at any time of life. Its ease is felt immediately in cases of nervous headache, backache, cramping, hot flashes and all febrile pain peculiar to women.

UNPAID SCHOOLHOUSE COMMISSION BILLS ARE HELD UP BY CURLEY

LEGALITY IS QUESTIONED BY MAYOR

Asks Counsel for a Ruling on $73,000 Deficit Left by Defunct Board

None of the unpaid bills constituting the $73,000 deficit left by the defunct Schoolhouse Commission will be approved for payment by the Mayor until he is advised by the city law department that they may be legally paid.

This was the announcement made by Mayor Curley today in a letter to Frank A. Goodwin, chairman of the Boston Finance Commission, who last week notified the present Commission on School Buildings that payment in his opinion was illegal, although the approval of the School Committee had been given.

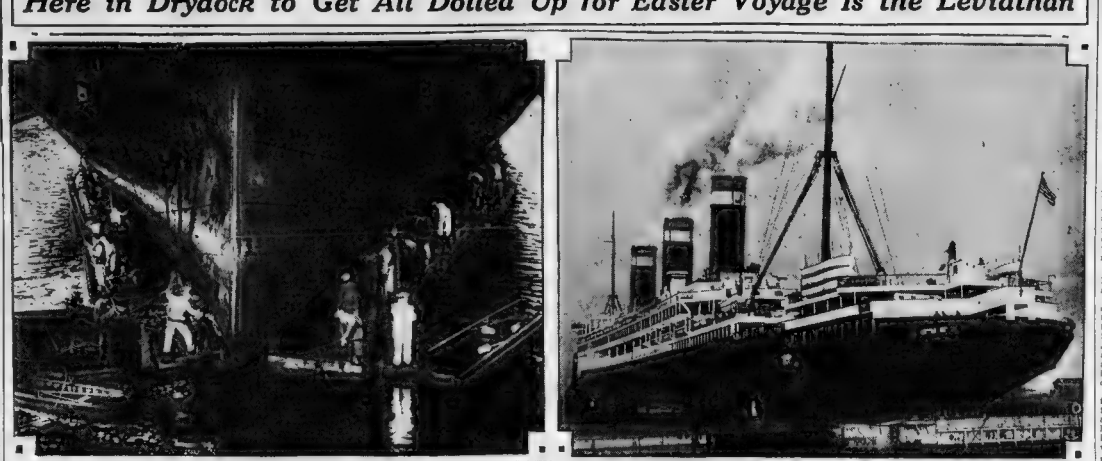
"It may be that the former schoolhouse commissioners, finding they had exceeded their appropriations, stamped these bills as emergencies when as a matter of fact, they may not have been," wrote the Mayor to Goodwin.

"I have read the communication of the Finance Commission to Louis K. Rourke, superintendent of construction of the School Buildings Department, concerning the liabilities incurred last year by the former commission, totaling approximately $70,000 in excess of the available appropriation for this purpose.

"As a result, I have this day requested the corporation counsel to advise me as to the legality of such payments. I have further advised the city auditor to refrain from paying any of these liabilities until such time as the corporation counsel advises me that these bills may be legally paid.

"As I understand the law? any expenditures beyond the appropriation must be in the nature of emergencies as prescribed by our city charter. Such part of these liabilities as may be determined not to be emergencies I cannot sign and will not, be paid by the City of Boston unless legislation is obtained authorizing their payment."

Here in Drydock to Get All Dolled Up for Easter Voyage Is the Leviathan



The Shipping Board's pride, Leviathan, was hardly in dry dock at South Boston today before workmen were busy scraping her bottom as the preliminary work of dollying her up for the coming tourist season. (Staff photos.)

The Leviathan, filling the dry dock at South Boston and shutting off nearly a quarter-mile of that section's skyline. As usual the big liner was docked with a skill that left her scratchless.

GOODWIN SENDS CHALLENGE TO N. H. OFFICIAL

Offers to Debate With Insurance Commissioner on Bay State's Proposed Law

Attacking the stand of Insurance Commissioner John E. Sullivan of New Hampshire against the proposed state insurance fund in Massachusetts, Frank A. Goodwin, former motor vehicle registrar, charged today that Sullivan "might well be a better insurance commissioner for the companies."

In a letter to editors of New Hampshire newspapers, Goodwin said:

"On two occasions now the insurance interests of Boston—and they are, of course, the insurance interests of New Hampshire—have imported Insurance Commissioner John F. Sullivan into Massachusetts to advocate measures favorable to them and against the best interests of the people of Massachusetts.

"Last year Sullivan appeared before a legislative committee in favor of repealing the compulsory act and substituting the New Hampshire financial responsibility law on the ground that your law was a great safety measure.

MANY MORE CASUALTIES

"All you have to do is to look at your record since the law has been in effect and you will find a tremendous increase in accidents.

"Last night Sullivan was again imported into this state to attack the State Fund bill which is designed to relieve the people of Massachusetts from the avarice and greed of the insurance companies.

"Now that the insurance companies have sought outside aid—and they need it—I desire to suggest to the people of New Hampshire that I shall be pleased to accept the invitation of any civic body in order that I may be able to let the people of New Hampshire know what the insurance companies are doing to them and to offer a remedy, and explain the manner by which we are now going to put on the statute books of Massachusetts.

CHALLENGE TO DEBATE.

"I hope Mr. Sullivan will be present and I shall submit to questions from him or debate with him on any of the statements I make.

"Speaking of insurance commissioners, we have had some in Massachusetts who were errand boys for insurance companies, but when they got through being insurance commissioners they got a splendid salary working for insurance companies. I do not know Mr. Sullivan, but I would seem to me that a man who is so close to the insurance interests as he might well be a better insurance commissioner for the companies than for the people of New Hampshire."

WORK BEGUN ON LEVIATHAN

More than 300 scrapers, painters and other workmen began work on the U. S. liner Leviathan today just after she settled into South Boston dry-dock for semi-annual overhauling.

Inside the vessel several changes are being made, including the installation of sound movies and the decorating of the Club Leviathan, the last word in night clubs.

The entire second-class section is being reconditioned prior to its assignment as tourist quarters.

The big job will be the removal of the heavy rudder for renewal of the pintle and bushings. The work will require two weeks, but no public inspection will be permitted owing to the work that is to be done inside the ship.

Pied Piper Is Needed to Rid Dispensary of Rodent Army

A Pied Piper is urgently needed by the Boston Dispensary, the director, Frank E. Wing, revealed today.

"We are spending more than $1000 a year fighting rats with chemicals, but they come on continually," he said. "They are much larger than the ordinary kind but still they seem to get through almost any opening.

"They are very crafty and ordinary traps do not seem to lure them. The destruction is terrific. This part of Boston (Bennet st., South End) is made ground and that may account for them."

With erection of the New England Medical Center, of which the Boston Dispensary will be a part, the present structure will be remodeled and thus eliminate the pests, Wing believes.

THIEF INVADES FIRE HOUSES

A candidate for the title of meanest thief has been produced by Boston firemen in the culprit who rifled firemen's lockers in the houses of Engine 13 at 201 Cabot st., Roxbury, and Engine 21 at 641 Columbia rd.

The fire fighters of those stations were routed out of bed in the wee hours to battle blazes in nearby districts.

Returning, they discovered a thief had smashed four lockers and stolen all the money and jewelry they contained

The owner of a Chinese restaurant was badly cut about the hands, some twenty-five Chinese were driven from their lodging houses, as a result of a fire in a Chinese restaurant in the one-story brick building at 34 Oxford st., at the junction of Beach st., in the heart of Chinatown, early today.

Yee Hang Foo, 35, proprietor of the restaurant which was afire, and who lives in Oxford st., had both hands badly cut when he broke the window of the front door of his restaurant while trying to gain entrance

The fire started when woodwork in the rear of the restaurant became overheated by a gas jet which was burning. The fire had an excellent start when the firemen arrived. Loss was placed at $2000.

Harvard Students Refuse to Drink at Gun-Point

Maybe you can force Harvard students to buy liquor at the point of a pistol, but you can't force them to drink.

This paraphrase of the old wheeze about a donkey's drinking was current today on Harvard campus as students commented on the report of a "racket" of two bootleggers who got liquor orders by means of the display of weapons.

The "racket" was said to have come to light when two students blocked the business by displaying a couple of big revolvers when the bootleggers started their threats.

Those who were forced to buy the liquor are reported to have declined to drink it on the theory that the stuff was probably "prohibition."

VISIT BY GLIDER FLIER URGED

The possibility of Capt. Frank M. Hawks terminating his coast-to-coast glider flight in Boston loomed today when Theodore G. The Texas Company, sponsors of the flight, have also been communicated with Hawks will take off from Lind bergh Field, San Diego, March 31 in a cabin-type glider, towed by a Waco biplane piloted by J. D "Duke" Jernigin, Jr., on the first flight of its kind across the continent. The trip will be made in eight days, covering 2800 miles and making eight overnight stops.

Meat Cutter Held for Slashing Man

Professional jealousy between two meat cutters resulted in Rudolph Parkey, 35, of Douglas st., South Boston, being taken to Haymarket Relief Hospital today suffering from head wounds.

Ernesto Santana, 35 of Dorchester ave., is under arrest at Hanover street station charged with assault on Parkey with a sharp instrument. According to police, the two men, employed in a North End factory, became involved in an argument over their respective abilities and Santasia settled the controversy by attacking Parkey.

Drug Victims Spend Legacy on Morphine

A legacy of $1500 nearly all spent in six months—most of it for drugs. That was the story of enslavement to the habit told today in municipal court by Mrs. Edith Miner, 55, who received the legacy, and her husband, Charles.

On condition that they leave the State immediately and take a cure, Judge Parmenter suspended sentences of six months which he gave to each of them.

They were arrested by Special Officers Monahan and Laidlaw of the narcotics squad in a house in Columbus sq., and search of their apartment, according to police, revealed 15 grains of morphine. They were charged with possessing drugs.

Sawyer Pleads for a Jobless Inquiry

Declaring a man out of a job was one of the greatest of industrial tragedies, Representative Roland D. Sawyer of Ware today wizorously supported a resolve for an investigation of unemployment. He spoke at a hearing before the joint rules committee.

He declared reports of labor unions show an average of 7½ per cent of unemployment among members in the years 1908 to 1922, and an average from 1922 to 1927 as 16 per cent.

Old Boston in Pictures—No. 214

Massachusetts Tercentenary, 1930

THIS is the old Pine St. Church, built in the earlier part of the last century. When it was erected there were some who predicted that it was so far to the south that it would get no congregation. It had no congregation in the eighties because most of its parishioners had gone even farther to the South End. Then it became a skating rink and for a time a variety show house. Later the Salvation Army used it as headquarters. Now it is a business block, with stores, offices and factories. Myer Goldman, in his younger days the "Beau Brummel" of the North End, is the best known of the occupants.

EARLY TRIP FOR HERO'S MOTHER

Through a sort of special dispensation, because of the precarious condition of her health, Mrs Lottie Cummings, a Gold Star Mother, of 145 State rd., Beachmonth probably will be able to steam away with the first detachment of mothers in May to visit the grave of her boy, Pte. Dougias Earl Cummings, a member of Co. B, 165th Infantry, who was killed in action Sept. 19th, 1918, and is buried in the St. Mihiel cemetery in France.

Otherwise Mrs. Cummings might have had to await the turn of the group of 486 Massachusetts Gold Star Mothers, and that might have resulted in her not getting overseas until 1933.

Invitations to participate will be sent out to the various State groups in the order established by the drawing of lots. Nebraska was the first State thus drawn, Rhode Island was the 14th and Massachusetts the 23d.

COMET VISIBLE IN BOSTON

The new comet discovered by Prof. Wilke of Cracow, Poland, last Friday is visible in Boston to the naked eye between 7 and 8 p. m. in the western sky, according to Harvard astronomers today

This is the second important astronomical discovery in less than two weeks, the first being that of a new trans-Neptunian planet by the Lowell observatory in Arizona

According to Leon Campbell of Harvard observatory, the new comet lies just below the constellation of Aries and is moving northward towards Cassiopeia.

"The tail of the comet," he said, "is longer than the diameter of the moon

"We have made only two observations and we must make a third before we can determine its orbit."

FULLER STILL IN SENATE RACE

Former Governor Fuller has every intention of seeking the Republican nomination for United States Senator and will make formal announcement of his candidacy "in due time."

He said that his recent silence has in no way affected my views with reference to running for the United States Senate to succeed Frederick H. Gillett."

"Why the silence, then?" he was asked

"Well," replied Mr. Fuller, "there doesn't seem to be anything in particular I should have to say, except to make formal announcement of my candidacy for the Senate."

"When can that be looked for?"

"That will come in due time."

"Then it is safe to assume that you will be a candidate to succeed Mr. Gillett?"

"Yes."

B. U Professors to Confer on Biology

Six Boston University professors from the school of medicine leave today for Chicago, where they will be speakers at the annual conference of "The Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology."

Sleep Walker Dies of Gash From Pane

Sleep walking early today cost the life of Ralph Myers, 18, of Gilbert st., Malden. Asleep, he thrust his arm through a window and bled to death with a severed artery.

Hearing groans, his mother, Mrs. Thomas Anderson, investigated. She found her son unconscious in a pool of blood Dr. D. T. Driscoll rushed the boy to Malden Hospital, where he died within a few minutes.

Restless Children

Children will fret, often for no apparent reason. But there's always one sure way to comfort a restless, fretful child. Castoria! Harmless as the recipe on the wrapper; mild and bland as it tastes. But its gentle action soothes a youngster more surely than some powerful medicine that is meant for the stronger systems of adults.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given the tiniest infant—as often as there is any need. In cases of colic, diarrhea, or similar disturbance, it is invaluable. But it has everyday uses all mothers should understand. A coated tongue calls for a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset—this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed to set everything right. Genuine Castoria has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Doctors prescribe it.

By HARLEIGH SCHULTZ

LIKE some millions of others, we read Arnold Zweig's book with interest. When we learned later that it was to be done into a film, we wondered. The novel had so little to offer. But when we found that Herbert Brenon was to direct, we did feel that the best possible picture would be made. "The Case of Sergeant Grischa" now is to be seen and heard at the New B. F. Keith's and each and all can form judgment.

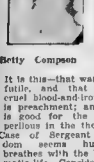
OUR opinion is that the effort was wasted—that the woes of the Russian prisoner of war are better off on the printed page than before us on the screen. In a way Mr. Brenon's work may be regarded as laudable effort in the right direction. He takes his materials and applies his skill. His theme is something assigned; he cannot get away from it.



Betty Compson

It is this—that war is brutal and futile, and that militarism is cruel blood-and-iron stuff. This is preachment; and preachment is good for the rostrum, but perilous in the theater. So "The Case of Sergeant Grischa" seldom seems human, rarely breathes with the breath of dramatic life. Considered as a stark portrayal of a man's miseries, the photoplay has a certain interest.

MR. BRENON fails strikingly in one particular, a surprise unless we believe he has deliberately avoided applying his imaginative faculty. The incidents, all superbly photographed, pass before us, clear as crystal they are, and yet somehow as cold as ice. There are numerous weaknesses. We will not rehearse the tale; the book is too widely read to render that necessary. Betty Compson and Chester Morris talk out as we Americans do. Gustav von Seyffertitz, the best actor in the picture, and Jean Hersholt, also sterling, use magnificent guttirals effectively.

MISS COMPSON is mighty pleasing to see, but is never in character Mr. Morris does infinitely better, at times puts across the idea of the ignorant prisoner, helpless pawn in fate's hands; but at times unconvincing. Director Brenon's greatest touch comes when he used the black screen as Grischa, blindfolded, faces the firing squad. One of the director's sins is that he has not explained to us why Grischa is doomed to die. The reason really is that the man he impersonates is a deserter, condemned under an espionage order.

THE best that can be said of the usually able Herbert Brenon's direction is that he has been fairly faithful to the text, and contributed some fine technical touches. But of "The Case of Sergeant Grischa," as photodrama, perhaps the least said the better. Probably Mr. Brenon has done his best with what he had. Not having much, he naturally couldn't achieve a masterpiece.

"Honey"

NANCY CARROLL

SHE'S A HONEY and there is no mistake about it. More than ever Nancy enthralls her fans in "Honey," now on the Metropolitan screen.

SCOLLAY BILL IS CRAMMED WITH PEP

REALISTIC characterizations and thrilling moments abound in "Mexicali Rose," all-talking drama of life on the Mexican border which is now making its first Boston showing at the Scollay Square Olympia. The plot is built around "Happy" Manning, owner of a gambling hell. He leads a double life. Happy's" affections are divided between two persons—his younger brother, Bob, and his sweetheart, "Mexicali Rose." Bob knows nothing of the existence of Rose, but Rose knows all about Bob and Happy's devotion to him.

Barbara Stanwyck, as the vividly fascinating but heartless coquette Rose, plays her part with appreciation of its dramatic possibilities. Noteworthy is Sam Hardy's portrayal of the gambler.

Heading the vaudeville program are Odiva and her Seals. In a huge glass tank she gives an exhibition of fancy diving feats of grace, agility and endurance. Her dives are executed with a grace and a beauty of motion that is delightful; her swimming feats a revelation. She is assisted by a school of trained sea lions in a variety of amusing and astonishing feats.

Dotson, the fast and furious colored stepper, gives many impressions, one of which is impersonating the famous Bill Robinson. Walter Walters & Co., ventriloquists, present a comedy sketch entitled "The Baby's Cry." Spence & True offer a comedy skit, "A Dozen Minutes of Mirth, Melody and Motion," which also includes singing and dancing. Melody Mansion, one of George Libby's famous dancing acts, closes the bill with a special arrangement of songs, dances and musical numbers.

"SWELLHEAD" GETS BOXER IN TROUBLE

THE combination of the talents of James Gleason and Johnny Walker, two excellent screen comedians, makes "Swellheads," Tiffany picture now at the Modern, Beacon and Egyptian, mighty amusing film fare. There is plenty of opportunity to laugh, and moreover there is an interesting story unfolded on screen.

Johnny Walker is the fighter with the swelled head. Bill "Cyclone" Hickey, according to the story, is a preliminary fighter who cherishes the hope of one day being a champ. In spite of the fact that he has never fought a really good fight, he thinks he's great and he always has an alibi for his failures that satisfies himself.

Mamie, his sweetheart, played by Marion Shilling, and Johnny Trump, portrayed by Gleason, have faith in him. Johnny has a burning yen to develop and manage the lad, but he hasn't any money. Neither has Bill. Then Mamie wins some when Johnny places a bet for her and she makes Johnny take it to get Bill started. How Bill becomes a great fighter under Johnny's management and then gets the swelled head over his success and the adulation of society and finds that old friends are best and success is kept only as it is earned—with hard work, is told in "Swellhead."

The associate picture is "High Treason," an unusual photoplay, as the action takes place during the year 1940. A syndicate of international financiers are deliberately agitating war for profit. Airplanes, Zeppelins, and other war devices of the air are much in evidence

INA CLAIRE AND PATHE PART COMPANY AFTER SPAT OVER STORIES

BROADWAY IS BECKONING STAGE COMEDIENNE

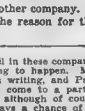
By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture Editor of Universal Service
Copyright, 1930, by Universal Service, Inc.

Los Angeles, March 24

INA CLAIRE will make no more pictures for Pathe. She and E. B. Derr, general manager of the Pathe Culver City studios, reached that agreement last week. In other words, Pathe bought out the lady's contract, giving her freedom to return to the stage or make pictures for some other company. A difference in opinion in stories is given as the reason for this break.

Ina had ideas about "Holiday" and so had Pathe. On other stories she also had ideas with the result that at a meeting at Pathe it was decided it would be advantageous to both sides to call it a day.

Miss Claire, or rather as we call her Mrs. Gilbert, has the experience all ready and waiting for her on Broadway. She is one of the most popular stage actresses and comediennes she has probably had fewer failures on Broadway than any other stage comedienne.



Louella O. Parsons

She is in rather a difficult position because if she goes on the stage she has to leave her husband and, it is said she really likes her Hollywood and Jack Gilbert.

HEIGH Ho, Ho, and a Bottle of Rum—That highly amusing play, "Captain Applejack," is returning to us with Frank Fay as the pirate. What memories that play brings back, with Wallace Eddinger in the role that Fay will have, and Mary Nash, gorgeous in her brilliant costumes, playing opposite him. Michael Curtiz will direct Fay again. Those two seem to be a combination. This will be their third talkie together. "Captain Applejack" was made about seven years ago, with Matt Moore as the pirate. Matt was good, but the play, which is very dependent upon its smart dialogue, fell flat as a silent movie. But watch for smoke now, with lines and everything. Oh, yes, I nearly forgot to mention that Darryl Zanuck has made the arrangements to produce "Captain Applejack" for Warner Brothers.

ZOE KNEW HER PLAYS

I SURELY thought Zoe Akin and Paramount would tie up for life after her brilliant work on "Sarah and Son." But you never can tell in these companies what is going to happen. Miss Akin at this writing, and Paramount, have come to a parting of the ways although of course, there is always a chance of reconciliation. The story of "Sarah and Son" is interesting. Miss Akin was the only one who had faith in the story. She wanted it for Ruth Chatterton and even Ruth couldn't see it. Miss Akin wrote the adaptation with the knowledge that she was alone in her belief that here was a great story and those who have seen the picture will agree with me it is one of the best things Paramount has done.

IT'S a good thing that James Tully and Jack Gilbert have made up else it would be just too embarrassing for both of them to be on the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer lot. James Tully has been signed to write dialogue for the interior scenes in "Trader Horn" and we assume he will do his work right on the M. G. M. lot. We don't suppose we will see Mr. Tully and Mr. Gilbert lunching together, but at least there will be no more fistic encounters. Mr. Tully is working in collaboration with Howard Lawson on "Trader Horn" dialogue.

HARRY COHN has more faith in womankind than most folk. Six months ago Molly O'Day was a coy miss when he wanted to start "Sis ters." "Go and reduce," he told her, "and when you get down to the right size we will start that picture with you and your sister, Sally Eilers." Molly O'Day had at that time submitted to operations, fasts on all sorts of diets and was still the poundage was with her. Yesterday she tipped the scales at exactly the right weight and to this week she and Sally Eilers will start work on "Sisters" under the direction of James Flood. Molly is going to stay thin. That reminds me that I have been told that Marie Prevost who was in the heavyweight class has reduced until she looks like her old self again. Sylvia, Pathe's masseuse, did the work. Sylvia has a diet that I am going to publish if she will let me have it.

RUSSIAN FILM OPENS RUN AT REPERTORY

EXCITEMENT is a tense way is provided by "China Express," Russian film now being shown at the Repertory on Huntington ave., in the Back Bay. Director Henry Jewett has done well to bring this picture for its New England premiere, for it is one of the fan admiring masterly direction and camera work, should not miss. The production is intrinsically excellent, moves with tremendous speed through a series of climactic events, gaining such mighty impetus that the audience is fairly clinging to its chair-arms before the finale is reached.

The story itself is frail enough. The entire action takes place aboard the "China Express," which hurls itself across the land of rice and revolution. Aboard the train are missionaries, big business men of Caucasian countries, native educators and pseudo philosophers, servile Chinese politicians, Eurasian girls—and, loaded like the proverbial cattle into third-class compartments, a great mob of tragic-faced coolies. Only a match is necessary to ignite the inflammatory mass, and it is provided in the attack by a brutal white supervisor, upon a little Chinese "slave" of the textile mills. The rest you may imagine.

The story is told with unequalled fluency and keen wit. Every sequence is keen as the razor-like blade of a double-edged sword. The characters are depicted with a satirical strength bespeaking infinite genius on the part of director, Ely Traubers. The cast is composed almost entirely of Orientals of a fascinating variety of types.

SIDNEY SHINES ON THE LINKS

"THE Cohens and Kellys in Scotland," now at the Ark, required George Sidney to collect a lot of golf balls that didn't belong to him. While the scene was being shot on a famous Southern California course, the regular club members continued to enjoy their sport.

At the end of the day, during which Sidney had given unquestionable evidence of his unfamiliarity with the game, he turned in his golf balls to an assistant director.

"Some to this, Mr. Sidney," queried that puzzled worthy. "I gave you only 12 balls this morning and you're returning 20."

Looking at a number of golfers worriedly and fruitlessly searching the rough, the actor replied, "That's right, we were only taking a picture. You know, for a minute I thought we were playing for keeps."

TINY FOLK TOP STAGE MENU

THE feature film makes a very low bow before an unusually classy vaudeville bill at the Keith-Albee this week. Cameo Kirby, of gambler interior less, but the R. K. O. stage program is far above that mark in excellent entertainment. Swing the list of acts are the midgets, Rose's 25 Lilliputians, who are clever, every inch of their wee selves. As a matter of ruth, not many aggregations of nan-sized folk would do as well, and put across the footlights so much life and personality.

The little folk offer a revue of lancing, singing, comedy, acrobatics and music by the only midget band in the world, a revue just as finished and skillfully executed as if composed of a cast of normal stage artists.

Among those featured are Prince Fani, native of Java; Kuri and Tsuda, Japanese wrestlers; Danny Applesauce" Montague and Ivan Turner, Americans; Nick Page, and a young American girl known as "Gladys." Eight countries, Germany, Austria, Hungary, Poland, Italy, Java and Mexico in addition to the United States, are represented

Also on the stage program are the Joe Thomas Sax-o-tette, featuring Archie Nicholson; Don Cummings, the world's champion boy lariat spinner; and Ada Brown, a plantation mammy.

On the screen are J. Harold Murray and Norma Terris, costarred in "Cameo Kirby." Supporting them are Robert Edeson, Douglas Gilmore, Myrna Loy, Stepin Fetchit, George MacFarlane, Charles Morton, John Hymans and Madame Daumery.

"Just a few words of praise of your medicine. Nothing gave me relief and health as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did. I am a practical nurse and was so rundown that I was unable to work. There Is an Enchanted Garden right here in the heart of your austere little old Boston, Anne A garden where glorious bloom all day long, and never ever does a storm threaten their grandeur from the gardens of the north, sweetness from the south, and colorings from the west. There are flowers that borrow their quaint charm from prim little Cape Cod Gardens and the quite Enchanted Garden? I'll tell you, Anne—it leads through Filene's Main store, along the main of the Second Floor, or down Franklin St. to Filene's Gift Shop—at the corner of Hawley. But these flowers that "only make believe" are so real looking, Anne, you expect to see bees and butterflies flitting among them and each tiny blossom is such a perfect copy of the living flower you have to catch yourself quickly to keep from inhaling their imaginary perfume. The Easter Lilies, brand new this year, are the ideal flower gift for mother, for you know they will not wilt like real ones, in the dry heat of an apartment. Their Calla Lilies, regal in the pale gold, are new and gorgeous. Bright Forsythia, sprays of pink and white Dogwood, with their petals most naturally black-flecked, Iris, American Beauties, Orchids, Freezia, Blue delphinium, friendly yellow and white Syringa. Huge clusters of Rhododendrons, Apple Blossoms, so romantic and sweet, Bleeding Hearts and Blue Bonnets! All these flowers in one Enchanted Garden in Filene's Gift Shop, priced from 25 cents to $2 a spray you looked last night, my dear Your skin fairly glowed with clarity. I knew the moment I saw you that you had started your Virozol and Turkish Foam Baths again Thirsty, clogged pores just drink in this refreshing bath. Tired nerves relax under its soothing coolness, and are buoyed up by its stimulation. Really you "feel like a new woman" after cleansing your face and neck with Virozol and then patting on some of the superfluous hair. Virozol Beauty Cream (32) is especially good for dry, irritated skin, and if you use it faithfully every night before retiring, removing with the Face Bath ($1.25) in the morning, a few weeks will show amazing results. All Virozol preparations are sold by Gilchrist Company. They won the Grand Prize in Paris for purity and efficiency and are endorsed by many physicians.

How Fresh and Rosy

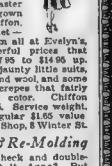
Evelyn Has Frocks at $6.95

They are a special treat this week to tide you over these "springy" days until you buy your complete Easter outfit, and are splendid values — as fresh and charming as the first spring flowers. But if you should be looking for a "best" dress — an Easter dress — a print that's gay or bold, a flowery chiffon, or an Easter Bridesmaid's gown of taffeta, chiffon, or stiffened net — you'll find them all at Evelyn's, too, both silk and wool, and some gorgeous flat crepes that fairly breathe with color. Chiffon frocks, $17.95. Service weight, 99 cents, a regular $1.65 value Evelyn's Dress Shop, 8 Winter St.

Molding & Re-Molding

Sounds like "check and double-check," doesn't it, Anne? But how else can I tell you that Blanche, one of the cleverest little millinners in town, not only creates new hats and re-molds old ones into the smartest way. Her new hats are models of pertness and style, and her prices, that range from $6.50 to $24, include the slinkiest felts, the new lacy straws, and hairs. Her re-molded hats are triumphs of her ingenuity. I never saw anyone so keen on "making over" old hats as Blanche. She adds a little touch to cover up a bad spot; perks up a forlorn brim—and presto! you have a new hat. Blanche's prices for re-molding are very moderate, and based upon the work and care required. Blanche Hats, Rm. 907, Dexter Bldg., 453 Washington St.



'Tis Spring!

Elastic Stockings

Varicose veins have a way of speaking for themselves under sheer hosiery. You need elastic stockings to conceal them, so why not buy them where they are modern in line and manufacture these goods? Mr. A. E. Phelps & Co. have the largest and finest and most complete line in weights, styles and qualities in New England. They put both your purpose and your purse. Some have knitted in top, that extends over the knee, and fastens to your garter. For particular people, W. H. Phelps Imports fine, sheer, thinnest, invisible stocking made. Get their prices before purchasing elsewhere. Mail orders promptly filled. W. H. Phelps & Co. established 1832. 28 Tremont St., Tel. Hub. 2490.

A Smooth, White Skin!

Tempting words, aren't they, Anne—and sorry ones, too, for they remind you of the jars and jars of things you have bought to give your skin that firm, fair, youthful look. But why buy all these jars of things when one jar of Anna Walker Wake field's marvelous Cleaning Cream and Skin Food takes care of it all. It is a magic cream that gets rid of all those horrid little blackheads, and feeds the skin with the almond oils it needs so badly. It whitens while it you are giving your complexion a little "treatment." It is a real economy, too, for it is so many creams in one, and once you've whiffed its delightful orange odor, you'll never want anything else. WRY-NECK—that is, contortion of the muscles of one side of the neck—may be chronic or spasmodic. When children continue to hold the head to one side a physician should be consulted at once. It may be from some simple cause, but should be attended to.

This Day in Our History

HENRY W. LONGFELLOW, famous poet who wrote "Evangeline" and many other works, died March 24, 1882. Longfellow was, perhaps, best known for his shorter poems and his "Children's Hour." The Longfellow house in Cambridge, Mass., is a mecca of tourists.

HUSBANDS NOW GLAD TO HELP IN HOUSEWORK

No Longer Considered to Be Unmanly by Them

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

THE other day a newly engaged girl delightedly opened a box of linens that a relative had sent her. Among these new possessions was a deep pile of dish towels. Seizing one of these and waving it gayly at her fiance, the bride-to-be demanded:

"How are you going to like using these, Harry?"

"Oh, it's going to be great!" laughed Harry, and he meant it.

Beatrice Fairfax

This happens to be a marriage that for many reasons promises to be a great success, apart from the question of who washes the dishes.

But, for that matter, my own belief is that, in spite of all the dark hints of youthful folly that one hears, in spite of the friendly tolerance with which divorce is now regarded — and practiced — marriages of the moment are pretty likely to come off well after all.

And one reason is—though you may think this a small matter—that young husbands, or the more modern ones, no longer feel that a certain knack at doing things in the kitchen is a disgrace to their masculine pride.

Plain, practical helpfulness in a domestic crisis is something that simply never occurred to the husband of a generation ago. However kind he was, he could stare straight at a broom or a dish mop without giving it the faintest sign of recognition. Such implements as such labor as they suggested simply weren't in his universe.

Nowadays, with the sink full of dishes from the just completed dinner, and with the evening play or party scheduled to begin in half an hour, the new type of husband doesn't smoke and watch the clock while the young wife, who has already put in a day at housework, harries and strains to get this extra chore finished on time.

What he does, instead, is to roll up his shirt sleeves, allow a fascinating chintz apron to be tied about his neck and sturdily help in getting the job out of the way.

He is risking nothing whatever in doing this. For he knows very well that there is no chance of his being considered less manly just because he is friendly and sensible enough to help his wife out when she is in a "jam."

Men have been able to take care of themselves with brilliant success when they were camping out, for instance, or when they were at sea, with the nearest woman a thousand miles away. How did they ever get us to believe they were helpless in their own kitchens?

It isn't of course that the poor dears have been lazy. American husbands have always been, if anything, too hard-working. And please do not understand this as a suggestion that an overworked family "provider" should be robbed of his leisure by an indolent wife.

Fortunately, in the type of modern family I have been speaking of, there is such a sense of sportsmanship that neither partner is willing to accept from the other more than is reasonable

"Heartless"

Drawn by Nell Brinkley

"SHE'D make a coat of Cupid's skin," complained a forgotten lover of Harriet's. "Heartless Harriet; heartless Hattie, that's her name. She opens her eyes wide upon the world, and seems always to say, 'why, what did I do?' She has the frankest face and the subtlest soul! Her shoes are of snakeskin, some harmless reptile sunning himself on a rock on a mesa in his own quiet way now trots up and down Broadway —Broadway after the desert wastes!—carrying Harriet! Her bag is antelope; she told me so herself Some gentle deer who cropped the dun and citron grass and lilac prairie grass goes to musical comedies and teas with Harriet. Her rouge-duster that pinks Harriet's lily cheek to the hue sometimes of a peonie when it should be only faintly carnation is a bunnie's foot, flicking his own little powder-puff blithely over the hillocks no more! Her scarf is sable—let us go no farther on that story of traps and pain; that needs another serious, more serious tale, than this!

"Scalps of the sons of Adam hang at her sports suit belt: and I believe, if she could catch him napping, that heartless Harriet would make a spring bonnet of Cupid's own head and wings! 'They would be just the thing,' I can hear her saying, to make one of these darling Egyptian looking, draped affairs that wing back away from the face, you know, my dear!"

Harriet's eulogy by a forgotten lover!

When Heart Is Irregular

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D., U. S. Senator from New York; Former Commissioner of Health

THERE are many people who are actually in pretty good health and yet who have irregular heart action.

Dr Copeland

Of course, the heart in a well person should be regular in its pulsations, quite deliberate in rhythm, going steadily along. If the heart drops a beat now and again, or even when it goes up perceptibly, you begin to worry about what's the matter.

Well, it is not apt to be anything serious. It is due to nothing but a condition that can be remedied.

The heart is a wonderful organ. It can adjust itself to many varying conditions. It was meant to be so. A man born merely with some amount of skill, he may have to jump or run, or do almost anything in the way of vigorous exercise under stress and turmoil. His heart has an instant and severe strain helping some adjustment or cure. Hundreds of them take place every day. The heart has many extraordinary efforts placed upon it.

Much care should be given a child after diphtheria — different or indeed after any fever. These illnesses often leave damaged hearts behind. Fortunately these conditions are almost sure to clear up with restored health.

We need bodily exercise in moderation so as to keep the body muscles strong and the heart muscles as well. Many a disturbed weak heart is strengthened by regular moderate physical exercise taken every day.

Of course, we are not talking now of serious heart troubles. As violent exercise, when it is known that any organic lesions of the heart are present, is rank folly. If there is suspicion of any such condition, you should see a physician and have his advice.

We are living in an age which necessitates constant strain and stress if we are out in the world doing the world's work. If it is prudent on everyone to slow up and take stock of health once in a while. He advised by your doctor what exercise, if any, you need. If people would have medical care often, many untimely deaths would not occur. Deaths due to heart disease are on the increase to a woeful extent.

If, however, you live a sensible life, take all things in moderation, have plenty of sleep, proper exercise, have good nourishing food—neither in excess, nor in undernourished—then the chances are that any slight weakness of the heart will become mended. Many a person has found that with care and common sense the heart can be built up to such an extent that these former weaknesses disappear like magic, and life is made worth while

Listen, World!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

YOU MAKE YOUR OWN TRAP

DON'T be afraid of life. Life isn't some malign monster over which you have no control—a monster which may pounce on you unexpected with some horrid fate. THIS IS WHAT YOU MAKE IT. Your fate doesn't come from outside. . . it comes from inside. You, yourself could it. You do not build it by one great decision. You build it in millions of tiny decisions.

Elsie Robinson

You do not consider these decisions important when you make them. You're hurried, or bothered, or angry, so you do the easiest thing.

"It doesn't really matter," you say to yourself, and go off and forget it. But it does matter, for that unconsidered decision was a link in the chain of your fate. Some day that tiny link will help to bind you.

THERE'S poor Jim, doing 10 years for embezzlement, over in the pen. Jim's a nice chap, with honest eyes and fine ideals. You'd never believe he stole that money from his bank. He can't believe it himself. The temptation came to suddenly. Or, rather, he thinks it came suddenly.

Actually it had been coming and he had been yielding to it all his life. Yielding to it in good-natured fibs, small evasions, trivial dishonesties. None of them seemed to matter at the time, but each one left its mark. Slowly they ate like dry rot into his character.

When the big chance came to steal those thousands he went down before it and he can't understand yet how it happened. He went down like a building that had been undermined because he was a building that had been undermined by unconsidered acts.

No fate ever happens suddenly. We are what we made ourselves.

"But surely there are events over which we have no control—events which shape our whole lives," you say. "Sickness and poverty and the loss of someone you love . . . these things aren't created INSIDE you. They happen from OUTSIDE—"

YES, they happen from outside—but its the reaction to them, that happens inside you, that really counts. Sickness, poverty and loss happen to millions of people. Some triumph over them; some surrender to them, in just the measure that they're made themselves strong or weak.

Lovejoy, by Beatrice Burton

CHAPTER 65

BUT Tom might have come to drive me home, she thought, her old resentment toward him flaming up in her heart once more. He knew I'd be frantic about the baby.

As her taxi went jolting along through the rain-swept streets, her thoughts flew back to Steve Oglebay. . . How kind and tender Steve had been to her! She remembered how he had looked at her when he kissed her good-by and made her promise to come back to him.

Steve really cares for me, she said to herself. And there was comfort in that.

Aunt Em herself opened the door to her.

"How's the baby?" she asked, breathlessly, pushing past her.

"Just the same," she heard Aunt Em whisper.

There was a lamp burning in the back hall. Beside it, sound asleep in a chair, was Tom.

In his little crib, drawn up beside the bed where Lovejoy had slept for so many nights of her life, lay the baby.

His eyes were closed and he was breathing quickly and unevenly. She laid her hand lightly on his forehead and found that his skin was dry and hot to her touch.

She looked down at him, realizing how helpless she was. There is so little that can be done for a sick little baby, and Lovejoy knew it.

What a pathetic little thing he was, curled up there under the blanket, with his two hands bunched up under his cheek like two tightly-closed buds—

How did I ever go away from him? she found herself wondering as she knelt there beside him in the darkened bedroom. I'm his mother—and I should have had him with me no matter where I went.

The big square diamond on her finger winked up at her in the dim light . . . All her life she had wanted a diamond like that. And now that she had it she knew that it was of no value at all compared to the small sleeping thing in the crib beside her.

She heard a rustle behind her and turned her head. Aunt Em was standing in the doorway.

"I've made a cup of tea for you," she whispered, and Lovejoy followed her out to the dining room, going on the tips of her toes so as not to waken Tom.

"He's been up all night," Aunt Em told her. "He and Norrie Shane and I. . . That's an awfully sick baby, Lovejoy. Arnott says it's just nip and tuck with him." She shook her head as she poured two cups of strong steaming tea.

"Well, you can all go to bed now," said Lovejoy, "and Norrie can make up her mind not to show her face in this flat at all from now on. I'll take care of the baby."

Aunt Em stirred sugar into her tea thoughtfully.

"Norrie's wonderful with the baby and she's a nurse besides," she murmured. "She's done everything for him the last few days—"

"Oh, she has, has she?" Lovejoy broke in with sudden fury. "Then why is he lying in there at the point of death—my baby? I took care of him for months and months, and I guess I can do it again as well as she can!"

Ten minutes later when Dr. Arnott came he found her with one of Aunt Em's big white aprons tied around her slender waist, ready to carry out any orders of his.

Like all nervous people, she had risen, high-strung, to this emergency. She was calm and cool and collected now. Only the straight line of her mouth showed the strain that she was working under.

"There's not much we can do in a case like this but to keep the baby warm and quiet," good, kind, old-fashioned Dr. Arnott told her. "He mustn't have any food while this fever lasts. But he can have a few drops of cool boiled water if he wakes up. I'll be here as long as he sleeps the better it will be for him."

At 1 o'clock in the afternoon, while Lovejoy and Aunt Em were having another cup of tea, Tom woke up.

"Oh, you're here," he said dully to Lovejoy when he came walking into the dining room.

He turned to Aunt Em

"How's the baby?"

"Just the same Tom, but he's got to get better or we're pretty soon now. That fever's wearing him out"

Tom said nothing. He did not touch the toast the eggs and the cup of tea that Aunt Em set before him presently

Late in the afternoon a knock came on the door of the kitchen where Lovejoy sat

Early Traits of Child

By CONSTANCE CAMERON

THERE comes a time, usually about Baby's second or third year, when we look at him sadly and think: "Well, I thought he had my sweet disposition, but I do believe he's going to be stubborn, just like his father."

Constance Cameron

Our angel who has heretofore come at our call, gone quietly to bed, or eaten without a murmur, suddenly looks us defiantly in the eye and says: "I won't," or "No."

Our lack of understanding of what is happening inside our little fellow at this stage of his growth is that we have forgotten that great and glorious day when we first became conscious of that wonderful thing within us, the "I AM," which takes us through life as an individual.

When Baby says "No" it is in no way related to his desire to come in, or to eat or to go to sleep. I think the act he rebels at in engaging in has nothing to do with his feelings. He is only challenging us for the first time in his young life power or will against ours

. . At this trying period it is well to make as few commands as possible. If they are necessary carry them out. Baby has to learn that the "I" in us must bow to certain laws and rules. But command as little as posible

At this period we can easily make an ugly baby out of our little child who is but realizing one of the most wonderful truths of existence. Or if we use intelligence we can keep him sweet, yet self reliant and independent, teaching him to make this "I" in him direct his actions along the right paths. Don't abruptly demand instant and exacting obedience any more often than is absolutely necessary, for at this period you are not asking that the child do a certain thing; you are, with each order, challenging his will, and a too frequent conflict of wills most certainly will not lead to pleasant relationships between you, nor to a sweet disposition on the part of your baby.

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

THE "LOVE-PANIC"

JUST about this time of year, many a perfectly sane young man is attacked by a strange malady, called the "love-panic."

Its symptoms are alternate exhilaration and depression; giddy head and cold feet; fluttering pulse and unreasoning fear. All of which are merely the "growing pains" of the heart, from which a man suffers, when he is afraid that he is falling in love—and doesn't want to.

WOMEN never have the "love-panic." A girl always knows when she is falling in love. She has been expecting it from childhood and floats into it as gracefully and naturally as a swan into water

But, a man is always so cock-sure that he never can and never WILL fall in love, that he simply won't believe it, when it happens to him. He struggles against it as he struggles against a spring cold or a fever; and fights it with all the antitodes he can conjure up, from plunging into work to running away, or even pursuing the wrong girl.

And the more he fights—the harder he falls.

THE first thing the average man does when he discovers that a particular girl is beginning to mean more to him than any of the others is to size her frankly and humanly. That is, NOT the mooning kind. That he never has been in love and doubts that he ever shall be. That he likes her "just for companionship," and all that sort of thing.

"THAT," he figures, "will HOLD HER!"

If the girl is inexperienced, this is something of a shock. But, if she is wise, she recognizes the symptoms, and merely smiles understandingly and agrees with him that he is probably a born misogynist and of the "perennial bachelor" type —cold, wise and impregnable.

And the next moment, he is yearning to take her in his arms—and take it all back.

ONE minute he is planning to pack up, hop a train and flee from her, forever—and the next, he is seized with cold fright for fear she may escape him. One minute, he wonders if she is trying to rope him in—and the next he wonders if he can ever hope to win such a paragon.

He goes home at night with the fixed determination never to see her again; and wakes up next morning wondering how soon he can get her on the telephone. One minute, he is vowing to himself that he could never endure to be "tied to any woman"—and the next he is pitying himself for being "lonely."

AND, all the time, he is assuring himself desperately, that he is NOT in love—and that this is "just like all the others." Or just an attack of liver or spring fever.

He can't eat, he can't sleep, he can't work—until, all of a sudden, he wakes up some morning, admits that he's in love, and gives up the struggle.

THAT'S the "love-panic!"

Girl Unafraid, a Serial

velled venom with a careless "Oh, well—you know Cyril——"

Cecile especially got piquant enjoyment out of his society. Often he sat beside her on the divan of an afternoon murmuring in a cynical undertone until Cecile's orange lips parted and her sharp little teeth glistened through.

Only one other person in The Caprice disliked him as cordially as Cecile disliked this was Ah Ling, the little Chinese maid. When he addressed these two girls, Cyril's tone changed. It lost the slight suggestion of flattering homage he paid other women and took on a shade of appraising patronage.

As Ah Ling, in her leaf-green silk robe, passed the Santon teacups about the smokerie, his hooded gaze followed her. He called her "chinkie-ling"—a witticism which brought forth appreciative laughter in the back room and fla-hing-eyed resentment in the outer shop when Ah Ling held forth to Ardeth.

"The insulting pup!" Ah Ling expressed herself in most unflattering Americanese. "I'd like to cook him one for that!"

But not all the men were frequented the smokerie were of the type of Cyril. There was Fred Eastwood, Mary's stout, stockbroker husband. And one day Ken brought Tom Corbett. Tom Corbett was a slow-spoken chap, stock and sandalled, the sort of man children and dogs like immediately. When Ken introduced him, Ardeth privately marvelled at the strong bond of friendship which had held the two men since their college days. They were exact opposites. Tom was slow where Ken was quick. Ken was sparkling water from cold solid earth. Yet there was between them a deep regard, a quiet loyalty which exists between four men and no others.

Ken's, appearance in the shop this morning was hailed with feminine cries of delight.

"Kid Gleason—come over here and tell me why you didn't show at the Wolfish party last night!" Cecile ordered with pretty imperativeness

And suddenly—as she watched him go into the corner and seat himself beside Cecile who moved over to make room for him, Ardeth felt paradoxically vanished about her.

She was tremulous—fear, like a little dagger, sticking in her heart

To be forced to remain out there in the shop while Ken vanished in there . . . In there—to that other world, where he belonged and she could not follow. It was like a symbol . . . a warning of what would always be . . .

She moved about the place keenly aware as she passed the open door, that Ken's sparkling face was turned toward Cecile, and her heart was heavy.

Tears stinging her eyes as she trinkets on the case. She was so lost in her own somber thoughts that she jumped nervously at a mats a voice sounding beside her.

Tom Corbett had come out and had leaned on the case, his serious brown eyes fastened on her face

How Divorcee Should Sign

By MRS. BEECKMAN

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Is it proper for a divorcee, when marrying again, to incorporate her former husband's name in her new name? For instance, Miss Mary Smith marries John Jones and then her name becomes Mary John Jones, and her signature Mary Smith Jones. Being divorced, she may still be Mrs. John Jones when she marries Charles Darwin. Of course she becomes Mrs. Charles Darwin, but should she sign Mary Jones Darwin? The question is—is it proper for her to use the name of her former husband?

Quincy. MRS. L.

No; when a woman marries again, she drops all name-forms of her previous marriage. When she becomes Mrs. Charles Darwin, all forms of the Jones names disappear from her name. Now her informal name is Mary Smith Darwin or Mary Darwin as she prefers.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1—What is the correct thing to say to a girl in whose honor an engagement party is given?

2—Is a gift necessary?

Waltham. LILLIAN.

1—Keep in mind that the terms "best wishes" or "best wishes for your happiness" are always correct. Say something that will include either of these first, and to this add anything that your friendship suggests.

2—No. Usually the relatives and close friends of the engaged girl give her a bridesmaid present, but it is not necessary for her other friends, unless they wish to.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN.

I have heard that it is proper to eat cantaloupe with a fork. Is this correct?

MARY C.

Dorchester

Yes. Many people use a fork to eat melon, especially honeydew melons, and indeed, I think that it is a very graceful way to eat a melon.

AUTO OUTPUT TO BE STEPPED UP SHORTLY

By FRANK H. MELOON
Financial Editor

State Street information runs to the effect that a number of the automobile companies will shortly announce increases in their operating schedules. In the past week or so sales and inquiries are reported to have shown gains that would warrant an increase in plans for output. An increase at the automotive plants would be about as fine a constructive development as could be asked.

It not alone will help solve the unemployment problem at automotive centers, but will further improve business sentiment throughout the country, as the slump in the automobile business has been one of the main causes for worry over the last three months. Studies of current condition of the motor companies give reason for belief that at least two, and, perhaps, more will have to revise dividends downwards. Such organizations as General Motors, Nash, etc., that have a strong cash position, however, could maintain payments at the existing regular rate, especially if business shows signs of picking up further.

The automobile industry is a mighty factor in other industries. Three quarters of the plate glass made in the United States goes directly into new cars, and most of our upholstery leather is consumed by the auto trade along with crude rubber, aluminum, copper, lead, zinc and nickel. A big slice of all the finished steel and lumber produced in this country is used by the auto trade.

Reports from state registration authorities to the Bureau of Public Roads, U. S. Department of Agriculture, show a total of 26,501,443 motor vehicle registered in 1929. The states and the District of Columbia collected in license fees, registration fees, permit fees, fines, etc., the sum of $347,843,543. The registration figure includes passenger automobiles, taxis, busses, motor trucks, road tractors and trailers, and motorcycles, and represents an increase of 2,008,319, or 8 per cent over the 1928 figure.

A new issue of $15,000,000 Boston & Maine Railroad 5 per cent first mortgage gold bonds, series II, is being offered today at 100½ and interest, to yield over 4.96 per cent by a group of Boston bankers.

The Boston & Maine Railroad is a unified system which serves central and northern New England and operates 2027 miles of road.

It has made many improvements during the past seven years at an expenditure of over $65,000,000, of which over $20,000,000 has been included in operating expenses and deducted from earnings. This program will be continued this year and has included construction and development of the new North Station and terminal, rock ballasting of important lines, extensive grade revisions and construction of bridges.

Together with its development program the financial status of the road has shown great improvement. During 1925 the Boston & Maine resumed payments in full on its several classes of first preferred shares, has since September 3, 1926 paid regular dividends of 7 per cent on its prior preference stock issued at that time, and in 1929 resumed payment of dividends on its ordinary preferred shares. Common dividends are being resumed on April 1 with a quarterly payment of $1 per share.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors held at the Ritz Carlton Hotel, President Albert Keller stated that the hotels of the Ritz Carlton Chain were operating on a satisfactory basis. The Boston hotel of this system has shown excellent progress. As of Feb. 28, 1930, for the first nine months of its fiscal year, the gross income of the Ritz Carlton Hotel of Boston was $974,[illegible]81 against $875,888 for the same period last year—an increase of $96,993. The net profit for this same period showed an increase of $50,695.95 over the previous year after deducting all charges, including rent, taxes, depreciation, etc.

Mr. Keller referred to the new hotel of this group which is now under construction at Hollywood, Calif., and which he stated would rank among the most beautiful and luxurious hotels of the world.

NEW HIGHS SET BY SCORE OF SPECIALTIES

By STANLEY W. PRENOSIL

New York, March 24 (AP)—Bullish forces regained control of the price movement in today's stock market after an early period of irregularity. Resumption of big scale pool operations lifted a score of specialties 2 to 12 points to new high records, while gains of 1 to 3 points were scattered throughout the general list by early afternoon.

There were a few soft spots here and there, Montgomery Ward and American Locomotive sinking to new low levels, but they failed to cut much of a figure in the day's proceedings.

Call money held steady at 4 per cent with no immediate indications of a change in rate. A nominal calling of loans was reported, but these were replaced with new funds.

The summary of business conditions published by the National Business Survey Conference, even though it made no definite predictions of future trends, had a cheerful effect on speculative sentiment.

While current business in many lines has been disappointing, operators on the long side appear to take the position that the recent decline in securities values generally over-discounted whatever trade recession has taken place.

Vanadium Steel was one of the spectacular performers in today's market, soaring 12 points to a new high at 117¾ in what appeared to be a "technical corner" in that issue.

Houston Oil was marked up more than 8½ points to 100¼. Foster Wheeler advanced 7 to 82 and Worthington Pump, Internal Combustion preferred, United Aircraft, Newport Co., United Carbon, Warner Bros. Pictures and Vulcan Detinning were marked up 3 to 6 points, all at new high prices for the year.

New peak prices also were registered by Bendix, International Nickel, Pacific Lighting, American Bank Note, U. S. Realty, Colorado Fuel, Kelvinator, Anchor Cap, Petroleum, General Asphalt, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Texas Gulf Sulphur, Servel, Paramount Famous Lasky, General Railway Signal and Airway Electric.

Johns-Manville and Western Union, which broke 5 points each in the early trading, recovered their losses by early afternoon. Montgomery-Ward also recovered its early decline, and was in brisk demand above 40. Safeway Stores sold down more than 2 points to within a fraction of the year's low.

Under the leadership of U. S. Steel the upward movement broadened in the last hour. Steel extended its gain to 192½, a new high record for the recovery.

Additional strong spots to appear in the late trading included A. M. Byers, Eastman Kodak, Bordens, and Hershey Chocolate. The closing tone was strong.

Liverpool Selling Sends Wheat Lower

Chicago, March 24 (AP)—General selling and lower prices formed the rule here in the wheat market early today as a result of a sharp setback of Liverpool quotations. Action at Liverpool was largely ascribed to offers of Canadian wheat and to general pause in demand. Opening 1⅝-3¼c lower, Chicago wheat futures displayed afterward but little power to rally. Corn, oats and provisions were easier, with corn starting ⅛-1¼c off, and later keeping within the initial range.

Chemical Company Goes to Du Pont

Wilmington, Del., March 24—The E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. has entered agreement with Roessler & Hasslacher Chemical Co. of New York for purchase of its entire assets. Stockholders of the chemical company will hold a special meeting next month to act on the agreement. The chemical company will continue operations under present name. It was incorporated in 1882, and operates plants in various cities, including Perth Amboy, N. J., and Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Oil Output Lower

California crude oil output in week ended March 22 averaged 643,900 barrels daily, a decrease of 2100 barrels daily from the previous week, according to California Oil World.

Telephone Business for Quarter Gains 4 Per Cent

New York, March 24—American Telephone's long lines business for the first 1930 quarter shows an increase of 4 per cent over the like period a year ago. The company's plans for expansion continue afoot and construction expenditures in January were 25 per cent in excess of the same 1929 month. Nothing important is likely to develop at tomorrow's directors' and annual meetings other than the re-election of directors and officers. No discussion of a new stock issue is probable at this time.

JUDGE DECIDES STOCK POOLS CAN BE LEGAL

New York, March 24—Stock pools are not necessarily prohibited under the Martin Act, according to a decision handed down by Supreme Court Justice Dike in Brooklyn.

Meier Steinbrink, attorney for the defendants in the Advance-Rumley case, said Justice Dike's opinion would clarify many doubts that formerly existed in regard to interpretation of the law.

NO FRAUD FOUND

It was charged that Leonard J. Rollnick and Abner S. Werbin had so "manipulated" stock of the Advance-Rumley Company that it made a sudden and unwarranted advance on the Stock Exchange, bringing them large profits.

"I find no evidence of fraud," declared Justice Dike.

Justice Dike pointed out that it was listed security and presumably had been investigated as to its merits. Without evidence of fraud, "wash sales" or other specific illegality he doubted if the remedy of injunction would apply and denied the motion of the attorney-general.

COMMENTS ON OPINION

Steinbrink said of the opinion:

"Since the Wall st. crash in November investors have added their complaints to those of victims of cut-of-town swindles. In this case it was merely charged that a pool had existed. No evidence was offered to show that the wash sale method of inflating the value of the stock had been used. No legal fraud was charged."

BUSINESS RISE IS FORECAST

New Haven, March 24—"The forecast of business conditions prepared regularly by the Karsten Statistical Laboratory," Mr. Karl G. Karsten, vice-president, "indicates an improvement in general business for the next 60 days.

"The expansion predicted for April is more than merely seasonal. While a slight decline is indicated between April and May, the change indicated is no greater than that which took place between April and May of last year.

"It seems probable from figures now available that business in general has passed the low point and is now slowly improving."

Canadian Pacific Report Is Given

Current assets were $114,298,166 and current liabilities $14,111,834, against $93,775,506 and $19,955,199.

Sharon Steel Hoop Co. production of ingots and sheets will remain unchanged, but the strip output will drop slightly. The company's average is around 90 per cent for next week.

Edward G. Budd Manufacturing Co. reports shipments are now running at a rate which indicates increase in March sales over February sales of close to $1,000,000. Unfilled customers' releases on hand at beginning of March total more than $13,000,000, as compared with $8,000,000 a year ago.

RICHFIELD OIL BUYS COMPANY

Richfield Oil Corp. of New York, wholly owned subsidiary of the Richfield Oil Co. of California, has acquired the business and properties of Clifton F. Williams & Co. of Schenectady, and will take over the operations of these facilities immediately, Ralph Walsh, vice-president of Richfield Oil Corp. of New York and Clifton P. Williams, formerly head of the Williams company announced today.

Mr. Williams has become associated with the Richfield Corp. as division manager.

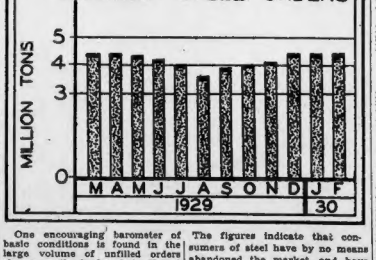
In connection with the transfer of ownership of the Williams properties to the Richfield Oil Corp., Mr Walsh stated that it is the intention of the Richfield organization to further expand its operations in upper New York State, this program of expansion will be under the direct supervision of Mr. Williams.

The growth of Clifton P. Williams & Co. has been one of the outstanding developments in the gasoline distributing field in upper New York State. Mr. Williams originally started the business on July 20, 1924, with one station. In 1928 total sales of the Williams company aggregated 200,000 gallons which total showed a steady increase to over 2,000,000 gallons in 1929, exclusive of fuel oil and motor oil sales.

Isle Royale Plans Vein Valuation

Houghton, Mich., March 24—The work to be done by Isle Royale this year will largely establish the value of the west lode, which now is being opened in Nos. 2 and 5 shafts. The west lode is the continuation of the main Isle Royale lode, which is crossed by a fault at the 29th level in each shaft. In No. 5 the fault throws the vein 110 feet to the west. In No. 2, opening work to date below the fault has been discouraging. In No. 5, where the west lode was entered by a crosscut from the 29th level, only a limited amount of drifting has so far been done. The rock is about the same in quality as that of the main lode in this part of the mine.

Isle Royale values have fallen off in vein openings during the past year.



One encouraging barometer of basic conditions is found in the large volume of unfilled orders shown on the books of the United States Steel Corporation.

For February these totaled 4,480,000 tons, which was fractionally higher than in January, 1930, and about 8 per cent higher than in February a year ago. In fact, it was the largest total of unfilled steel business reported since February, 1928.

The figures indicate that consumers of steel have by no means abandoned the market, and have been placing orders in substantial volume for forward delivery.

Inasmuch as steel has long been regarded as one of the basic indicators underlying industrial conditions, the large volume of business on the books is looked upon as a favorable sign.

OLD COLONY TRUST COMPANY AND S. PARKMAN SHAW, Jr., BOSTON, TRUSTEES

Mr. Thomas Nelson Perkins, Acting President of the Company, has furnished us with the following information:

BOSTON AND MAINE RAILROAD: The Boston and Maine Railroad operates 2,077 miles of road, including 1,598 miles of road owned and 450 miles which are operated under long term leases. The Boston and Maine is now a unified system and serves central and northern New England, including the central and northern part of Massachusetts, nearly all of New Hampshire, southeastern Maine and a part of Vermont.

During the past seven years the Company has spent over $65,000,000 in improvements to property and additions to equipment. Of this amount over $20,000,000 has been included in operating expenses and deducted from earnings. Improvements include construction and development of the new North Station and Terminal, rock ballasting of important lines, extensive grade revisions and reconstruction of bridges.

SECURITY: These $15,000,000 First Mortgage Gold Bonds, Series II 5%, rank equally with $115,252,979 of other bonds secured under the same mortgage. This mortgage is, in the opinion of counsel, a first mortgage upon the railroad system, including the lessee's interest in the principal leasehold lines, subject, as to the property acquired from Worcester, Nashua & Rochester Railroad Company and Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway Railroad, to $1,530,000 of outstanding prior lien bonds. At the time the property of these two companies was acquired 119 miles of the road owned by them was subject to these prior lien bonds.

These bonds are therefore secured (1) by a first mortgage on 1,480 miles of road owned by the company; (2) by a first mortgage on the lessee's interest in the leased lines covering 400 miles of road; (3) by a mortgage on the remaining 119 miles of road, subject to the $1,530,000 prior mortgage bonds above mentioned; and (4) by a first mortgage on the terminal properties owned, with unimportant exceptions, including the extensive railway and passenger terminals in Boston, which are assessed for approximately $25,000,000.

VALUATION: The value of the Railroad, excluding leased lines, as tentatively determined by the Interstate Commerce Commission, adjusted to December 31, 1929, amounts to over $292,000,000. This valuation is after deducting approximately $45,000,000 for depreciation. As total funded debt including equipment trust obligations amounts to only $139,750,979, there will be over $2,090 of property value for each $1,000 of indebtedness.

EARNINGS AND EXPENSES:

Years ended December 31	1929	1928	1927
Operating Revenues	$78,481,438	$76,624,238	$77,848,374
Non-Operating Revenue	1,436,548	1,557,659	1,740,069
Gross Revenues	$79,917,986	$78,181,897	$79,588,443
Operating and Other Expenses and Taxes	65,839,240	63,821,268	68,347,601
Net Income Available for Fixed Charges	$14,078,746	$14,360,629	$11,240,842

Balance	$6,162,049	$6,574,556	$3,484,940

Upon completion of this financing the total interest requirements will amount to $6,933,293 and the requirement for rental of leased lines $1,139,132, a total of $8,072,425. Net income for 1929 as above is over 1.7 times these total fixed charges.

Operating expenses, as above, include heavy charges for additions, improvements and equipment retirements amounting to $8,067,589 in 1929, $5,225,878 in 1928 and $4,208,888 in 1927, as compared with normal annual charges for these purposes of approximately $2,250,000. Net income for 1929, as above, does not include $1,451,813 received on account of back mail pay.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: The proceeds of this issue of Bonds are to be devoted to the retirement of $6,018,000 of the Company's 6% bonds maturing in 1930, to additional improvements to its properties, and other Corporate purposes.

We recommend these bonds for Investment

Price 100½ and interest, yielding over 4.96%

The Company has agreed to make application in due course to list these bonds on the New York Stock Exchange.

Bonds are offered for sale, when, as and if issued and received by us, subject to approval by the stockholders, authorization by Interstate Commerce Commission, and approval of all legal details by Messrs. Gaston, Snow, Saltonstall and Hunt of Boston. Interim Receipts are expected to be ready for delivery on or about May 1, 1930.

The Galesburg division manufactures coulter and clutch discs and steel forgings and stampings for the agricultural, tractor and automotive industries.

Spang, Chalfant Co. Shows Sharp Gain

Pamphlet report of the Spang, Chalfant & Co. for 1929, shows a net profit of $4,394,418, after depreciation, interest and federal taxes.

Minneapolis, March 24—Minneapolis-Moline Power Implement Co's Minneapolis and Hopkins plants are in full production. Approximately 150 men have been added at Minneapolis plant, making 1800 employed there. At Hopkins plant 250 have been added, increasing the force to more than 1000.

Calumet Quest for Commercial Copper Deposit Promising

Houghton, Mich., March 24—It would appear that Calumet & Hecla Consolidated has an even chance of discovering commercial copper deposits in Cliff and Phoenix and other Keweenaw County lands. Geological evidence strongly indicates the existence of such values. If the search is unsuccessful at present horizons, the work will be carried deeper. It will be a thorough campaign, possibly necessitating several years of pioneering. The company is applying the principles learned through years of intensive study and research—just as it has successfully used this knowledge in exploration and development in its productive areas.

American Zinc Lead & Smelting Co.

The directors have declared a dividend of $1.50 per share on the preferred capital stock, payable April 1, 1930, to preferred stockholders of record at the close of business March 20, 1930.

CURB MARKET OILS LEADERS IN UPTURN

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER

New York, March 24 (AP)—The curb market worked irregularly higher today as bullish groups bid up selected issues. This more than offset a fairly general trickle of nervous liquidation induced by the downturn on Saturday, and the tardiness of the recovery in business.

Several oils were bid up substantially, but encountered considerable profit taking at higher levels, so that gains were not well maintained. Humble, Gulf and Vacuum rose a couple of points or so. Standards of Kansas and Indiana were fairly active, but fluctuated uncertainly. Cities Service was inclined to ease.

Fokker Aircraft was a strong feature of the industrials, selling up 4 points to a new high for the year above 30, but running into much realizing at the top.

City Machine Tool, Newport Co., Pacific Coast Biscuit and Starrett Corp. were among other issues reaching new highs for the movement. Crocker Wheeler and Ford of Canada A sagged.

United Light & Power A was a firm spot in the Utilities, rising more than a point in heavy trading. American Gas & Electric sold more than 2 points, and Quebec Power made a like gain in light trading, reaching new high territory for the year.

Electric Bond & Share fluctuated fractionally above Saturday's close. The United Gas issues were actively traded and displayed a firm tone.

Holding and investment company issues largely moved in narrow ranges. United Founders slipped to a new low for this market close to 36, then rallied. Goldman Sachs sold up moderately.

EARNINGS FOR QUARTER GAIN

New York, March 24—Operations of General Refractories Co. are being maintained at a high rate and earnings for the current quarter will exceed the same period of 1929 and will equal and probably surpass the net reported for the last three months of 1929 of $664,000, the highest quarter earnings in its history.

Net profit for the three months ended March 31 is estimated at $675,000, or $2.25 a share on the outstanding 300,000 shares.

While it is somewhat early to estimate earnings for the full year, indications are that it will be better than 1929, when the company reported the best net in its history of $2,553,124, equal before non-recurring bond charges, incident to retirement of the funded debt, to $8.51 a share.

Net profits for 1930, it is estimated, based on the current outlook, should exceed $3,000,000, or better than $10 a share.

In the last quarter of 1929 the stock was placed on a $4 regular annual dividend basis, as against $3 previously. In addition, an extra 25 cents was declared. A similar extra is expected to be declared at the next dividend meeting of the board the latter part of this month.

Canadian Brewery Merger Proposed

Montreal, March 24 — Brewing Corp. of Ontario has been formed as a holding company to control four large brewery companies in Ontario province. Other companies are expected to join later.

Capital has been privately subscribed by English interests, and there will be no public financing. Canadian money will be made up largely of capital already invested in the properties.

Capitalization will consist of 250,000 shares of preferred carrying a vauation of slightly more than $8,000,000 and 1,000,000 shares of common with valuation of approximately $15,000,000.

50 Most Active Stocks Are Higher

Chicago, March 24—The 50 most active stocks traded on the Chicago Stock Exchange during the week ended March 22 had a market value of $3,162,222,580 at the close of business Saturday as compared with $3,067,268,438 at the close of the previous week, according to a compilation by Swift, Langill & Henke. This represents an increase of $94,954,142, or 3.09 per cent.

Swift, Langill & Henke's analysis shows that 30 of these stocks were listed and traded in last year. These stocks had a market value of $760,642,898 Saturday, as compared with $527,324,690 on March 23, 1929, an increase of $233,318,208, or 44.24 per cent.

BOND MARKET PRICES ARE HELD STEADY

By JOHN L. COOLEY

New York, March 24 (AP)—Bond trading drifted back to more normal proportions today. The higher interest rates that followed the phenomenal cheapness of funds in the middle of last week made the yields from prime securities look less attractive.

The recent advance has carried numerous high grade issues, particularly the railroad favorites, up two and three points from March 1 levels.

Prices were steady, with an easing tendency apparent during the early dealings in some of the more active issues. Liquidation, however, was small and declines held to unimportant fractions.

The market for time money was dull and the rates unchanged with 3½ to 3¾ per cent quoted on 30 to 60-day loans.

Santa Fe general 4s United States Rubber 5s, Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul general 4s, Consolidated Gas of New York 5½s, Wheeling Steel 4½s, and New York Central 5s were firm, but Chesapeake & Ohio 4½s, Standard Oil of New Jersey 5s, Virginian 5s, Postal Telegraph 5s and others sagged moderately.

Erie general 4s lost a full point. Boston & Maine 5s advanced one-half coincident with the offering of $15,000,000 issue bearing the same coupon at 100½.

Convertibles, foreign bonds and United States Governments were quiet and firm.

Other new offerings of the day included a State of South Carolina $10,000,000 issue of 4¼ per cent certificates of indebtedness, priced to yield 4.20, and an $8,000,000 issue of Buenos Aires province 31-year 6½s at 95½.

TRAVELERS IN FAVOR OF 'GAS'

Railroad passenger traffic is no heavier now than it was 20 years ago. It has been steadily declining during the past six years. The number of miles travelled by passengers on Class I railroads dropped from 38 billion in 1923 to 31 billion in 1929, a decrease of 18.4 per cent. Revenue from passenger traffic showed an even greater percentage decrease, because average receipts per passenger mile declined from 3.018 cents in 1923 to 2.808 cents in 1929. Passenger revenue dropped from $1,148,000,000 in 1923 to $874,000,000 in 1929, a decrease of 23.9 per cent.

Despite the downward trend in passenger revenue during the past six years, total revenue in 1929 were approximately the same as in 1923. Revenues from freight, mail, express and other sources showed a sufficient increase to nearly offset the decrease in passenger revenue. Total operating resources amounted to $6,352,000,000 in 1929, as against $6,360,000,000 in 1923.

What revenue the automobile has taken away from the railroad by cutting down the passenger traffic, it has to a large extent returned to the railroad by increasing the freight traffic, says The Alexander Hamilton Institute's weekly bulletin. The automobile industry has directly helped the railroad by the shipments of its products, it has indirectly helped the railroad by stimulating general business expansion and the consequent movement of an increased volume of all kinds of freight.

Bond Issue Plan to Be Opposed

It was learned that stockholders opposing, Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific plan to issue some $32,000,000 4½ per cent convertible bonds will intervene when the road's proposed issue comes before the Commerce Commission for approval.

7 SEA FLIGHTS ARE PLANNED FOR SEASON

New York, March 21 (AP)—The gulls which wheel in lazy flight over the North Atlantic airplanes again will have visitors this spring and summer, as they have had each year since 1927, if ambitious plans announced by fleirs of many countries are carried through.

Four west to east crossings have been announced and three from east to west. The R-100, giant British dirigible, probably will make a London-Montreal flight this summer, and a round trip to curise to Lakehurst via some South American port is planned for the Graf Zeppelin.

Heading the east to west contingent is Dieudonne Costes, holder of the world's distance record and conqueror of the South Atlantic.

Capt. Carretier is another who hopes to make the crossing to New York from Paris. Jean Assolant and his two companions, who have already flown from Old Orchard Beach to Spain plan to retrace their flight, taking off from Seville.

Planning flights from west to east are John Henry Mears, holder of the round-the-world record of 23 days with the late C. B. Collyer; Herbert Fahy test pilot of the Lockhead Airplane Company; Col. Gustavo Leon, Mexican army ace, and Clifford McMillan, American commercial pilot.

ENGINEER DIES IN SAVING 80

Mansfield O., March 24 (AP)—Charles A. Bell, locomotive engineer, was credited today with saving 80 lives at the cost of his own.

He remained at his post to set the air brakes when the engine hit the ties and careened toward a ditch near Spring Mill junction.

Nine Pullmans, containing 80 sleeping passengers stopped on the track. The engine, with Bell imprisoned in the cab, burrowed a hole eight feet deep in the earth. Two baggage cars and an express car directly behind the locomotive were turned over on their sides.

P. F. Jenson, fireman, was thrown out of the cab and badly scalded.

Fire in Pawtucket School

Providence, March 24—Fire in the basement of the Warren ave. school, Pawtucket, prevented the school's opening today. The flames were brought under control in a half hour with only one classroom damaged.

12 MEET DEATH IN CRASHES AT 2 CROSSINGS

New York, March 24—Bodies of four girls remained unidentified today after two grade crossing accidents which cost the lives of 12 persons in all.

Four youths and their girl companions were killed at Auburn when their machine was driven into the path of a gasoline coach on the New York Central. The youths were Earl Resaw, Frank Straus, Edward Cheldren and Darius Auletta, all of Syracuse.

Two men and two women were killed at Scudders Falls, six miles from Trenton, N. J., when their automobile was struck by a Pennsylvania train. The dead are: Ernest Houldsworth, 50; Thomas Davis, 70; Mrs. Joseph Davis, 69, sister-in-law of Thomas Davis, and Mrs. Clara McMulle, 50, his niece. The auto was dragged nearly a mile before the train could be stopped.

86 ON 'OLDEST DOCTOR' LIST

Response to the request for aid in finding of the oldest family doctor in New England, has gratified the New England Medical Center, which is sponsoring the search so that the aged veteran of the medical profession may help to dedicate and takes leading part in the exercises of laying the cornerstone.

Up to the end of last week 86 names had been received at the medical center headquarters, and a number of the old doctors had each been named by several persons. The distribution of the candidates throughout New England is as follows: Massachusetts, 13; New Hampshire, 47; Maine, 14; Vermont, 9; Rhode Island, 1; Connecticut, 2. The ages range from 71 to 97 years.

Boy Is Shot Dead by Little Brother

New York March 24—Policeman Howard Kelly and Mrs. Kelley, at their home in Queens, today are mourning their son Arthur, nine, while the little brother, who fired the fatal shot, is too young to realize what occurred. Arthur, last night, complained of a toothache to his father, who, in an attempt to comfort him, took him into the kitchen where his mother was working.

Meanwhile, Charles, three, took a pistol from a bedroom and followed them. He aimed the pistol at his brother and pulled the trigger before his father could stop him. A physician said the bullet entered at the boy's chin and penetrated to the brain.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN

LARGEST EVENING
CIRCULATION IN NEW ENGLAND

"Come Home!"

SENATOR JOSEPH T. ROBINSON,
Member American Delegation,
London Naval Conference.

BECAUSE of your patriotic American address on the radio in London, February 20, the American people recognized you as the REAL HEAD OF THE AMERICAN PART OF THE AMERICAN DELEGATION.

It was like a breath of fresh air to hear your doctrine of "no foreign entanglements," after the hesitating, milk and water Stimson talk, accentuated by dispatches from "HALF-CASTE AMERICAN" newspaper correspondents in London that Stimson was PERSONALLY in favor of joining the European naval powers in some kind of security pact to guarantee the security of foreign nations.

That danger is over now, thanks to the service of you and your colleague, Senator David A. Reed of Pennsylvania, telling your fellow delegates and the world WHAT THE SENATE WOULD NOT STAND FOR.

Why not again assert the moral leadership you have assumed, and LEAD THE AMERICAN DELEGATION HOME?

You have told the European powers that we will go as low in armament as they choose, demanding nothing but parity with Great Britain, which Great Britain and every other nation considers wholly reasonable and moderate on our part.

Why need you and your colleagues participate in the intrigues and log-rolling and secret diplomacy whereby the European powers decide what limit—if any—they will set in their "preparations" for their next great war of extermination.

Every attempt of Americans to meddle in the settlement of those racial hatreds and distrusts merely exposes us to the charge of taking sides, AND EARNS US SOMEBODY'S HATRED.

IS IT REALLY ANY OF OUR BUSINESS whether Italy gets naval parity with France or not; whether Great Britain's navy MUST equal the navies of the two strongest Continental powers or not; whether Great Britain should join France in a pact to prevent Mediterranean murder in war?

Nobody so closely as you has observed the ceaseless maneuvering at the London conference to get the United States into what ex-Ambassador Child has called a pony league of nations or a bush league of nations. As he says: "THEY HAVE CONFUSED OUR DESIRE FOR PEACE WITH A SUPPOSED DUTY TO JOIN SOME UNITED STATES OF EUROPE."

You have told them we will join nothing of the kind. You have told them our terms: Parity and, along with it, all the reduction they can agree on. You have done all the GOOD you can do and a further stay may do much harm. Why should not your delegation come home and save the Treasury the $3000 a day your delegation is now costing in London?

We note that the AUSTRALIAN DELEGATION at the conference has booked passage to sail for home April 12.

The following are the sailing dates of American passenger steamers from England:

Ship.	Sails	From
America,	March 25	Southampton
American Banker,	March 27	London
President Harding,	April 2	Southampton
American Shipper,	April 3	London
American Trader,	April 10	London
George Washington,	April 11	Southampton
American Merchant,	April 17	London
President Roosevelt,	April 17	Southampton
America,	April 24	Southampton

Take any one of these ships, but—

COME HOME!

For Boston's Boys

Our Greatest Assets

THE city of Boston 30 years from today will be exactly what the boys of today make it.

The boys of our community are the products largely of the thoughts, acts, and environment created by their elders—and that means us.

The question as to how much we think of and for our boys, of and for their future, and for the kind of civilization we are to have in the years to come, is frequently answered by the way the adults come forth at critical moments and give a hand.

One of the leading social workers recently discovered that about twice as much money is bequeathed in Boston each year to save animals from cruelty and neglect as is given for children's work.

President Hoover has asserted that the boy is the most valuable asset this country has. If so, why this discrimination against him for cats and dogs?

No better opportunity throughout the entire year will come to us to befriend our boys than this week when the Boston Young Men's Christian Association will ask Boston citizens to contribute to the "Balance the Budget Campaign."

That remarkable institution wants to take care of as many boys this year as it did last, and bring the number to more than 16,000, as against 15,674 last season.

Leaders want $146,978 and they hope to get it all during the week. If you cannot give a hand as a solicitor, give your dollars. When several hundred of volunteer canvassers get together tonight at the City Club to make plans, they will be told in detail how men are made out of boys. Filled with enthusiasm, these men will call on you to make up 10 per cent of the yearly budget. Ninety per cent is paid in each year by the boys and men.

Now altogether, for the Boston boy in this tercentenary year of 1930.

Signals Set for "Fair"

By NELSON HARDING

The BAER Facts

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

BLINDFOLDED justice endorses another cigarette.

Another blow at tailor-made liberty has been walloped by the cadets of justice.

A lavaliere of official padlocks has been hung around the neck of a Western hotel because one of its guests took an amended snifter on the premises.

A guest walked in out of the night. He had a bottle of prohibited sunshine on his hip. He called for a set-up.

A set-up consists of cracked ice, glasses and ginger ale in habit-forming quantities.

When combined with the stuff on the guest's hip, a set-up becomes a knock-down.

The minute the hostelry trotted out the glasses and the cracked ice it was guilty of hospitality in the third degree. And if you don't furnish the set-ups you are unable to compete with economical Mongolian industrialists.

Closing a hotel because of one of its guests looks upon the wine when it is bootleg is something like closing a school because one of the pupils spells incorrectly.

Shall we all be evicted int othe storm and darkness because the man in Room 57 has the hiccups?

Shall fermented hallitosis be diagnosed as community property and martial law proclaimed from coast to coast just because a farmer in the Missouri Valley came to town with a cross-country jag?

The Eighteenth Amendment has already ruined every hotel dining room in the land. People are now eating in duffle-bags and dead-falls where the cooking is terrible, but the sauce is contraband.

The hotel owners are the most law abiding citizens in America. They obey the amendments and have never squawked. If a hotel is guilty because it furnishes cracked ice and ginger ale to its guests we know a firm in Jersey City which should be indicted for selling toothpicks to African cannibals.

No liquor is ever served in hotels. But there are a thousand mantraps in the vicinity where a guest can manipulate the laughing elbow. Shall the proprietor be guilty because the guest has taken sudden lessons in fancy skating?

We are not criticizing the decisions of the court very much. But if the prisoner is innocent, why not have a little mercy for the jury?

H. G. Wells Writes on "The Science of Life"

In Collaboration With Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells

THE soft mud, now pressed hard, reveals to us the outlines of jelly fish, annelid worms, with their appendages and bristles, small crustacea, with all their soft leaf-like appendages, even the cuttings of their stomachs, and arrow-worms just like those that swim in our modern seas, with their transparent fins.

H. G. Wells

Walcott has also found swarms of bacteria from still earlier rocks. It is doubtful whether this is to be considered the most extraordinary case of fossilization; it is certainly rivalled by some Palaeozoic (III) fishes (to be seen in New York) which have been so delicately petrified that thin slices of their muscles, ground down to transparency, and looked at under a high power of the microscope, show the cross-sections of the muscle fibres as clearly as a fresh-made preparation from a modern dog-fish.

The various difficulties thus put in the way of palaeontologists are of two main kinds.

There are those which lead to gaps and imperfections in the fossil record, whether through the fewness of animals and plants which became fossilized, the washing away of large sections of the crust when brought above water, for wind, rain and frost to destroy, or the destruction of fossils by the heat and pressure of metamorphosis.

And there are those which make it difficult to arrange what fossils we have in the right order, whether the difficulty springs from the turning of layers topsy-turvy and from faulting, or from the fact that two contemporaneous layers might show quite different fossils, either because they were laid down in quite different situations, or because, though comparable in the environment they provide, they were situated far apart on the earth's surface.

The imperfection of the record is unfortunate, but nothing more. It makes the labors of fossil-hunters greater, and should warn us against clamoring for the immediate discovery of this or that "missing link."

Every year the record becomes less scrappy, and in many groups of animals, what 50 years ago seemed impossible to hope for has been achieved and an unbroken series discovered, leading through ages of time from simple to highly-developed types. The difficulty is not one of principle.

But the other difficulty seems at first sight more serious and the opponents of Evolution, anxious to find any stick to beat a dog with, have tried to make out that it is a defect of principle.

The Evolutionist, they say, pretends that he dates his fossils by the order of the rock-layers in which they are found; but in reality he very often dates his rock-layers by the fossils he found in them—when, for instance, they are distorted in mountains, or when only a single fossil-bearing layer can be found, or when new quarters of the globe are explored for fossils; and this, they proclaim, is arguing in a vicious circle.

As a matter of fact, however, the palaeontologist does not take his results with the naivete which these assertions ascribe to him.

He first of all examines the earth's crust in some region like the southeastern half of England, or the Bad Lands of Wyoming, where the strata lie plainly one above the other and are not crumbled or distorted. He collects a series of fossils from as many as possible of such undisturbed layers, examines them, determines to what group they belong, and whether there exist any other, of exactly the same species from other layers.

By so doing he can provide for each main layer and for each kind of deposit—sandstone, shale, clay or limestone—with each main layer, a list of fossil species which are not found in any other layers, and of others which are especially abundant in the layer, or very scarce or absent therein.

It is only after he has thus dated his fossils by reference to an undisturbed succession of deposits that he uses them to help him in dating layers whose age cannot be determined by these straight-forward methods.

Rhyming Optimist

By ARLINE MICHAELIS.

He is brown with the bronze of the sands,
With the gold of the sun he is gold,
He is strong, he is free,
Like the wind of the sea.
Where its garlands of foam-flowers unfold.

He has bidden farewell to the towns,
To the streets with their clatter and din;
He has left them, to find
Joys that drift on the wind,
And the rhythm of the tide coming in.

He has bidden farewell to the towns
With their burden of envy and doubt;
He has left them to learn
How life's rapture can burn
With the song of the tide going out.

He is drenched by the gold of the sun,
He is lulled by the surge of the sea;
He has here cast aside
Futile falsehood and pride,
From the bonds men have forged he is free!

A Big Cow

They Say This Was Her Rib

(Copyright, 1930)

PROFESSOR OSBORNE, TELL US WHAT THIS IS

THE STANION CHURCH, in Northants, England, possesses this bone and is proud of it, as are all the inhabitants.

Nobody knows how long this great bone has been in the church. The man in charge is glad to show it to you. You can give him something or not as you choose.

We request Professor Osborne, of the American Museum of Natural History, to give this bone what is scientifically called "the once over" and tell us for the benefit of those Britishers just what it is.

Did it once belong to a dinosaur? Was it cast up on the British beach when some whale died and went to pieces?

Could it have been a tusk in the mouth of a mammoth?

Not enough curve to it for that. And mammoth tusks don't have such roots.

WHAT WAS IT?

The oldest inhabitant of Northants will tell you what it was. He and thousands of others believe it to be the one rib of a famous gigantic cow of the old days.

The cow was so big and powerful that it supplied the entire village with milk.

And the cow wished it to be known that there was nothing that she could not fill with good sweet milk.

One day an old witch came with a sieve and said, "Fill that." The cow couldn't do it and died of a broken heart.

YOU need not believe that, but thousands in the little English town believe it.

Thus legends grow up and are believed.

When they happen to be part of a strange religion like the Mohammedan religion and you deny them, you get into trouble.

When they only affect the gigantic cow and a witch with a sieve, you can believe or not as you please, safely.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 24—Diary of a modern Pepys: Up at break of day and rehearsing a speech for a news reel, but such a poor one telephoned the studio I had been called out of town nor did they seem disappointed. So to breakfast with Marshall Neilan, the cinema director, and one of the wittiest men I know.

Came a gentleman who said he was "charting reactions" of men engaged in writing, and when I told him I talked to myself in the bath and often cried out loud, he looked at me queerly. Later, W. W. Hawkins, the editorial executive, dropped in to chat awhile.

At my desk and read a letter from Albert Payson Terhune that my collie namesake, Sunnybank McIntyre, had, a week after his 12th birthday, aired a litter of seven vigorous and husky pups. And that Terhune, himself, was off to loll on the sands of the Riviera, the lucky fellow.

BROADWAY'S most famous hat check girl is Rene Carroll, a prepossessing miss who presides at Sardi's—a haunt of newspaper writers, artists and press agents. Miss Carroll has been so frequently sketched and written up that she becomes an exemplar of the White Way notion of celebrity. Her autograph book is filled with treasured sentiments of those who have basked in the dazzle of her dimpled smile.

Word seeps back to Broadway, too, that Pearl White, whose perilous exploits in early movies won somewhat lasting fame, is living in happy domesticity in far away Egypt. Miss White, following her movie triumphs, migrated to Paris, and for years added to the gaiety of the life that bubbles at Ciro's and other haunts in narrow rue Daunou.

THERE she met an Egyptian millionaire — a sportsman with a hefty racing stable and several European villas. They married a year ago and settled in Constantinople, the whispers being that the cinema blonde received a two million dollar antenuptial gift.

Records show that the majority of fortunate marriages of beautiful Broadway ladies are conjected to Europe. Grace Field, who pirouetted professionally at old Claridge's and her own club, is the wife of a rich French noble and the chatelaine of an ancient chateau fringing the Fontainebleau forests.

I often wonder — sitting in a gallery and watching the parade of young ladies who achieve the dubious distinction of "a Broadway toast" receive as many offers of marriage as press agents would have us believe. I have heard of at least a dozen men reputed to have offered their wealth, social position and hand to the attractive Helen Morgan. I just skipped from the typewriter and called up three. Each said he had not the pleasure of knowing Miss Morgan. But would like to.

SPEAKING of Broadway toasts, it was the once gorgeously beautiful Nan Patterson, who reaching the bottom of the toboggan philosophied: "I am one of the Broadway toasts who is now a crumb on Tenth Ave."

Lately a sure-fire method of obtaining tabloid publicity for stage, screen and night club performers is to launch a rumor engagement. Many even go to the extreme of taking out marriage licenses to satisfy a tawdry ache for explication. That rare Roman, C. F. Frohman, judged publicity accurately. "Anything in print," he said, "that does not suggest dignity and intelligence is harmful." Every producer knows more players have been "killed" than "made" professionally by sensational headlines. But they still resort to monkey business in public to achieve them.

IF the exponent of anthropoid life who rang me up at 3 a. m. and upon inquiring, "Are you there?" and receiving my affirmation shouted, "All right stay there, clabber-head," thinks that is funny he might be interested to know I do not. And I didn't get back to sleep either.

"Recently," confides a pleasantly anonymous fellow, "I heard you extravagantly eulogize a certain writer. Imagine my surprise at a dinner last night to hear him pan you all over the lot."

It may be we were both mistaken.
